A Y, U ANUARY 1790.

U. C. C. A. Officer 27.

HE last fitting of our little feriate was particular rurbulent and floriny; fefambly could fearcely keep from blows. 1200 A confiderable party has discontinued the legitimacy of the prefent government, and we are on the point of experiencing a revolution, which will probably defiroy within our walls the espiring remains of our government.

P A R I S, November 4.1

General Bolair, to answer to the new fystem of arming an infinity of small cruifers, instead of squadrons which we are unable to maintain, and to contribute to persecting the object, proposes a new kind of artillery, more light, which shall enable corvettes of 20 to 24 guns to defend themselves against, ships of 64 guns, which are a kind of ships the English employ to convoy their fleets of merchantmen. The following is what the general fays in a letter to a journalift:

Corvettes, carrying from 20 to 24 guns, made after my invention, to carry 24 lb. balls, need not fear to engage welfels of 64 guns, and especially velfels of 54 guns, fuch as the English use as convoys for their merchantinen, and carry only 18 pounders on the first This battery is often uleless when engaged against an adversary to leaward.

The 8 pounders now in use weigh from 21 to 22 cwt. The 6 pounders weigh 16 cwt. The 24 pounders, fuch as I propole, weigh 22 cwt. at most; they may be reduced to 16 cwt. without lessening the reach or effect of the balls, and will ftill be superior to the 24 pounders now in use, notwithstanding the diminution of weight; by means of which they may be employed wherever the prefent fizes are used.

November B.

Letters from Wesel flate, that the Prussian cabinet has received advices which affure them that the French government intend, should the war with Britain continue, to fend a bidy of troops by the way of Bremen, to take poilellion of Hamburg, in order to close that port against the British on the continent. This news has caused much alarm, and it is said that Prussa, should such a design exist, would oppose it.

The minister at war, in a circular letter addressed to the commillioners of the Executive Directory, complains that the necessary activity is not used to make the requisition men join the armies, and requires them to redouble their zeal. The Executive Directory has, by its resolution of the 2d, ultimo, determined what exceptions are to be made from this general resolution, and they authorise me to make the following:

" aft. Every individual who shall be provisionally exempted.

zd. Married men who, previous to the zad, May last, were authorised to remain at home. " ad, In thort foldiers who by their age are not comprehended in the first requisition, and who have leave of absence from the corps to which they belong, are exempted from the necessity of rejoining their

November 9.

armies."

The congress of Raftadt will open on the tft, of December.

One of the Journals afferts, that Buonaparte has de-manded full leave from the Directory to retire altogether, but that the Directory perfift in their determination to make him finish the negotiation at Rassadt. The duke de Richelieu has been appointed majorgeneral and commander of the regiment of cuiraftiers of his majesty the emperor of Russia.

LONDON, November 14.

An ambaffador extraordinary from the court of Lifbon, it on his way to this country, in order to be on the fpot to confult with his majefly's ministers on any

Overtures have been made from the court of Spain to this country, for the renewal of amiry, with a view to the tecommencement of hotfility with France ! the king of Prussia is collecting a large army, and will soon be subsidized by England with the same view. The last dispatches from admiral earl St. Vincent, figuration to watch the enemy.

Accounts received yellerday from the coast of be confidered as an engagement to go in the Aurors, France, contradict those on the authority of which it but merely as a letter requesting information. Lizewas some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time. A data of the confidered as an engagement to go in the Aurors, but merely as a letter requesting information. Lizewas some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time since stated that the fleet at Brest was some time some since stated the stated that the fleet at Brest was some since stated the stated that the fleet at Brest was some since stated the stated that the st tions are making to fit a firong squadron for sea—the general idea prevailing is, that during the winter months, a new attempt will be made against Ireland, which country in France, is confidered as in a flate of school rebellion.

November 15.

It is certain that the last letters from Lisbon declare. in the most decided terms of the Spanish court having versit of their excellencies were driven figuified to the Portuguele government, that it would from their curule clieft, and the af. s not fuffer any French troops to match through Spain to attack Portugal. It is even intimated in fome letters that the court of Madrid was about to make a separate peace with this country.

NEW.YORK, January 6.

Entratt of a letter from a gentleman in Haure to a re-fiellable mercantile bouse in this city, received by the " Havre, 6th November, 1797. "There is now a project of on absolute descent on England! The immortal Buonaparte is appointed com-mander in chief on this expedition. There is to be immediately affembled 120 thousand men bezween Breft, and Honfleur, as well as another body of 100 thousand men between this place and Dunkirk.

" HANOVER will be immediately attacked, and what will insure our fuccess is, a feeret article in our treaty with the emperor permitting the philage of our

The conful general of the French republic in this city has received a letter from M. Talleyrand Perigord, the French minister for foreign affairs, dated on the day after the arrival of our commissioners at Paris (28th September) which mentions, that they had been cordially received by the French government-that the negotiation would be commenced as foon as possibleand that he had no doubt of an amicable adjustment of affairs between the two countries.

January 15.

There are letters in town, received by the eastern mail on Saturday, dated at London, Nov. 17, and written on "by the Diana." The eastern papers by Saturday's mail make no mention of fuch an arrival—we therefore pre'ume the arrived after the papers were printed; if so, we may expect extracts by this day's

A letter of Nov. 17, says, insurance to America is this moment at 12 guineas per 1001.

The diet of Ratisbon has remonstrated, in strong terms, against the dismemberment of the German empire, by the erection of the Cis-Rhinane republic; and against the perfidy of the French government, in favouring it, in direct violation of the preliminaries of peace.

