Their high mightinesses the States General have this day iffued a proclamation; of which the following is a translation

PROCLAMATION.

HE states general to the united provinces, to all who shall see, or hear these presents read, greeting:
Be it known, that we, for particular reafons us thereunto moving, have thought fit absolutely to prohibit, and we hereby absolutely do probibit, all exportation of ammunition, gunpowder, guns, and thot, by thips belonging to the dominions of Great-Britain, provisionally for the term of fix months; upon pain not only of confiscation of the arms and ammunition which shall be found there on board, but also of a fine of a thousand guilders over and above, at the charge of the commander, whose ship shall be answera-ble and liable to execution for the same.

That we have further thought fit to enach, and we do hereby enach, that during the abovefaid term of fix months, no gunpowder, guns, shot, or other instru-ments of war, shall be embarked on board any other fhips, whether foreign or belonging to this country, to be transported abroad, without consent or permission of the college of admiralty, under whose jurisdiction the embarkation shall be made upon pain of confication of the arms, gunpowder, guns, thot, or other ammuni-tion, which thall have been embarked without permitfion, and of the commander sincurring a fine of a thoufand guilders, on board of whose ship the faid arms and ammunition shall have been embarked, and his ship be answerable and liable to execution for the faid sine.

And, that no one may pretend ignorance hereof, we call upon and require the flates, the hereditary stadtholder, the committee of council, and the deputations of the states, of the respective provinces, and all other the officers and justices of these countries; to cause this our proclamation to be forthwith promulged, published, and affixed, in all places where such publication is wont to be made. And we do further charge and command the counsellors of the admiralty, the advocates general, together with all admirals, vice-admirals, captains, officers, and commanders; to pay obedience to this our proclamation, proceeding and caufing to be proceeded against the transgressors, thereof, without favour, connivance, dissimulation, or composition....For such have we found meet we found meet.

April; An express arrived last week from Gibraltar, with information to his majesty's secretary at war, that the Spaniards had eightfail of the line ready for immediate failing. Their pretence was against the Moors, but it not being usual to equip an armament of such force, it caused a suspicion sufficient to advertise our court of the circumstance. Accordingly, the question was put to the Spanish minister last Thursday, but we do not as yet hear that he has given a categorical an-

So fullen, and unexpectedly adverse, are the late dispatches from Madrid, that a war is apprehended more than ever; and a proposal has actually been made in our cabinet council, that, in task of a rupture, we should furnish shipping and transports for 40,000 Moors; and land them in Spain. This is a plan that was formed by the earl of Chatham when in adminifirstion; and would at one ftroke throw the whole house of Bourbon into inextricable confusion: It is well known, that in Granada and Valencia are vast numbers of secret Moors, that would join their friends on

The following is a copy of a letter sent yesterday by the Lord Chamberlain of his Majesty's liquidold to the Lord Mayor of the city of London :

Majefty will not receive, on the throne, any address, remonstrance, or petition of the Lord Mayor and aldermen, but in their corporate capacity.

Your Lordship's most humble fergant HERTFORD.

This day his Majesty went to the house of peers, and gave the royal affent to the following bills, viz. The bill to reffrain the trade and commerce of New-Jerfey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and South-Carolina. The bill to punish mutiny and defertion in the American colonies. The bill to appointing commissioneratio execute the land-tax act. The bill to indemnify persons who have omitted to qualify themselves for offices, &cc. The bill for refling part of the garden of Lincoln's inn, in the accountant reneral of chancery. &cc. The bill to in the accountant-general of chancery, &c. The bill to explain and amend an act to prevent frauds in the manufacture of hats, the woollen, and divers other branches of trade. The bill to enable Sir Nigel Griefly and fon to make a navigable canal from certain coal mines at Apedale, in Staffordshire, to Newcastle under Lyne. And also to several road, enclosure, and private bills.

