grod of a letter from the Sieur de Tillard, ered if a letter from the Steur de Tillard, bestenant of his majesty's frigates, em-berted on board the king's frigate la hyphe, commanded by the chevalter du Remaine, captain of his majesty's ships of the line, to Mons. de Sartine, minister and perstary of state for the marine defart-ment, dated Falmouth, the 27th of Au-nest, dated Falmouth, the 27th of Autyl.

N the 10th instant, at half after four o'clock in the asternoon, being in the west for the west anout four key leagues distant from Ouesth, we perceived a fait to the windward, nich appeared to be in chase of us, and se soon after found her to be an English ingate. The chevalier du Rumaine immediately made all necessary preparations for action, and backing his mainfail, he aid to, to wait for her. At a quarter thore six we began to cannonade each yher, being so near that their yards succed ours, which continued until a surfer past six, when we had the missorse to lose our brave captain, who had resived four musket-balls at different these. Soon after, the two frigates joinsed each other; the seem of the space orser to board the English frigate, and in ensequence thereof made all our people bradon the battery. At half an hour ter six o'clock, the seur de Keransstret su killed on board the English frigates, what the same time the seur du Coueie, ensign of the ship, sell, and was musted between the two frigates.

"Being then on the forecastle of the English trigate, I received a blow with a brachet on the head, and a pittol shot in the shoulder, which threw me backward, but luckily I sell upon a gun. I immetierly repaired upon the forecastle of the frigate, and endeavoured to rally our people, when I received a nother ball, which totally deprived me of all my sells, and another shot took off his thems, on the forecastle; the wounds of dis brave officer are very dangerous, and the surgeons desoair of his life. The hrest, and another shot took off his humb, on the forecastle; the wounds of shis have officer are very dangerous, and the surgeons despair of his life. The item Courson de la Villeholio, another arilliary officer, received a blow with a pke on his thigh, which threw him between the two ships; and previous to that had received a cut with a sword over the hand. The sieur Dudresey, garde of the marines, received a musket ball throbastless, received and to act with speater composure and presence of mind, midt all dangers, than all these officers midft all dangers, than all these officers bre done.

"The fire took twice in our frigate, and once it blew up one of our cartridge

" When I recovered my senses, and as ben as the fieur de la Villeholio and I had wounds dreffed, we defired to be carfid upon decki again; but on our arrival thre, we found to our great mortifica-tion, that the English had taken possession whe king's frigate.

"We had 35 men killed and 70 rounded; among the latter is also the fair de Riemond, a volunteer. I am turrenely forry, that neither time nor systate of health will permit me to give you amore circumfuntial account of this rectime of this wfortunate affair.

"Captain Williams, who commands the English frigate the Flora, which took is, has landed us been yesterday, being:

the 16th inftant.

" The English frigate the Flora,

The English frigate the Flora, mounts 44 guns, viz. 29 eighteen pounders in her batteries, 14 nine pounders, and 4 howitzers upon her deck.

"Our frigate, la Nymphe, carried only 26 twelve pounders, and 6 six pounders; so that one of her broadsides sent only 174 pounds weight of iron, which makes a difference of 123 pounds weight in favour of the Flora."

FISH-KILL, Jan. 25.
We learn that general Parions is just returned from a fuccessul expedition to be Morritina, where he surprised and took prisoners fixty or seventy tories, and burnt a considerable number of hus. He burnt a confiderable number of huts. He also passed to Frog's neck, and destroyed some stores there. He soit one subaltern, and the enemy had one man killed. On Arnold's arrival in New-York, the sagacious great ones supposed, that upon paying particular attention to the vistain, they would lessen his crimes in the eyes of the world, and introduce him to the postice of their circle, without which they forefaw he must tank into obscurity and contempt; he was accordingly, in appearance, caressed by all in power, and pearance, careffed by all in power, and general Robinson's house fixed upon for his home; whenever he chole to ride, the different aids in rotation attended him in his promenade; which gave rife to the ANECHOTE.

One morning, when it was general Robinfon's aid's tour, he remonstrated with the general against it, and shewed evident marks of reluctance to go upon that piece of duty; the general desired to know the reasons, the aid honeitly confessed, that "to be seen attending such a feoundrel through the streets, very much fecoundrel through the streets, very much injured his feelings." To which old Jemmy, pulling up his breeches, replied, that hut! man, and what think you of my feelings?"

TRENTON, Jan. 24.

James Slover, After Biffet, and Daniel Melvin were last week, by the court of quarter sessions to the county of Middle-iex, condemned by virtue of an act of this flate against trading with the eveny, to serve on board some of the galleys, frigates or ships in the service of the United States, and were accordingly con-United States, and were accordingly carried under guard to Philadelphia, to have the faid fentence executed,

As government is determined to execute the faid as with the utmost vigour, the remarks who have hitherto carried on that infamous traffic may profit by the above example, left another punishment enjoined by the faid act foon overtake them, and they appear with one ear left than their neighbourt. than their neighbours.
