Sept. 20. The Trial of Edward Birch and Matthew

Martin, for forging and uttering, knowing it to be forged, the last Will and Testament of Sir Andrew forged, the last Will and Testament of Sir Andrew Chadwick, began Tuesday Morning at Ten, and lasted till One o'Clock Yesterday Morning, when they were both brought in guilty. One Cause for the Length of the Trial was, the seeking for the Will, which was by some Accident missaid. Judge Willes gave an excellent Charge to the Jury, which he was near an Hour in selivering. Birch was one of those concerned in the Scheme for bringing Fish to Town by Land Carriage; he seemed to be a Man of great Penetration, and in the Course of his Trial frequently interrogated his Opponent's Council. There were a valt Number of Witnessexamined. There forged Will bote Date in 1764, and There forged Will bore Date in 1764, and a wh leidle Paper-maker, who was very infrumental in convicting the above Men, faore by the Stamp, or Nink, that he made the faid Paper in 1768, Four Years after the Will was dated, which had great Weight with the Court.

Sir Andrew Chadwick's Estate was about 70001. per Sir Andrew Chadwick's Estate was about 7000l. per Annum, and 14000 i in the Stocks, which is now possessed (except the Cash) by James Taylor, Esq. of Carter Piace, in Lancishire, who married Miss Lowes, Second Cousin to Sir Andrew. Sir Andrew had a good Education in Yorkshire, and wrote so fine a Hand, that her Majesty, Queen Anne, appointed him Writing Mater to her only son William Duke of Gloucester, and made him one of the Poor Knights of Windson, and he was afterwards knighted by George the First.

To the LIVERY of LONDON,

To the LIVERY of LONDON,

GENTLEMEN,
The permicious Advice of the Favourites of Richard the Second, and the Milmanagement of his arbitrary Ministers, having reduced this Kingdom to the greatest Mistery and Dittress, the Citizens of London did, on St. George's Day, in the Year 1355, address his Mighty on the State of Complaints of the Nation. "when Sir Simon Sudbury, in behalf of the rest, laid before his Mighty their Grievances, and most humbly intreated that a Parliament might be speedily summoned, for calling to Account all such as had misbehaved in the Administration of publick Affairs, and to substitute Men of Worth and Probity in their Stead, according to the Advice of Parliament." The King ansered, "That, their Supplications being long, he had not Time to answer; therefore desired they would bring them next Michaelmas, when he would communicate them to the Parliament, that should be then held at Westminster, and what were judged reasonable should nicate them to the Parliament, that should be then held at Westminster, and what were judged reasonable should be granted to them." But added, in the ministerial Stile, it That his Subjects should not be his Masters by prescribing to him, for he could not perceive that either himself, or any about him, had ever intended any Thing else but Right and Justice." This was in no Way satisfactory, therefore One of the Citizens, boldly taking up the Case, replied,
"That with humble Subinission to his Majesty, Justice was never less practifed in England than at present, tice was never less practifed in England than at present, and that by the subtle Management of certain Persons, it was impossible for him to come at the Truth of Things, seeing his blinisters found it their Interest to conceal from him the Management of his Affairs as much as possible, in Consideration of which, they did not think in not think it confident with their Interest, nor that of the Kingdom, to wait the meeting of Parliament, see-ing a speedier Remedy might be applied, by calling to Account those Plunderers who had embezzled the pub-lick Treasure and account the forms. account those Plunderer, who had embezzied the publick Treasure, and to enquire how those immense Sami, raised for Nino Years past, had been applied, and that all those who could not discharge themselves honourably, should stand to the Judgment of Parliament." This manly and proper Reply of one of the Petitioners produced from the King a Grant of their Desires, and a Promise of Redesia.

A Gentleman lately returned from Abroad, being asked by a Friend; if he did not find England improved? answered, Yes, Sir, it is indeed improved, for there is now much Offentation, but little Substance, much Pomp, bus little Hofpitality, and much Expence, but little Frugality; our publick Debts are increased, but our publick Credit is declined; we have publick Dependency, without publick Occonomy.

