apolis; Thomas Dorsett, sen.

Seneca. apolis; John Holmes, junior, airrel Neck.

ohn Sands, Annapolis; Mar-Annapolis; Dennis M'Carthy Mason, St. Mary's county.

apolis. napolis. nnapolis. Richard Ridgely, John Ridout an Rawlings, Anne-Arundel ck, Vachel Stevens (2), Alex-; Thomas Snowden (2), Pander Thompson, Annapolis. Burton Wheteroft, James napolis; Marmaduke Wyvill, Green, D. P. M. e delivered without the Money.

April 18, 1791.

on the evening of the 16th in-ANIEL, a very black slender ge, five feet fix or eight inches time runaway, and was taken n-works, and brought home on ops much in his walking, and nd a flow manner of speaking; et and hands remarkably slenlost part of his left ear; his y, having met with some los except his thirt, which was e claimed; he is an artful vilself of the first opportunity he . It seems he hired himself. rther up the county, as a freeat way. I will again give a person securing him, so that he nable expences if delivered. Wm. BROGDEN.

rge's county, May 6, 1791. ri facias from the general court, D TO SALE, for ready cash, stant, at the late dwelling house deceased, near Upper Marlbo-

the PERSONAL Benjamin Brooke, confishing of d to satisfy a debt due the state

IANDLER, Acting Sheriff award L. Wailes.

DESIRE ts and Traders of this City.

OSALS, BY SUBSCRIPTION,

Marine List, tain the inward and outward n every port on the continent, occurrences: A compendious, will be added, which is chiefly late the merchants and their printed, on a nice thin paper post—and delivered to the subeks, at the price of one guinea be put to the press as soon as offer, sufficient to defray the pay at the end of every fix ay, 1791. Z twenty-fourth instants at Mr. isfy the creditors of col. James n lease, with the improvements hree lots whereon Dr. Shaaff, and Mrs. Anne Tootell live, ie fituation of ground rent, and own at the time of fale. MS, Acting Administrator.

DERICK and SAMUEL

(XLVIth YEAR.)

(No. 2315.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE

January 13. Generous HE British ministry, with that political caution which has fo frongly marked their conduct for these seven years past, keep a watchful eye upon the motions of old Catharine, and are determined to check the progress of her ambition. The grand object of her defire is well known to be a rival navy; and whatever may be the pretence, whether the security of her overgrown empire, or her Turkish crusade, an equality, or rather a superiority, to Britain, in that respect, is her grand and ultimate aim. This is so well known to Mr. Pitt and his colleagues, that they are determined to prevent it for the general peace of Europe. No man of political observation can look without awe upon the present state of Europe, which is, perhaps, more interesting than that of any period since the war of the Spanish succession. At that time, as at present, a whole country conferring upon its inhabitants the name of a nation, was to be lost or won; and all the leading powers of Europe were drawn then, as they probably will be upon the present occasion, into the contest. It is to be decided, perhaps, within a very few months, whether Turkey in Europe shall subfift as a kingdom, or be a province of the empire of

The four maritime provinces, Holland, Zealand, Friesland, and Groninghen, take off more than one half of all the wine, and almost all the falt which France produces. Our ministry might make it the interest of the Dutch to take their salt from England, by allowing the proprietor so large a drawback upon exported falt, as might enable him to fell it as cheap as the Portuguese or Spaniards.

Extract of a letter from captain F. Pawfon, of the Increase, dated Nolton, near Milford, January 8.

"I am forry to inform you, the country people have plundered the ship of great part of her cargo, rigging, stores, &c. All my property is entirely gone. The Messes. Mortal and Deathsbead, present their respects which blew up about 60 persons, five of whom are who are liable to die, and beg leave to inform them, dead, and several others are not expected to live. that they have sitted up a large and extensive ware-There is only one of the ship's company hurt, which house for burials of all sorts which they perform at the is the mate."

shortest notice, and at least twenty per cent. cheaper Last night a tragedy called, the Widow of Malabar, than in any other house in London. was introduced at Covent-Garden theatre, under the Cossins of all sizes ready made, and may be had at auspices of the manager. It is said to be the production a minute's warning. of Miss Starke, the daughter of an Indian governor, Choice mutes, of the most approved and Joleful and to have been performed, with the approbation of countenances, are always at hand, and may be dependfriends, at the private theatre of Mrs. Crespigny. The ed upon. tragedy is founded on the Gentoo custom of sacrificing -and was well received.

Jan. 15. By accounts from America of the highest are firm and secure. authority, it appears that the taxes imposed under the the debt contracted during the war, have been so much nurses, and others of the trade. more productive than was expected, that some of them have not been levied at all, and are to be immediately repealed; that the revenue affords a clear and annual furplus of one million of dollars; and that in fix years the whole of the public debt will be discharged.

