" Mr. Herschell has discovered that Saturn has two rings, separated by an interval of 996 leagues, through which he clearly perceived the sky. He has measured the outer diameter of the ring, and found it to be 30,710 leagues. He has also found, that the fitth satellite of Saturn turns on its axis in 79 days, 7 hours, 47 minutes, which is the term of its revolution; io that it always presents the same face to that planet .-Mr. de la Lande observes, that, if there be no mittake in the figures above mentioned, the diameter of the ring is greater by ten seconds than has hitherto been observed:-a very extraordinary difference.
