

A very melancholly Instance of the Imprudence of taking in a Passenger from a Convict Ship, lately happen'd a few Miles from this City: Nine of the Family have Died already of the Jail Fever, and Four more are now in a dangerous Condition, from the same Disorder. The Fever that lately rag'd here was of the same Kind, and, as generally suppos'd, was brought in by one of these Ships. Surely the many shocking Instances of the like Nature, by which many Families have suffer'd Extremely, will make People more Cautious how they admit under their Roofs, these Wretches, doubly Nufances from the Contagion of their Distempers, and of their Vices.

The Publisher heretofore presents his Readers with the Compliments of the Season: And hopes, if any Irregularity in the Publication of this Gazette should happen between this Time and the 20th of February next, that they will be kind enough to excuse it, as he is oblig'd to print the Bills of Credit, so as to be ready for Payment of the Public Dues by that Time; and one of his Presses being lent out, he is doubtful he cannot make a regular Publication of his Gazette: till the Bills are done; but, in case of Failure, it shall be made up to his Customers, by sending them Fifty-two Numbers, or Weeks, to complet their Year. As his Press will be employ'd to so good a Purpose (as above) he hopes he need not further apologize; but will, notwithstanding, do his utmost Endeavour to oblige them Weekly.