Extract of a letter from Cheltenbam, January 14. part of the dogs that were then running about the custody. Mr. L. made his escape. from dogs, it is a fort of infatuation in the people of Where were the finger posts? this country, that fuch numbers are kept."

that they take the first opportunity of washing the any gentleman, or his ancestors, for over!" wound with clean water, which operation should be

At Worcester city sessions on Monday last, a gentleman was convicted of wearing covered buttons, contrary to act of parliament, and paid the fine according-

No people will be greater gainers than the Jews, by the declaration of the rights of man in France. In suspended between two hogs; and when any of them that his remoter domains are disaffected, that his armies with affes, oxen, or sheep. Many people have doubt- of the present sovereign of Constantinople will, in all ed the reality of this latter practice; but it is proved probability, terminate in some miserable catastrophe. to have existed by a tarif lately discovered of the ferriage duties they paid at Chateauneuf-sur-Loire. It was printed in 1570, in virtue of an act of court, of March 15, 1558. After enumerating the duties to be paid by different animals, it goes on as follows:

Item. Duty on a Jew, 12 deniers. A Jewess big with young, 9 deniers. A' Jewess, 6 deniers. Item. A dead Jew, 5 sous.

A dead Jewess, 30 deniers. of the Lord, should be thus treated.

Ephesian Matron, which would contrast the fine feel- things, first weakened, afterwards in part destroyed, ings of an unhusbanded Christian with the sober serrows and is now likely, in another century more, perhaps, of an Asiatic widow. Both stories are certainly taken to crumble in ruins altogether. from facts upon record, and are well known to the it is rather doubtful whether the Ephesian Matron's doctrine would not at this day be preferred in every part of the world to that laid down by the Widow of Malabar. A warm bed is preferable to a cold grave, and the embraces of a man more natural than the encircling flames of a funeral pile.

Jan. 25. M. de la Fayette, who speaks English with grammatical accuracy, reads the London prints regularly, in order to know how the London editors dispose of the grand prediction in these verses. him—they drub him, he fays, and he does not feel a blow; they show him in a contemptible point of view, and he is fure of enjoying the fullest confidence of his fellow citizens; they make him run away from Paris, while he thinks of nothing but remaining at his post, and deserving well of his country.

Advertisement extraordinary.

NEW PUFF. wretches, in plundering, fet fire to some powder, to the nobility, gentry, and the public in general,

Gentlemen who have occasion to bury their wives the widow on the funeral pile of the deceased husband will find their interest in applying to this house, and may be satisfied, on inspecting the cossins, that they

N. B. Good allowance to families who die in quannew federal government for the purpose of paying off tities and the usual discount given to apothecaries, town, before he could be killed. A small cur, be- Feb. 25. The theatres at Naples and Milan are said this melancholy spectacle, which, we hope, will have longing to one Maggs, bit his fifter, and a young to be the two largest in the world; but that at Bologna a lasting impression on the minds of the scamen, and woman of the name of Brimyard. The latter was very is the most singular-except the scenery, there is not a deter them from behaving in that mutinous and unbeuneasy, respecting the operation of dipping in salt bit of wood in the whole building, and the scenery in- coming manner, for which this poor sellow has sufwater; Mr. Sollis, a stone-mason, in endeavouring to deed cannot properly be called a part of the building. fered. He has, ever since his condemnation, behaved persuade her to comply, threw her into violent sits, Almost all the foreign theatres are insulated. Surely with the piety and resignation of a true penitent, and and great agitation, so much so, that she bit part of they ought to be so in such a metropolis as this, where received the sacrament an hour before his executionhis cheek very severely, and it was advised for safety, fires are so frequent and so fatal, the doors should open declaring himself at peace with the world he was about that he should be dipped with the party, with which outward, and the avenues be wide and streight. In leave, and expressed himself sensible of the enormity he has complied, and they now take the Ormskirk the road through the intricate passages of one of our of the crime he had committed. medicine. When so many melancholy accidents arise modern theatres, a country gentleman lately inquired,

An auctioneer at the west end of the town, a few It is recommended, from the best authority, to all days ago, attempting the flowers of rhetoric, ex-

> The politicians of Vienna and Petersburgh consider ing the due execution of the sentence. perly attempted; and dread the corruption of prince Potemkin much more than the resistance of the Turks.

The degradation of the grand vizier, and the con-Ascation of his effects, has been, for some time, determined on in the divan. The appointment of a succesfor alone delays the execution of this resolve.

