HE subseriber's plantation, commonly called CHURCH'S OLD FIELDS, containing 2805 acres of fliff level land, well watered and wooded, and which, from its quality and fituation, may, at a very moderate expence, be made a beautiful and productive farm; it is most advantageously situated, being near the main road leading from Annapolis to Bladensburg, miles from the latter and 24 from the former, 10 miles from the capitol or house of congress, til from the president's palace, 121 from George-town, and 7 from the outlines of the federal city; few places can be better calculated for a gentleman's country feat, and those who may wish to possess one for themselves or their posterity near the seat of government of the United States, will probably never meet a more tavourable opportunity, nor could an industrious farmer reasonably wish a better market than is to be met with in the many towns that furround it in all directions at convenient distances.
