

the British colonies or plantations in America, are directed to be prosecuted, sued for or recovered, divided, paid, and applied, by two several acts of parliament; the one passed in the fourth year of his present majesty, intituled "An Act for granting certain duties in the British colonies and plantations in America; for continuing, amending, and making perpetual, an act passed in the sixth year of the reign of his late majesty king George the second, intituled, An Act for the better securing and encouraging the trade of his majesty's sugar colonies in America; for applying the produce of such duties, and the duties to arise by virtue of the said act, towards defraying the expences of defraying, protecting, and securing the said colonies and plantations; for explaining an act made in the twenty-fifth year of the reign of King Charles the second, intituled, An Act for the encouragement of the Greenland and Eastland trades; and for the better securing the plantation trade; and for altering and disallowing several drawbacks on exports from this kingdom, and more effectually preventing the clandestine conveyance of goods to and from the said colonies and plantations, and improving and securing the trade between the same and Great-Britain; the other passed in the eighth year of his present majesty's reign, intituled, "An Act for the more easy and effectual recovery of the penalties and forfeitures inflicted by the acts of parliament relating to the trade or revenues of the British colonies and plantations in America."

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every charter party, bill of loading, and other contract for configuring shipping, or carrying any goods, wares, and merchandise whatsoever, to or from the said town of Boston, or any part of the bay or harbour thereof, described as aforesaid, which have been made or entered into, or which shall be made or entered into, so long as this act shall remain in full force, relating to any ship which shall arrive at the said town or harbour after the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four, shall be, and the same are hereby declared to be, utterly void, to all intents and purposes whatsoever.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That whenever it shall be made to appear to his majesty in his privy council, that peace and obedience to the laws shall be so far restored in the said town of Boston, that the trade of Great-Britain may safely be carried on there, and his majesty's customs duly collected, and his majesty, in his privy council, shall adjudge the same to be true, it shall and may be lawful for his majesty, by proclamation, or order of council, to assign and appoint the extent, bounds, and limits, of the port or harbour of Boston, and of every creek or haven within the same, or in the islands within the precinct thereof; and also to assign and appoint such and so many open places, quays, and wharfs, within the said harbour, creeks, havens, and islands, for the landing, discharging, lading, and shipping of goods, as his majesty, his heirs & successors shall judge necessary and expedient; and also to appoint such and so many officers of the customs therein as his majesty shall think fit; after which it shall be lawful for any person or persons to load or put off from, or to discharge and land upon, such wharfs, quays, and places so appointed within the said harbour, and none other, any goods, wares, and merchandise whatever.

Provided always, That if any goods, wares, or merchandise, shall be laden or put off from, or discharged or landed upon, any other place, than the quays, wharfs, or places, so to be appointed, the same, together with the ships, boats, and other vessels employed therein, and the horses, or other cattle and carriages used to convey the same, and the person or persons concerned or assisting therein, or to whose hands the same shall knowingly come, shall suffer all the forfeitures and penalties imposed by this, or any other act on the illegal shipping or landing of goods.

Provided also, and it is hereby declared and enacted, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be construed, to enable his majesty to appoint such port, harbour, creeks, quays, wharfs, places, or officers, in the said town of Boston, or in the said bay or islands, until it shall sufficiently appear to his majesty that full satisfaction hath been made by or on behalf of the inhabitants of the said town of Boston to the united company of merchants of England trading to the East-Indies, for the damages sustained by the said company, by the destruction of their goods sent to the said town of Boston, on board certain ships or vessels as aforesaid, and until it shall be certified to his majesty, in council, by the governor, or lieutenant-governor, of the said province, that reasonable satisfaction hath been made to the officers of his majesty's revenue, and others, who suffered by the riots and insurrections aforesaid, in the months of November and December, in the year one thousand seven hundred and seventy-three, and in the month of January, in the year one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any action or suit shall be commenced, either in Great-Britain or America, against any person or persons, for any thing done in pursuance of this act of parliament, the defendant or defendants, in such action or suit, may plead the general issue, and give the said act, and the special matter, in evidence, at any trial to be had thereupon, and that the same was done in pursuance and by the authority of this act: and if it shall appear so to have been done, the jury shall find for the defendant or defendants; and if the plaintiff shall be nonsuited, or discontinue his action, after the defendant or defendants shall have appeared; or if judgment shall be given upon any verdict or demurrer, against the plaintiff, the defendant or defendants shall recover treble costs, and have the like remedy for the same, as defendants have in other cases by law.