A gentleman who came over in the Carteret packet, and who left Berlin the latter end of last month, describes the king of Prusha as reduced to the most dreadful state. He cannot, this gentleman says, be understood when he speaks, but with extreme difficulty; and is unable to stand, or even to sit in an [Lon. Pack. Od. 27.] erect poslute.

POSTSCRIPT:

A fhip belonging to Boston; has arrived at Charleston from Bourdeaux, which the left on the 16th of November, with the news of our envoys being obliged to guit Paris. This we have from the mouth of captain Still, of the schooner Amphitrite, who had it from Mr. Thompson, custom house-officer of that port, he having boarded the ship at the Bar, the day captain S. failed, which was the 4th instant. [Gaz.]

BALTIMORE, January 19.

The Southern mail due yellerday, arrived about 1 o'clock this afternoon. The following articles are copied from papers received by it.

CHARLESTON, January 5.

On Wednelday evening the being Silly, Joseph H.

Atkins, matter, arrived in Rebellion road, in 53 days from Bourdesux. Captain Atkins left Bourdeaux on the 9th of November. Four days before he failed, captain Woodman, of the brig Aurora, of this port, then in Bourdeaux, received the following letter from general Pinckney :

it Paris, OAober 9, 1797.

W SIR, "As it is pollible our negotiations with this repub-lic may not have a favourable iffue, and that my col-leagues and myfelf may be ordered to leave France, and as I understand you are bound to Charleston, where The last dispatches from admiral earl St. Vincent, Awould with to go with my wife, daughter, fectetary, flate, that the Spaniards were laying up all their ships and perhaps two other gentlemen's I should be glad to at Cadiz for the winter. This circumstance induced know if you take passengers, and have accommodations his lordflip to return to the Tagus, having left a for them, and what are your terms, and the latest time found to watch the enemy. You fail. Be fo good as to write me. This is not to

Captain WOODMAN.

N. B. I think the Aurora is a thip; - should the not be accommodated for passengers, can you inform of any vessel as Bourdeaux that is, and about to fall on the Soth November, for Charleston, or near it."

As captain Atkins politively affects, that the letter from general Pinckney was received about & days he fore he failed, it is probable that there is a mittake in the date of the copy of the general's letter, and that it ought to be the 29th of October inflead of the oth, which would give a days, the time the couriers take to go from Paris to Bourdeaux. The postfeript to the letter, we think, confirms this opinion; for, if the general expected to be ordered away early in October, he would hardly put off his voyage to the 20th to 100.

As captain Woodman would not be ready to fail in a less time than twenty days, captain Atkins thinks it probable, that in case the commissioners are ordered away, general Pinckney will arrive in captain-Woodman's vessel.

At the date of general Pinckney's letter, the American commissioners had been 30 days in Paris and though they had addressed a letter to the minister of foreign affairs, they were fill without a hearing.

In consequence of this information, the American merchants in Bourdeaux were much alarmed, and they had been advised to get their property out of France as foon as possible, as there was a general opinion prevailing, that there would be a rupture between France and this country.

A Hamburg paper, under the Paris head of Oftober 8, fays, that the French demanded of the American commissioners, as the basis of negotiation, a very large fum, it was faid feventeen millions, by way of indemnification. But captain Atkins, who failed a month later, heard nothing of this particular.

It was confidently reported in Bourdeaux, that new propolals for peace had been made by the English government to the Directory of France; but as foon as the terms offered were made known, the mellenger received orders to leave Paris in the course of an hour.

The emperor of Germany had acceded to the terms of peace held out to him by France, in confequence of which there had been rejoicings and illuminations at Bourdeaux on the occasion, about 10 days before captain A. failed. Five different couriers brought the news of peace with the emperor to Bourdeaux.

General Buonaparte and his army, in consequence of the peace, with the emperor, had received orders to leave Italy, and prepare for another expedition; it was generally faid, that Portugal would be his object, though others were of opinion that an invasion of England would be attempted.

A number of perions implicated in the late confpiracy, had been apprehended in Bourdeaux who were to be banished. The French were preparing for an expedition, but where it was not known. Captain Atkins understood that lord St. Vincent's fleet had retired from before Cadiz.

The French cruiters take all American yessels bound to or coming from an English port.

The following are extracts of letters from Mr. Fenwick, the late American conful at Bourdezux, to his correspondent in this city, dated the 26th October.

"There is no change in our favour; our plenipotentiaries are all in Paris, fince near two weeks, and there has no kind of explanation taken place; they have delivered their credentials to the minister of foreign affairs, and the executive has given no answer, nor appointed any person to treat with them. entirely at a lofs to forefee the iffue of this bufinefs: in the prefent flage; it has rather an awkward appearance, though we cannot believe a rupture will take place between the two countries; as yet there are small indications of it. War is decided on with England; and with Germany, the negotiations are, by this day, certainly ended, and peans concluded, or hollilities recommenced."

From the same, November 9.

In consequence of the hossile appearances with America, the bearer of this has changed his dellination; and tells me he will touch at Charleston. I don't think, for my own part, that there will be a rupture with the United States, yet the negotiation at Paria is likely to be without success, and it is faid our ministers are preparing to depart. There is no change in the conduct towards our commerce; and four vellels carried into L'Orient, have been condemned at Vans in the court of appeals. Peace with the emperor is made definitively; the French have dictated.

Captain Atkins intended to fall for a French port in the West-Indies, but in confequence of the news from general Pinckber, he thought it best to return to Ame-rica; he brought no news papers:

January 22.
Extract of a letter from at respectable gentleman in Phil delphia, to another in this city, dated January 17. nan in Phila-

Information has been secrived to-day by the way of Baltimore, from Holland, as late as the 28th Octo-ber, which contains the following intelligence, from authority that commat be doubted. That a letter had been received from Paris, of the 21st of October menzioning that our committioners had not been received,