BY HIS EXCELLENCY John Eager Howard, Esquire,

GOVERNOR of MARYLAND. PROCLAMATION

HERBAS by the deposition of REZIN HAM-MOND, Esquire, of Anne Arundel county, it appears, that on the morning of the 25th of April last ELIJAH GAITHER, son of Edward, came to the dwelling of the said Hammond, and fired at him two putols and a gun, with intention, as the said Hammond believes, to kill him: And whereas, by the deposition of JOHN G. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county, it appears, that the faid Gaither afterwards, in conversation with him, acknowledged the facts set forth in the deposition above mentioned, except the firing of the gun, and declared that he did discharge the said pistols with a design to kill the said Hammond, and did then further declare that it was still his settled determination to kill the faid Hammond whenever an opportunity should offer: And whereas it is obviously the duty of the executive to guard as much as may be against the commission of such enormities, and to bring fuch offenders against the laws and peace of society justice-I have therefore thought proper, by and with the advice of the council, to issue this my proclamation, authorifing and enjoining all sheriffs, and other officers of the peace, to apprehend and convey before some one of the judges or justices within this state, the said Elijah Gaither, in order that he may be dealt with according to law; and I do hereby exhort and require the good people of this state to be aiding and assitting the said officers in the execution of their duty.

GIVE at Annapolis, under the seal of the state of Maryland, this seventh day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one.

REZIN HAMMOND. June 7, 1791.

Mestrs. GREEN. IN order fully to disclose the wicked and premeditated intent of Elijah Gaither, in his attack on me, be pleased to publish in your paper the deposition of John G. Hamilton, which is as follows:

REZIN HAMMOND.

one body, between the heads of Saffafras and hundred and ninety-one, came before me, the and had convertation with Elijah Gaither, fon of Edward, and that, in the course of the said conversation. Printed by FREDERICK and SAMUEL the said Gather informed this deponent as follows:— Printed by FREDERICK and SAMUEL That he had had a round with colonel Rezin Hammond, of Anne-Arundel county; that the faid Ham. mond had injured his reputation, and that, in confequence thereof, he, the faid Gaither, for several months before, had premeditated and determined to kill him. and that he came down from New-York for that purpose; that having discovered in Baltimore-town that colonel Hammond had brought fuits against him, he immediately hired horses, provided himself with three braces of pistols, all which he loaded, or caused to be loaded, with three bullets and two buck shot each, and a gun, which was loaded with three bullets and a quantity of shot, after which (viz. on Easter Monday before day-light) he, the said Gaither, started with his servant from Elk-Ridge for colonel Hammond's place of residence with a full determination to kill him. and arrived at the farm just after day-break; that he placed and concealed himself in a certain field belong. ing to the said farm, where it was usual for colonel Hammond to pass every morning, and so concealed. together with his said servant, waited for some time in expectation of the faid Hammond coming along, during which time he, the faid Gaither, and his servant, watched for him alternately; that some time after sunrise he, the said Gaither, finding that the said Ham-AN AWAY from the subscriber, mond did not pass through the said field as he expett: a NEGRO MAN named HAR- ed, sent his Tervant up to the house to inquire if the RY, about thirty-five years old, six said Hammond was at home, and if possible to discover feet high, and stout made, knock and give him information whether the said Hammond kneed, and one leg more so than the intended to come out, and which way he intended to prehension that he might be discovered before he could carry his views into execution; that he remained in his first situation until about eight o'clock, when he and his servant rode up to the house with the gun and piltols aforefaid; that when he arrived there, he sent one of Mir. Hammond's negroes into the house to inform Mr. Hammond that he wanted to speak with him; that Mr. Hammond came into the yard and invited him to alight and walk in, which he refused; that Gaither then asked Mr. Hammond to come up to him, as he wished to speak with him; whereupon Mr. Ham. mond said, I see you are armed, and if I come to you, you will shoot me; that Gaither then promised upon his honour he would not, and that he made use of this promise as an artifice to get Mr. Hammond in his power; that Mr. Han mond then went within seven steps or thereabouts of him, and Gaither ordered him to stop, gave his gun to his servant, and alighted from his horse, at which time two of his putols fell from his belt; that he thereupon offered Mr. Hammond a pil. tol, and infilted upon fighting, which Mr. Hammond declined, because there were no witnesses by, but of fered to fight at any sublequent day if he was bent up on it; that Gaither would not defer it, and said Mr. Hammond should either fight him that moment, or he would kill him; that, on hearing a noise behind him, proceeding from the approach of a negro or regroe, he, the said Gaither, turned in order to keep the said negro or negroes off, and that then colonel Hammond run from him towards the house; that he turned about, and before he had run many steps, he the said Gaither levelled one of his pittols at him, and fired the same, and was aftonished that he missed him, as he never took a more cool and deliberate aim in his life; that as foon as he found he had miffed him, he drew another piffel, and before Mr. Hammond had run above fifteen steps, he fired that also at him, and thought he saw the wadding burning on his back; that thereupon, although Mr. Hammond did not fall, he the said Gaither concluded he had killed him; but finding that he continued to run until he got into the house, and supposing that Mr. Hammond intended to get a gun, and reum with it, he the said Gaither took his gun from the tovant, and got behind the pales of the yard, andle velled his gun over the pales, with his finger upon the trigger ready to fire as foon as Mr. Hammond should come out; that Mr. Hammond did come out of the house with a gun in his band, and fired at him, and struck him in the left hand; that thereupon, under an apprehension that Mr. Hammond's negroes were coming to attack him, one of which had a gun, and fearing Mr Hammond would also get another gun, he mounted his horse, and as he was mounting the laid negro fired and struck him on the neck and lest shoulder; that then the said Gaither went off; that the said Gaither, at the time of the above conversation, surther declared, that he was not yet satisfied, and would always go prepared for the faid Hammond, and would kill him wherever he met him, and expressed his regret and complained that he was unfortunate in not having killied him before; that this deponent endeavoured to dissuade the said Gaither from the surther profecution of his revenge, but that such diffushons, instead of having any salutary effect upon him, only seemed to make him the more determined; and that the faid Gaither further declared, that he could reconcile it to his conscience to hire assassins to take away the life of the said Hammond; and that the deht for which Mr. Hammond had brought suit against him was a just debt, but that he never would pay it, and wor' kill him, or any one elfe, if he ever asked for