It does not appear that a grand fignior ever takes that country, they were formerly not merely treated warning from the fate of fo many of his predecessors, as the most abject of the human race, but in many who have been either stabbed or strangled .- Sunk in crossed a river, they paid serriage duties in common are ill disciplined, or his vizier faithless.—The fortune

A military government, like that of the Turks, tends to despotism, and in every despotic government the military dispose, sooner or later, of the sovereign authority. The use which a despotic prince makes of his military against his subjects, teaches that description of men what they can do against their prince.

From the tenth to the fourteenth century, the constitution of the church of Rome exhibited the most formidable combination that ever was formed against the authority and security of civil government, as well as How strange, that the children of Israel, the people against the liberty, reason and happiness, of mankind. That sabric, which the wisdom and virtue of man The farce to the Widow of Malabar should be the could never have shaken, was, by the natural course of

It is a curious fact that barley, before the new imworld; but with all Miss Brunton's exquisite acting, post, in its process from growth to consumption, paid to government nearly the whole of its value in the market! The new tax includes the value of the straw.

March 1. The Rev. Isaac Beers, rector of Sudbrook, has just published a dissertation on the 13th and 14th verses of the chapter of Daniel, containing the most invincible arguments to prove, that the commencement of the final restoration of the Jews to the Holy Land is to take place in the present year, 1791, according to Extract of a letter from a physician in London to a surgeon in Manchester, dated February 3.

"I have the pleasure to add here, that a member of the medical society in London, has been successful in the curing of a completely hydrophobic patient, by conveying down the throat, forcibly, draughts of sweet oil, and anointing the whole body with the same. The greater quantity of oil forced down the less was the dread of fluids, till at length health was restored. Another person, who received a bite from the same dog. died raving mad, but the remedy was not applied .--Though some of the ancients have mentioned the use of oil baths, it was our president, Dr. Simms, who first suggested the above treatment, and his brother, Dr. Shadwell, was the first who improved from the hint, and by experiment realised the suggestion. We want new trials to give decision to a practice which promises much from a first essay."

Disturbances of a very serious kind are said to be arising in Canada; a natural consequence, perhaps, of the revolution which has happened in a fifter kingdom, the inhabitants being chiefly French. From these disturbances a separation, in the opinion of some timid persons, is to be apprehended; but there is no doubt but ministry here will intertere with their usual wifdom, and foon put a stop to any complaints which have their foundation in good sense and plain reason.

PORTSMOUTH, January 15.

On Friday morning last, in consequence of a dispute Tuesday morning, at ten o'clock, the signal was concerning the present state of politics, a duel was made on board the Hector, of 74 guns, at Spithead, fought on the beach in front of Haslar Hospital, Ports- for executing Francis Underwood, a seaman lately bemouth, between a Mr. L. of Gosport, and a lieutenant longing to the Formidable, who some time since rein the navy. After the exchange of a case of pistols ceived sentence of death, from a court-martial, for dis-"A dog, belonging to a Mr. Barrett, at the Bolt- each, the lieutenant unfortunately received a shot in obedience of orders, and violently assaulting and striking Inn, in this town, supposed to have been bitten by a his thigh, which brought him to the ground; he was a lieutenant, a master's mate, and a boatswain of the mad dog, was shut up for some time, but unfortunate- immediately carried to the house of a surgeon, who said ship; and at twelve o'clock he was saunched into ly let loofe last week to all appearance very well; how- seemed to think the amputation of the limb must ensue. eternity, in the view of all the seamen of the sleet, ever, the moment the dog found himself at liberty he As the wounded gentleman's life is supposed to be who were on this occasion ordered on the yards. A immediately bit several men and women, and great in some danger, the seconds were instantly taken into great number of people upon the ramparts, and other elevated places near the shore, were assembled to view

On the day on which the execution took place, an affair of a very serious nature is said to have happened on board the Victory. The seamen of that ship, actuated by the same mutinous spirit that had brought the who have the misfortune of being bit by a mad dog, claimed, "Here is an eloquent book case: it will last unhappy criminal, who was about to suffer, to an untimely end, had formed the desperate idea of prevent-continued for ten or fifteen minutes, if the patient can the capture of Constantinople as almost certain, if pro- The captain and officers were apprized of the mutinous disposition of the men, and on the morning appointed for the execution, those who were supposed to be ringleaders in the mutiny, were got into the barge, into which the captain, attended by an officer or two. went. Another boat attended, with an officer, and, as is customary in the navy upon the infliction of any public punishment, manned and armed.-These boats kept rowing round the Hector during the time.

A more serious transaction took place on board the When a Jew was condemned to be hanged, he was that the administration of his dominions is detestable, might view the melancholy scene about to take place,