THOSE Gentlemen and Ladies who have obliged me by Subscribing to the CIRCULATING LIBRARY, will do me a singular favour by signifying, before the 19th of this month, whether they decline or continue their Subscription, as the Year will then expire with the Majority of them; and unless I am certain of the Number of those who will contribute to support the Scheme, I intend to dispose of the whole Collection by Auction; for, I am sorry to be under the Necessity of observing it, notwithstanding the general Utility of the Undertaking, and the improving Entertainment it must communicate to the Mind, yet the Encouragement it has hitherto received, is too inconsiderable to enable me to try it on without injuring my Circumstances, by the Expence I must unavoidably be at in furnishing the Library with new Books; which I cannot possibly do, unless the Number of Subscribers exceed what they did last Year: In which Case, tho' it could not be in my Power to render the Plan so extensive as I at first proposed, by importing a fresh cargo every Year, yet those who oblige me with their Approbation, may depend on being supplied every Opportunity with all such new Performances as may merit the Attention of the Judicious.