Some Time fince the Lord Mayor, after Dinner at the Manfion-House, proposed to Mr. Townsend, Mr. Sawbridge, Mr. Wilkes, and other Gentlemen who were then present, a Scheme for increasing the Allowance given by the City to the Lord Mayor. Mr. Wilkes warmly supported the Scheme. So far all was natural. The Lord Mayor intended once more to ferve that Office, Mr. Wilkes's Mayoralty was yet to come. They talked like Men of the World, and recome. They talked like Men of the World, and regarded their own Interest with a more favourable Eye than the Interest of the Publick. The same Temptation presented itself to Mr. Townsend and Mr. Sawbridge. The Patriots Crosby and Wilkes fully expected their Concurrence. They were mistaken. Mr. Townsend and Mr. Sawbridge warmly opposed the Measure, and being well satisfied that the present Allowance was ample and sufficient, resused to concur in a Scieme dictated by Avarice, and which must end in Sc' eme dictated by Avarice, and which must end in

We are informed that, at a Meeting of the Clergy and Gentlemen of the Professions of Law and Physick, to be held at the Feathers Tavein in the Strand, on the 25th Day of this Month, from Eleven to Thiee, a Petition to Parliament for Relief from Subscription to the Articles, &c. will be submitted to the Judgment of the Gentiemen then present, and immediately cir-culated through the different Counties for figning.

Sept. 21. On Saturday last died of the Wounds she received the preceding Monday, Mrs. Nightingale of Kneefworth in Cambridgeshire. The Cause of this m-lancholy and unhappy Mistortune is one of the most affecting that can fall to the Lot of human Nature. Her Son, Edward Nightingale, Esq; had been for many Years disordered in his Senses, but being perfectly recovered, he was some Months ago restored to his Family, with whom he has lived in the greatest Amity and Regularity ever since, till the other Morning, his Servant Boy offending him, he broke out into a most violent Passion, and had taken up a heavy Crab-stick to chaftife him, but was prevented by the Appearance of Mrs. Nightingale, who pacified and perfuaded him to throw away the Weapon, and go into the House, which he consented to do; but in passing along, a horrid Phrenzy suddenly seized him, and he first knocked down his Mother with his Fift, then ran back for the Crab flick, and gave her feveral violent Blows, which fractured her Skull, and brought on this dreadful Ca-tastrophe. He was soon after secured, to prevent his

Sep. 23. An Account from Petersourgh says, that the Fire among the Russian Galleys in the Port of Revel, with the Destruction of the Hemp Warehouses, have been fo far from answering the Ends proposed by them, which according to fone are thought to have been intended only to facilitate the Negociations for a Peace, that it is affured this Circumstance has retarded them more than any Thing, the Empres being is ex-asperated at this unnatural Method of carrying on a War, that she is determined not to sheathe the Sword, till, by God's Grace, she shall have procured herself ample Satisfaction upon her Enemies.

A Change was lately intended in the Ministry, but it was postponed, the Demands of those who were to come in being too enormous, considering what was to come in being too enormous, considering what was to be paid to those who were to go out, so that it was thought most prudent to wait for better Offers.

The Spirit of Liberty, so conspicuous in the City of London, seems to have diffused itself over the Kingdom; even Bedford, which seemed a Slave to the House of that Name, has thrown off its Chains by its late spirited Opposition, and Guildford begins to be ashamed it has so long been manacled, a warm Contest was expected at the Election of their Mayor, at which Time it will be determined, whether they are Slaves or Freenen. Freemen.

Sep. 26. A Memorial of a most important Nature, it is said, was presented a sew Days ago to his Majetty, by the Commander of a Ship from Leghorn, the Subject of which is hitherto most carefully concealed.

The Premier appears to be losing Ground in the Favour of a great Personage, as it is very remarkable that he is seldom now consulted upon any Business.

