PHILADELPHIA, January 18.

Extract of a letter received by a gentleman in this city.

"Galliapolis, or French town, on the Scioto,

November 29, 1790.

"This will be handed you by Mr. —, who is fent by our fellow-citizens, as a deputy to the Scioto company, at New-York, in order to obtain from them leave to remove the feat of our new city twenty miles below the place where it is now fixed, which is too hilly and not at all fuitable for a town. We have been informed by our huntsmen, that a few miles lower down there is a convenient spot of level ground in every respect proper for the feat of our metropolis. We are all charmed with this country;—the lands are good.

"We are now fully convinced that the stories of Indians and serocious animals with which persons endeavoured to alarm us on our way hither, are entirely without soundation. We wander about the woods at a distance from our habitations without danger. General St. Clair, who passed this way a few days ago, and all those who have had an opportunity of making themselves acquainted with the savages in these parts, assure us that their conduct towards the French is particularly friendly. Provisions and game are plenty."

From a London news-paper, of November 13.
CONVENTION, between his BRITANNIC MAJEST

CONVENTION, between his BRITANNIC MAJESTY and the KING of. SPAIN, figned at the Escurial, October 28, 1790.

THEIR Britannic and catholic majesties, being defirous of terminating, by a speedy and solid agreement, the differences which have lately arisen between the two crowns, have judged that the best way of attaining this falutary object would be that of an amicable arrangement, which, setting aside all retrospective discustion of the rights and pretentions of the two parties, should fix their respective situation, for the suture, on a basis conformable to their true interests, as well as to the mutual desire with which their said majesties are animated, of establishing with each other, in every thing, and in all places, the most perfect friendship, harmony, and good correspondence. In this view, they have named and constituted, for their plenipotentiaries, to wit: on the part of his Britannic majesty, Alleyne Fitzherbert, Esquire, one of his said majesty's privy-council in Great-Britain and Ireland, and his ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to his catholic majesty; and, on the part of his catholic majesty, Don Joseph Monino, count of Florida Blanca, knight, grand cross of the royal Spanish order of Charles III. counsellor of state to his said majesty, and his principal secretary of state and of the dispatches; who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, have agreed upon the following articles:

ARTICLE I. It is agreed that the buildings and tracts of land, situated on the northwest coast of the continent of North-America, or on islands adjacent to that continent, of which the subjects of his Britannic majesty were dispossessed about the month of April, 1789, by a Spanish officer, shall be restored to the said British subjects.

ART. II. And further, that a just reparation shall be made, according to the nature of the case, for all acts of violence or hostility, which may have been committed, subsequent to the month of April, 1789, by the subjects of either of the contracting parties against the subjects of the ther—and that, in case any of the said respective subjects shall, since the same period, have been forcibly dispossessed of their lands, buildings, vessels, merchandise, or other property whatever, on the said continent, or on the seas or islands adjacent, they shall be re-established in the possession thereof, or a just compensation shall be made to them for the losses which they shall have sustained.

ART. III. And, in order to strengthen the bonds of friendship, and to preserve, in suture, a perfect harmony and good understanding between the two contracting parties, it is agreed that their respective subjects shall not be disturbed or molested, either in navigating or carrying on their fisheries in the Pacific ocean, or in the South Seas, or in landing on the coasts of those seas, in places not already occupied, for the purpose of carrying on their commerce with the natives of the country, or of making settlements there; the whole subject nevertheless, to the restrictions and provisions specified in the three following articles.

ART. IV. His B itanic majesty engages to take the most effectual measures to prevent the navigation and sishery of his subjects, in the Pacific ocean, or in the South Seas, from being made a pretext for illicit trade with the Spanish settlements; and, with this view, it is moreover expressly stipulated, that British subjects shall not navigate, or carry on their sisheries in the said seas, within the space of ten sea leagues from any part of the coasts already occupied by Spain.

ART. V. It is agreed, that as well in the places which are to be restored to the British subjects, by virtue of the 1st article, as in all other parts of the northwestern coasts of North-America, or of the islands adjacent, situated to the north of the parts of the said coast already occupied by Spain, wherever the subjects of either of the two powers shall have made settlements since the month of April, 1789, or shall hereaster make any, the subjects of the other shall have free access, and shall carry on their trade, without any disturbance or molestation.

ART. VI. It is further agreed, with respect to the eastern and western coasts of South-America, and to the islands adjacent, that no settlement shall be formed hereaster, by the respective subjects, in such parts of those coasts as are situated to the south of those parts of the same coasts, and of the islands adjacent, which are already occupied by Spain: Provided that the said respective subjects shall retain the liberty of landing on the coasts and islands so situated, for the purposes of their sishery, and of erecting thereon huts, and other temporary buildings, serving only for those purposes.

ART. VII. In all cases of complaint, or infraction of the articles of the convention, the officers of either party without permitting themselves previously to commit any violence or act of force, shall be bound to make an exact report of the affair, and of its circumstances, to their respective courts, who will terminate such differences in an amicable manner.

ART. VIII. The present convention shall be ratified and confirmed in the space of six weeks, to be computed from the day of its signature, or sooner, if it can be done.

In witness whereof, we, the undersigned plenipotentiaries of their Britannic and catholic majesties, have in their names, and in virtue of our respective sull powers, signed the present convention, and set thereto the seals of our arms.

Done at the palace of St. Laurence, the twenty eighth of October, one thousand seven hundred and ninety.

Calvert county, December 22, 1790.

THE subscriber, having greatly suffered by his sences being thrown down in various places—paths made through every part of his plantation—and his fields becoming mere commons—finds himself under the disagreeable necessity to give this public notice, that he has laid out the road leading through his plantation to the old court-house landing, of which he begs every one to take particular notice—He forewarns all persons from crossing any part of his grounds in any other manner whatever, unless strictly by the said road to the very landing itself—for he is absolutely determined to prosecute, to the utmost rigour of the law, every one, without respect to persons, he shall find for the suture deviating in any manner from this notice.—He likewise forewarns all persons from hunting either with dog or gun, on any part of his lands.
