

ALBANY, November 30.

A letter from Detroit to a gentleman in Schenectady mentions the death of that noted Indian partizan, Colonel Joseph Brant, chief sachem and head warrior of the Seneca tribe of Indians.

A recent address, from the inhabitants of Wyoming, to the people at large of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, signed by general Ethan Allen, and two of the principal inhabitants of that settlement setting forth their prior right to the soil, in a succinct statement of their title, and outlines of their history, plainly evinces, that this dispute is far from being amicably settled, as has been asserted; but, on the contrary, it is greatly to be feared, will yet be productive of serious consequences.

PHILADELPHIA, December 22.

Captain Small arrived at Portland, (Massachusetts) from St. Croix, on the 24th ult. brings the news, that a few days before he sailed, a vessel arrived there from Port-au Prince in five days, which gave an account of its being sunk by an earthquake about the 10th of October, and that it is judged 1700 souls were lost.

A most violent gale of wind did great damage in the Island of Jamaica, about the middle of October last. The cases in general in some parishes have suffered very much. The plantain walks are all destroyed, and many of the buildings unroofed, and much injured. Many estates and works in Hanover and Westmoreland are totally destroyed. At Lucea, the officers houses at the fort is totally dismantled, with other houses unroofed and blown down. At Savanna la Mar, all the small craft are on shore, and the town has suffered a good deal. Provisions of every kind, as well as the canes in the internal parts of the parish of St. Elizabeth are totally destroyed. At Kingston and Port Royal, many vessels have been drove on shore, with the loss of their masts, &c.

On the 29th ult. a small shock of an earthquake was sensibly felt in the town of Boston.

The ship Apollo, Abialom Young, master, bound from Bristol to New-York, on the 4th inst. in a severe gale, ran on the shoals near the Light House, bilged, and immediately sunk. There were 18 passengers on board besides the crew, who are supposed to have perished, except two seamen, who by getting on some spars, saved their lives by reaching the shore.

The late excessive cold weather froze the river at Middletown (Connecticut) to such a degree, that within 24 hours after boats passed it, people crossed it on the ice with safety. In Hartford the degree of cold was greater than has been known at this season of the year. Tuesday the 25th of November, Fahrenheit's thermometer through the whole day stood at 10 deg.

We are told that the river from Albany as low as Red Hook, is entirely closed, having been crossed on the ice at several places with safety.

By a letter from Boston we are informed that the affairs of that state are in a fair way to be restored to their former tranquillity, and that three of the capital ringleaders, Shattuck, Parker, and Page, were taken, who were at Concord, on their way to Cambridge, with a party of men, to stop the sitting of the court. Shattuck is severely wounded; he and the other two are in Boston gaol.

SAVANNAH, November 9.

We are informed by a correspondent from Augusta, that a full meeting of the merchants of that town was held at the coffee-house there on the first instant, when resolutions were unanimously entered into to give the most ample credit to the paper medium. This is hoped will be a prelude to similar acts of concurrence with the voice of the assembly in every trading part of the state.

ANNAPOLIS, January 4.

The following extract of a letter is inserted at the pressing request of a correspondent: "I have strong hopes that our senate will stand firm against the money bill—the threat of disbanding and of appealing to the people, ought to be spurned with contempt. The senate have nothing to fear—Almost every rational disinterested man of my acquaintance looks up to them on this great occasion—if they act with becoming spirit, and exhibit to the public view that patriotic zeal for the general good which we believe they possess, the friends of public virtue will step forth and exert their influence to support them."
