Extract of a Letter from Madrid, Feb. 27, 1767. "The Discontents here grow apace, on Account of a late Proclamation revoking the Pardon granted to the Rioters who drove from hence the Royal Favourite [Squillace] whose Administration was so disgustful to the People; and as this Ferment is, more or less, universal in all the Provinces belonging to the Kingdom, it is hard to say what may be the Consequences of this ill-adviced Rescindation. The Murmurs of the People, too, are not a little stimulated at the dismembering from the Spanish Crown some of their most valuable Plantations, in favour of the French, whose prevailing Influence at Court is far from being agreeable to the patriot Part of the Nation."

March 20. In a Letter lately sent by Lord Clive to his Father, we are informed, his Lordship acquainted him, that he had been upwards of 700 Miles up the Country, to the Capital of the Great Mogul, who had not only conferred on him the Title of Omrah, but shewed him more distinguished Marks of his Favour than to any other Person whatever. His Lordship also says, that he has the Pleasure to acquaint him, that he had acquired a Revenue to the East-India Company of Four Millions Sterling per Annum.

There is a great talk, that numbers of rich Merchants, and others, propose to lend Eight Millions, at Three per Cent. To have the Liberty of free Trade to the East-Indies, for as much Yearly as they pay, which doubtless will be a Benefit to the Subscribers, but the Company of course must suffer as much as the free Traders get, therefore the Directors will probably oppose such a Proposal's taking Place.

The late failure of a great Merchant, was occasioned by his having disbursed several large Sums on a Corn Contract with Italy, which he had agreed to supply, to the Amount of 100,000 l. with American Wheat. If we may credit some Accounts, our Trade with Portugal is not likely ever to be so considerable as heretofore; not owing, as has been represented, so much to the Aversion of the Portuguese to the English, as to their being able to furnish themselves with the Manufactures they formerly took from us. Some few Years since, one House in the City of London was said to furnish Portugal annually with Hats, to the Amount of between Seven and Eight Thousand Pounds, which Branch of Trade is now almost entirely lost, the Portuguese having since established Manufactories of their own, whereby they are enabled to supply themselves at a cheaper Rate, than when they imported that Article of Commerce from foreign Countries.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.

Our last Advices from Europe are, That Great-Britain, France, Spain, Portugal, Prussia, Russia, and Holland, are making great Military Preparation, which indicates a Rupture among some of the European Powers—That it is expected by many that fresh Troubles will arise in Poland on Account of the Protestants—That, if the Affairs of Geneva are not amicably settled, very speedily, to mutual Satisfaction, which some think has already been done, some Protestant Powers will interpose in Behalf of the Liberties of that Republic—That the brave Corsicans continue inflexible in their Resolution of freeing their Country from the Yoke of Genoese Tyranny—That there is a powerful French Faction in Portugal, which impedes a proper Adjustment of the Differences between that Court and Great-Britain:—And that Party Animosities run very high among the Great in England, insomuch that the true Interest of the Nation seems to be almost forgot amidst the general Struggles for Power and Place.
