The president has nominated Samuel Dexter secretary of the treasury, in the room of Oliver Wolcott resigned—and Arthur St. Clair, as governor of the North Western Territory.

Several vessels during the first week in November, left London in ballast for America, to procure a supply of rice.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman, who left Cadiz, on the first of October.

"It was impossible to say when the vessels would sail, owing to the fever, which raged in an alarming degree, in Cadiz. There was no business doing—the merchants having chiefly left the city, and the governor having stopped all communication with the adjacent parts, it being generally supposed they had the fever worse than in Cadiz. The deaths before I left that place, were computed at ten thousand in two months. Although the fever raged so much in Cadiz no one American was sick the whole time of my stay there, which was about ten weeks."

The following extraordinary circumstance is related in the Paris papers to have occurred at Bourg:—four highway robbers, named Hyvert, Lepretre, Guyot and Amiet, who had been condemned to death by the criminal tribunal of Ain, were to have been executed on the 16th of October. On the morning of the 15th, the jailor came to the dungeon where they were confined for the purpose of taking away another prisoner who was there.—The instant he made his appearance, Hyvert, Lepretre, and Guyot, rushed towards the door of the dungeon, armed with cutlasses, and disengaged from their chains, although their irons had been examined three times the night before. The jailor saved himself by running away, and shutting his doors. The three criminals after having filed off the irons of Amiet, their accomplice, entered the court yard naked up to the middle. From that moment to the time of execution, the whole of their conduct was a scene of horror and blood. After repeated bravadoes and imprecations they stabbed themselves. Lepretre, after having felt the place where his heart beat, gave himself a mortal wound, and instantly fell. Guyot furvived the stabs which he gave himself, and died in the dungeon by a shot from a carabine. Amiet and Hyvert were taken alive, and conducted to the place of punishment. The latter had given himself six or seven stabs with a knife, had sawed his arteries, and had his shoulder broken by a musket shot. He plunged the whole of the knife into his stomach, and moving it about in every direction, he cried out—"You see I cannot lie, I have pinned my soul in my body." This abandoned wretch was but 20 years old.

Extracts from Bourdeaux, November 3, by the ship Neptune.

"There is no prospect of a peace with Austria." November 20.

"The ports will be soon opened, in consequence of the convention with your country. A profound tranquillity reigns here respecting politics, and a general anxiety is expressed for peace, which is much wanted. I think your government cannot possibly reject the treaty!"

A letter from Washington, says, Mr. Wolcott leaves our finances in excellent order. There is now a balance in the treasury of 3,000,000 of dollars in specie. This is a most excellent officer; and he carries with him the regard of every man of virtue in our country, who knows his character."

Judge Ellsworth's arrival is thus noticed in a London paper of the 30th of October:

"His excellency Oliver Ellsworth, chief justice of the United States, one of the late envoys to Paris, arrived in London yesterday morning from France. The success of the negotiations with the French republic, and the spirit of amity which seems to actuate them, we hope may render the presence of this gentleman instrumental also to the adjustment of the existing differences between this country and America. Mr. Ellsworth's talents are of the first order; and his popularity in America renders it highly probable, that he will one day succeed to the president's chair."

From a mercantile house, whose polite attentions we have often had occasion to notice, we this morning received the London Observer of the 16th and Gore's Liverpool Advertiser of the 17th.—From these it appears that—

His majesty's ministers have received advice that the French meditate a speedy attack upon Jersey and Guernsey, in consequence of which a considerable augmentation to the garrisons of those islands had been ordered.—

The Observer says "The funds experienced a general depression last week—Bank stock fell from 166½ to 164½. The 3 per cents, after various fluctuations, lost ½ per cent. and Omnium, which yesterday closed at 3 per cent. premium, was done on Friday at 2½."

The senate have confirmed the nomination of Mr. Dexter, as secretary of the treasury.

WASHINGTON, January 5.

From Poulson's American Daily Advertiser.

Mr. Poulson,

As the events of the present moment are giving to the politician food for interesting speculation: It will not be out of place that the following be offered for the consideration of the philosopher and the moralist.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30, 1800.

This morning, an hour before sun-rise three streaks of light, in the form of rainbows, extended themselves over this city from north to south. They maintained their strength from the horizon. The bows were similar in appearance, excepting that the loftiest was farther distant from the other two, than the two were from each other. There was no Sun or Moon visible and the appearance continued, until the opening day absorbed the phenomenon.

Question. Can any philosopher or moralist give the cause or design of this appearance?

A CITIZEN.

BALTIMORE, January 5.

The Mausoleum bill passed on the first instant, in the house of representatives.

The committee of revival and unfinished business, have reported to the house of representatives of the United States, that the sedition law will expire on the 4th of March next, and that it is expedient to re-enact and continue the same. [American.]

January 8.

A very extraordinary meteor made its appearance last night about 8 o'clock, not far distant from the turnpike gate, on the Frederick-town road. Our informant was in a close carriage, and had not an opportunity of observing the meteor itself, but so great was the blaze of light produced by its bursting, that it would have enabled him for the space of one or two seconds to have read common print, notwithstanding the extreme darkness of the night. The servant who drove the carriage, described it as descending like a large bright candle, until it approached within a few yards of the earth, when it expanded without any explosion, and became a luminous body fully the size of a common barrel.

Ten Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, living on West river, on the 26th of October last, a very likely negro girl named PEGG, she is about fifteen years of age, very black and small for her age, speaks low when spoken to, has been used to wait in the house; had on when she went away an old blue cotton jacket and petticoat, but it is probable she got other clothing since her elopement. The above reward, including what the law allows, will be given to any person apprehending said girl, and securing her in any gaol, so that I get her again, or reasonable charges if brought home, by

GASSAWAY PINDELL.

All persons whatever are forbid harbouring or employing said girl at their peril.
