To give a proper idea of the plan of this work, the following is extracted from the advertisement of the Author:

"I imagine a Scythian, named Anacharis, to arrive in Greece, some years before the birth of Alexander; and that from Athens, the usual place of his residence, he makes several excursions into the neighbouring provinces; every where observing the manners and customs of the inhabitants, being present at their festivals, and studying the nature of their governments; sometimes dedicating his leisure to inquiries relative to the progress of the human mind, and sometimes conversing with the great men who flourished at that time; with Epaminondas, Phocion, Xenophon, Plato, Aristotle, Demosthenes, &c. As soon as he has seen Greece enslaved by Philip, the father of Alexander, he returns into Scythia, where he puts in order an account of his travels; and, to prevent any interruption in his narrative, relates in an introduction the memorable events which had passed in Greece before he left Scythia." "I have chosen to write a narrative of travels rather than a history, because in such a narrative all is scenery and action; and because circumstantial details may be entered into which are not permitted to the historian."

In CHANCERY, April 6, 1796.

John Robert Hollyday, against Philip Edwards and others. THE object of the bill is to obtain a decree for foreclosing a mortgage of a tract of land called EDWARDS'S LOT, in Anne-Arundel county, containing fifty acres, together with sundry articles of personal property, executed on the eight day of July, seventeen hundred and forty-five, unto Charles Ridgely, for securing the payment of twelve thousand five hundred and eighty-seven pounds of tobacco, with interest; the bill states, that the said Charles is since dead, having devised the said land to his son Charles, who conveyed the same to the complainant, and that the said Edwards, after executing the said mortgage, removed out of the state to some place unknown, and that it cannot be ascertained whether he is dead or alive, and (if he be dead) who are his legal representatives, or whether he left any; it is thereupon, at the instance of the complainant, adjudged and ordered, that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted at least three weeks successively in the Maryland Gazette before the sixth day of May next, to the intent that the said Philip Edwards, if alive, or his representatives, or any other person interested, may have notice of the aforesaid bill, and of its object, and may be warned to appear here on or before the second Tuesday in September next, to shew cause wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed by the bill.