Notwithstanding what has been said to the contrary, we it is very certain that the grand Desaulter's Son is yet it is very certain that the grand Defaulter's Son is frequently in private Conference with a great Personage. Mess, Wilkes and Bull, in an Address to the Livery, Mess, Wilkes and Bull, in an Address to the Livery, have observed. That a military Forte has, on several Occasions, been employed by an unprincipled Administration, under the Pretence of affisting the civil Power in carrying the Sentence of the Laws into Execution. That the Conduct of the present Sherists, in the remarkable Case of the Two unhappy Men who suffered in July, near Bethnal Green, was truly patriotic. That they are determined to follow so meritorious an Example; and as that melangholy Part of their Office will commence in a yery sew Days, they took that Op-Example; and as that melancholy Part of their Office will commence in a very few Days, they took that Opportunity of declaring, that, as the Confliction has portunity of declaring, that, as the Confliction has entruited them with the whole Power of the Country, they will not, during their Sheriffally, fuffer any Part of the Army to interfere; or even to attend, as on many former Occasions; on the Pretence of aiding and that a King, though not blind to the wickaffifting the civil Magistrate. This Resolution they declared to the Publick, and to Administration, to prevent, during their Continuance in Office, the fending of any Detachments from the regular Forces on such a Service, and the Possibility of all future alarming Disputes. They declare, that the civil Power of this Country is able to support the forces in the second of the country is able to support the country in the country is able to support the country in the country is able to support the country in the country is able to support the country in the country in the country is able to support the country in the country in the country in the country is able to support the country in the count ing Disputes. They declare, that the civil Power of this Country is able to support itself and a good Government. That the Magistrate, with the Affistance of those in Jurisdiction, is by Experience known to be strong enough to enforce all legal Commands, without the Aid of a standing Army; and where that is not the Case, a Nation must fink into an absolute military. Government, and that every Thing valuable to the Subject be at the Mercy of the Soldiery and their Commander. They leave to their brave Countrymen of the Army the Glory of conquering our foreign Enemies, and pledge themselves to the Publick for the faithful and exact Discharge of their Duty, in every Emergency, without the Assistance of a military Force. They defire to fave them a Service which to them must They define to fave them a Service which to them mult be detestable; and they take on themselves the painful Task of those unpleating Scenes which their Office calls upon them to superintend. And they declare, that the Laws of their Country shall, in all Instances during their Sherisfalty, be folely enforced by the Authority and Vigour of the eivil Magistrate.

Liver and Bowels were feen, who likewife died Yesterday in great Agonies.

We are told the System of Corruption is fo regularly established in a neighbouring Nation, that every Man with a Thousand a Year, either in Pension or Place, is obliged, at his own Expence, to procure a parliamentary Seat, and to support the Measures of Government, without giving the Secretary the Trouble even of closetting him.

Neither Merit nor Application (says a Correspondent) in any publick Office are now necessary to gain the Favour of the Citizens of London; since the Man who has already distraced their Choice, and neglected who has already diffraced their Choice, and neglected his Duty most notoriously, is selected a Second Time for the Chair, and forgiven all his former Delinquency, merely because he seems calculated to serve the Purposes of Faction.

It is idle (fays the same Correspondent) to talk of Independency in the City of London; the Livery, who would never fuffer even Princes to dictate to them, are now the veriest Tools that can be imagined, and yet fancy they are taking the belt Means of fecur-ing their Freedom, when they are only executing the Mandates of an infolent Club at the London Tavern.

"It is whimfical enough (faid Lord Mansfield a few Days 2go) that the Citizens of London should sup-pose their Freedom at all depends upon the Choice of pole their rreedom at all depends upon the Choice of a Lord Mayor: What Inroad on the Confitution did Mr. Beckford prevent, if the legal Acts of Government are to be called by that Appeliation? What Grievance did he get redressed? Or at what Time was the Voice of the City eyer attended to in Opposition to the Determinations of the Legislature? A Preference of that Kind given to the City would be establishing an imperium in imperio, subverting the rational System of Subordination, and making a single Member superior to the whole Community,

The following is the true Cause of the Quarrel between Mr. Wilkes and Parson Horne: Horne is a Creature of Alderman Townsend is a Creature of Lord Shelburne's; Lord Shelburne brought him into Parliament. This Indigent Lord has been repeatedly endeavouring to get into Place, but the constant Answer of the ministerial Agents was, that his Followers must first break with Agents was, that his Followers must first break with Mr. Wilkes. Accordingly they set Horne, their Bull-dog, at him. Hence that Torrent of Nonsense and Falshood about Mr. Horne's old Cloaths, &c. with which the Publick were long since most thoroughly diffinited. Mr. Wilkes is not yet hunted down; and till he it, Lord Shelburne and his Party are not to come into Place. Lord Shelburne begun his Connection at Court with Lord Bute, and it ended with his betraying him. He began his present Opposition with supporting Wilkes, and, now he wants to go back to the Court, he is endeavouring to Ruis, him.

In the Reign of Edward the Third the Nation was governed by a Regency of the King's Mother, and her infamous Paramour, but as foon as that wife young Prince came to the Years of Discretion, he shook off his own Fetters, and relieved his People from a grievous Yoke, under which they had long groaved; nothing shews the Wisdom of that Prince more strongly than this first Instance of his superior.
