

Dente qui laterrimus nigro, quid pulchrius albo?

THOUGH bred to phisic and surgery, I have, for these six years past devoted and dedicated my whole time and attention to that part of surgery, which concerns the dentist's art; I observed, with regret, that no material instructions were to be derived from writers, who have touched (I think) but collaterally on the subject; therefore I endeavoured, for my own improvement, and the advantage of my country, to preserve the teeth, and regulate their growth and to remove the multiplicity of disorders and deformities to which they are exposed. As the teeth serve for mastication, for the distinct articulation of sounds, and for ornament, their care and preservation are, perhaps, of more importance than is generally imagined. From an assiduous application and practice, I have a perfect knowledge and perception of the true nature of the teeth, the anatomy and physiology of the teeth, and parts adjacent. The design of this advertisement is to offer my assistance, and inform the public, that the decay in the gums, be it ever so bad, may be cured. I clean and scale the teeth, from that corrosive, tartarous, gritty substance, which impedes the gums from growing, infects the breath, and is one of the principal or primordial causes of the scurvy, which, if not timely prevented, eats away the gums, so that many Peoples teeth fall out. I prevent teeth from growing rotten, keep fülls as are decayed from becoming worse, even to old age, make the gums grow firm up to the teeth, and restore and preserve their beauty. I fill up with gold, or lead, those that are hollow, so as to render them of use—so prevents the air getting into them, which aggravates the pain. Those who have had the misfortune of losing their teeth, may have natural teeth transplanted, from one person to another, which will remain as firm in the jaw (without any agament) as if they originally grew there. Natural teeth grafted on old stumps; also artificial teeth, from a single tooth to a complete set, which can be made and fixed in with the greatest exactness and nicety, without pain or the least inconvenience, so that they may eat, drink, or sleep with them in their mouths as natural ones, from which they cannot be discovered by the sharpest eye. I extract teeth and stumps after the best and easiest method, be they ever so deeply situated in the jaw. I beg to be consulted in all the disorders of the teeth, gums, sockets, ulcers, cancers, abscesses, fistulas, suppurations and inflammations in the gums, which are more or less of a malignant nature. My DENTIFRICE, I beg leave to recommend to the public, which I have found to be greatly superior, not only in elegance but also in efficacy, to any thing hitherto made use of for the teeth and gums. It is quite free from any corrosive preparation, will restore the gums to their pristine state, will prevent the tooth-ach, and render the breath delicately sweet, (if the tartarous substance is off the teeth) and will remedy all these disorders that are the consequence of scorbutic gums. I think it necessary to add also, for the sake of undisturbed truth, that it is the best DENTIFRICE I ever knew. It preserves the teeth and gums, keeps the teeth white and beautiful, without in the least impairing the enamel. It was communicated to me by Dr. John Baker, and may be always procured at my residence, in Charles county, near Port-Tobacco. I propose to be in the city of Annapolis, on the 12th day of October, where, perhaps, I may stay a month.

ANY person that is master of the malting and brewing business, will meet with great encouragement in the neighbourhood of the subscriber, not only this year, but any year. He has a very convenient place to let, either from year to year, or a term of years. There is a dwelling house 26 feet square, with good plank floors above and below, a stone cellar under the house, 20 feet square, and convenient out houses. No one need apply, unless he can bring undoubted credentials of his good morals, and firm attachment to the good us American cause. For further particulars apply to—w 3 BENJAMIN HALL, of Benjamin Living in Prince George's county, near the place called the Governor's Bridge.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the twelfth day of this instant, September, a convict servant man named WILLIAM LAVER, a tailor by trade, about five feet six inches high, born in the west of England and talks much in that country dialect; short black hair tied behind; he is a well made fellow, though he rocks in his walk, eye brows large and black, his complexion rather fair than otherwise; had on when he went away, a light coloured mixed broad-cloth coat turn'd up, with pockets in the inside; a narrow striped French cloth jacket with lapels, white casimer breeches, white thread stockings, an old round hat bound round the edge with binding, black leather pumps with long quarters; he took with him a brown country linen shirt pieced on the sleeves with white, and white wristbands; one white linen sheeting ditto. Whoever apprehends and secures the said William Lavers, so that he may be had again, shall receive thirty-seven pounds ten shillings if taken up fifteen miles from the city of Annapolis, if within that distance twenty pounds, paid by—