April 15. A gentleman who was in the presence chamber on Monday, when the city address and remonstrance was presented, has given us the following account of the conduct of the two principal actors in the tragi-comedy of the day. When the city-council had read the paper, he gave it to the Lord Mayor, who delivered it to the king with a half-bent knee, and a most profound reverence. His Majesty handed the petition to a lord in waiting, and then deliberately taking a paper from his pocket, read the answer. A silence of two minutes enfued, when the Lord Mayor made a low bow, then retreated backwards to the middle of the room, made a fecond, and in like manner, a third at the door, when the king moved his hat to his Lordship, and thus ended the business.

It was last year reported, what Sir Jeffery Amherst had faid, that with 5000 English regulars he would engage to march from one end to the other of the continent of North-America. This being spoken of publicly in a coffee-house in North-America, Colonel Washington, who was present, declared, that with only 1 000 Virginians, he would engage to stop Sir Jeffery Amherst's march .-- It is the fashion at St. James's to despise the Americans, to call them cowards, poltroons, &c. and the resolution seems to be taken to put their courage to the proof. The very able, spirited, and prudent conduct of this gallant officer, when he covered and preserved the remains of the English army, after one of their defeats laft war in North-America. has endeared him to every brave man, and flamped him with the name of being a most able officer.

It is asserted as a fact in the city, that letters from Spain give an account, it is no carry, that retters from court of Madrid have ordered a very confiderable fleet to the West-Indies, in order to attack some of the western islands as soon as our troops are edgaged with the Bostonians; at which time, the letters lay, there is no doubt but the well become masters of some of them.

no doubt but they will become masters of some of them.
It is said that lord North has it in contemplation to diffolve the South-fea company; and to throw their fa-yings, amounting to near a million of money; into the yings, amounting to hear a million of money; into the finking fund, and apply it to the fervice of the current year. The above favings having arisen chirrely from the exorbitant price of 500l. for each million of the funds managed by the South-lea company, may very honourably be applied to the public use.

A letter from an English gentleman of rank at Paris mentions, that by a vessel from the coast of Guiney, accounts have been received that the Pholies, a people descended from the Arabs, have lately appeared in great numbers on the banks of the river Gambia, and have committed several hostilities against the English; who they affert have no pretentions to the Gold coaft; it being part of the territories of their forefathers,

The above people, fays this account, are exceeding powerful and rigid Mahometans, well acquainted with the profits made by the gold, frory, and flave trade, from which; and their unexcelled bravery, it is imagined they will be very troublesome to the subjects of Great-Britain.

It is now talked that the parliament is to meet carly in October, to fix the fums to be paid by the respective provinces into the hands of a pay-mafter general of the troops, whose residence is to be at New York. The amount at prefent alked is faid to be only the annual ex-pences extraordinary, which this nation has been put to in protecting the American conquells in the late war. There is another fund, they say, to be established, for paying the interest of a large sum to be raised to build forts in certain places. The interest of this new fund is to be seven and a half per cent. payable at New-York half-yearly, to an agent, who is to be impowered to draw upon the treasury here in case the extra sums for the government of America, over and above the money to be raifed there, should amount to so much. This new mode of funding upon the American credit, it is thought will meet with the approbation of the landed interest.

BOSTON. Gamp at Cambridge, May 28, 1775.

Yesterday a party from the United American army was ordered to take the cattle, hay, &c. from Noddle's and Hog Island. While executing, their orders, they were attacked by a number of the king's troops from Botton, in an armed schooner, a floop, and 8 or 10 boats belonging to the men of war 1.2 brilk fire began about four o'clock, P. M. and continued most of the night, then ceased a little, and at dawn of day was renewed, by which time capt. Foster, with two fieldpieces from this camp, joined our troops, when a heavy fire from the shore on the armed vessels put them into great distress. The schooner's decks were soon cleared, and she drifted on the ferry-way at Winesimet, where our people set sire to her, and she was soon blown up and destroyed. Sixteen four pounders, and fix swivels, were taken out of her by our people. The floop was disabled; and obliged to be towed off by the men of war's boats; the remains of them are returned to their den. Our people had none killed, three wounded, buty none of them dangeroully. The number of the killed and wounded of the enemy not known.