April 9. Thursday night a cabinet council was held at lord North's, at which all the great officers of state assisted, as did his excellency general Gage, which sat late. After their rising a messenger was dispatched to Portsmouth.

The officers ordered upon the duty of America, hang back; and declare it a piece of duty quite repugnant to their feelings, as men and Englishmen.

We are informed from the best authority, that the following four regiments have actually received orders from the war office to hold themselves in readiness to embark for Boston upon the shortest notice, viz. the 4th, 5th, 38th, and 43d, and that all the officers, notwithstanding many of them had obtained the king's leave of absence, have received orders to join their respective corps immediately upon pain of being cashiered.

The report continues to gain credit, that the friends to the Bostonians have made some overtures which may probably prevent matters being carried to extremities;

it is, however, generally agreed, that general Gage will be sent to America, to see all things settled upon a permanent and proper footing.

EDWARD LLOYD.

Fairfax county, Virginia, May 10, 1774.

IN the month of March last the subscriber sent out a number of carpenters, and labourers, to build houses, and clear and enclose fields on his patented lands on the Ohio, intending to divide the several tract which he there holds, into convenient sized tennants, and give leases thereof for lives, or a term of years, renewable for ever, under certain conditions, which may be known either of him, or Mr. Valentine Crawford, who is now on the land.

The situation and quality of these lands having been thoroughly described in a former advertisement, it is unnecessary to enlarge upon them here, suffice it generally to observe, that they are no better in that country, and that the whole of them lay upon the banks either of the Ohio or Great Kanawha, and capable of receiving the highest improvement.

FORTY DOLLARS REWARD.

RAN away last night, a negro-man, who says he is a seaman, and calls himself Thomas Jones; he brought a kind of pass from Baltimore county fifteen months ago, whereof he is called Thomas Smith; he indentured himself to me in January last; this month I gave him a discharge from his indenture, on account of his leaving fits, as plainly since appears, in order to get clear from me; he is six or seven and twenty years of age, a very lusty fellow, about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high; had on an old cotton waistcoat and breeches, an oilabrig shirt, black and white yarn stockings, and shoes with things in them; he took from the subscriber a negro woman named Nan, eighteen years of age, 5 feet 4 or 5 inches high, whom he calls his wife; she had on and took with her a calico jacket and petticoat, an oilabrig ditto, cotton ditto, stockings, and an old straw hat, with many other things too tedious to mention. Whoever brings the said negro to the subscriber near Annapolis, shall receive twenty shillings if ten miles from home, thirty shillings if twenty miles, fifty shillings if thirty miles, three pounds if forty miles, and the above reward four of the province, or twenty dollars for either, paid by May 11, 1774. — CALEB DORR-EY, son of

TEN POUNDS REWARD.

Anne-Arundel county, Elk Ridge, May 10, 1774.

RAN away last night, an Irish servant man, named Thomas Brady, about 25 years old, 5 feet 6 inches high, has but little beard, and some marks of the small-pox in his face, is a good deal freckled, has long brown hair clubbed, and often nicely curled at the sides; his common dress is a fuddled black and white country cloth over jacket, very long, a shirt under waistcoat unsullied black and white, with breeches of the same, black-and-white country ya-n stockings, old country shoes with strings, one of them patched on the side, a pretty good English fine hat with a black silk band and buckle; he carried with him sundry other cloaths, viz. an old green cassiter coat very much worn and faded, an old striped flannel waistcoat, a pair of mixed cloths breeches made out of an old coat turned, I suppose he has worn these last mentioned cloaths, and carried the others for change, he has a brown dowlas, and two oilabrig shirts, is subject to get drunk, and has had one of his thighs broke, which makes him hop very much in his walk, I expect that he is gone off with a brother of his, a very strong well set fellow, a servant to Mr. Philenton Warfield, as I found the horse at my house this morning which I believe that servant used to ride when he came to visit my servant, his brother. Whoever takes up the said servant and brings him home to me, shall receive the above reward.

REUBEN MERIWETHER.

N. B. I have since discovered that he has stolen a light mixed wilton-coat with a red cape, and a light blue broad cloth waistcoat with plain white metal capped buttons, which I suppose was for his brother to wear.

STRAY'D or stolen from my house on the 26th of April, a small-forst mare, about eight years old, twelve and an half hands high, has a switch tail, some saddle spots, and a small white spot under her right ear, is a natural racer, and goes very easy, branded with something like c. Whoever delivers said mare to me shall receive twenty shillings reward.
