WINCHESTER, May 7. A French emigrant of note, who arrived in this town on Friday last, in eight days from Galliapolis, on the Miami, contradicts the report of captain Guion being murdered, as mentioned in a former paper... Said emigrant informs, that his companions have not as yet been molested by the savages, but were under strong apprehensions of a visit from them ere long.

A traveller, arrived in this town, who parted through Little-York, Pennsylvania, the beginning of this week, reports, that he met an express going to Philadelphia, who informed him that the town of Pittsburg had been burnt by the Indians. [This wants confirmation.]

Last night a stable belonging to Mr. N. Cartmell, about four miles from this town, in which was a stud horse, was burnt to the ground, and the animal perished. It is supposed to have been maliciously set on fire by some person or persons.

RICHMOND, May 7, Accounts from Fort Pitt, state, that the depredations committed by the savages, within these four months past, exceed all former mischief-that twenty-three white people have been killed this fide the Ohio, fince November last, without counting those who fell facrifice in going down the river: In consequence of which the inhabitants of Pittsburg have been so much alarmed, as to keep a body of militia constantly patroling, apprehending a formal attack by the enraged favages upon their town.

Accounts from that quarter, further state, that the purchasing commissary for the army, is now laying in ge magazines of provition and forage, in the neighbourhood of Fort-Pitt, and that every thing is getting ready for the campaign intended against the Indians the enfuing fummer.

BALTIMORE, May 13. Paragraph from the Columbian Centinel, published at Boston, on the Ath inflant. "On Monday arrived here his Britannic majesty's ship Alligator, of 28 guns, Isaac Cossin, Esquire, commander, from Halifax. On passing the Cattle, the Alligator saluted the flag of the United States with thirteen guns, which were immediately returned from that fortreis. This mutual attention in powers, who were but lately hostile to each other, shews the superior liberality of the age we live in-and proclaims to the world the verification of that memorable instrument, the declaration of independence, in which our political fathers declared that they " should hold the king and subjects of Great Britain as they did the rest of the world, enemies in war-in peace friends."

For the Benefit of the Female Sex.

YOUNG LADY, for the take of humanity, is desirous to inform the public, that she had laboured under a lingering confumption upwards of 12 months. Medicine, aided by the skill of persons eminent in their profession, was administered in vain-she was reduced to the last degree of weakness-unable to walk across her chamber without the support of a staff. In this stage of her sickness, a friend of the young lady having, by accident, heard of some extraordinary " On Saturday last we had a severe storm here, cures performed in similar disorders by Mr. JAMES READ, of the city of Philadelphia, was induced, as a last resource, to apply to him. Mr. Read prepared a medicine, which was sent to the Bermuda islands, where the young lady, a native of America, has refided for some years. She recovered fast from the time she began to use it, and in little more than three months was restored to perfect health. Well knowing how many of her sex fall a sacrifice to that fatal disorder, which has hitherto baffled the skill of the ablest physicians in a great measure, she wishes this to be published for the benefit of her sex, but particularly for those of her native land, that those labouring under a similar disorder may know where to apply for relief, as well as to express her gratitude to that worthy man, who, under Divine Providence, has been the happy instrument of preserving her lite, and restoring her to health.
