ANNAPOLIS, May 21, 1766.

THE Orders I have now by me for STAYS, and expect to have Executed in a Month or Six Weeks, will take most of the Remains of my Assortment of STAY-GOODS. I have all along flatter'd myself with the agreeable Hopes of being Able when I had sold these Goods, to pay off my Debts, and carry on my Business as usual, but I am now pretty sensible of my Mistake; for I have, for a considerable Time past, received less Money than even last Year in the Height of the Small-Pox: I shall, if possible, after Discharging my Debts, procure Goods for such of my Customers as make timely Payments, or for ready Money; others I hope will excuse my not being able to supply them as I have hitherto done, which will really be the Case in a very short Time, unless I receive more Money, and I hope None will withhold it on a Supposition that I am not in Want, or, that can with any Degree of Convenience pay me.
 JOSEPH FOARD.

ANNAPOLIS, May 22, 1766.

I TAKE this Opportunity of returning my sincere Thanks to all my good Customers and Others, that have for these several Years past been pleased to give me the Preference of their Custom; and also that I have just imported in the Butsey, Capt. James Hanrick, from London, a large Assortment of European and East-India Goods, suitable for all Seasons; those good Friends that will still continue their kind Favours towards me, may depend upon being faithfully served at the lowest Rates, and the best Attendance given at my Store, where I take the greatest Pleasure of serving them with my own Hands, and shall ever gratefully acknowledge their Kindness. Also may be had, as usual, Rum, Wine, Salt, Molasses, Sugar, Coffee, Rice, &c. &c.
 NATHAN HAMMOND.

RAN away the 11th Instant, a Servant Man named WILLIAM KEAN, about 30 Years of Age, about 5 Feet 10 or 11 Inches high, well made, and of a ruddy Complexion; he is a Native of Ireland, and retains something of that Dialect, and has a great Impediment in his Speech; wore his Hair (dark colour'd) which was just got to Tie behind. Had on when he went away, an old Hat, light colour'd Cloth Coat and Jacket, blue knit Worsted Breeches, Worsted Stockings, and English Shoes.
 The said William Kean was admitted into the Free-School of this County as Master, in November 1764, but by his Ill-Conduet was obliged in May 1765 to come under Indenture to Mr. Anthony McCulloch (Merchant at Queen's Town) and Myself, and was settled on Kent-Island to teach a private School near Mr. James Hutchings's; he was also under Arrest for Debt, for which I am Security to the Sheriff. The said Kean is allowed to be an exceeding good classical Scholar, but knows very little of Figures, and writes a poor Hand. He has been in several Parts of the World, that when he is sober, is a very agreeable Man, and then has much the Appearance of a distressed Gentleman; that it is very probable he may impose on Gentlemen; tho' he is subject to drink too much, and at that Time to pawn his Cloaths.
 Whoever secures the said William Kean, that the Subscriber may get him, shall have the above Ten Pounds Reward, and if brought home, reasonable Charges, paid by NATHAN SAMUEL TURBUTT WRIGHT.
