

Do not speak to me of such men," replied he, "their glory cost too much blood; my model shall be Henry the IVth of France, who, being compelled to lay siege to Paris, sent provisions through subterraneous passages to his revolted subjects."

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.

A gentleman from Norfolk informs, that the Boston frigate, captain Douglass, continues to cruise off the Cape of Virginia. He also states, (what clearly indicates the designs of the Boston) that an officer belonging to her is at Norfolk incog. watching the movements of the Semillante. In other words, reconnoitring the enemy!

A letter to a respectable commercial house in this city, dated Bourdeaux, the 28th April, has the following postscript:

"This day's post from Marseilles and Barcelona, brings accounts, that the dey of Algiers has declared war against the United States."

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman at Cadix, to his friend in this city, received by the schooner Amelia, via Boston.

CADIZ, April 25.

"Accounts were received here yesterday of the French army in Egypt having been completely routed, and driven within two leagues of Alexandria."

June 10.

In the Gazette of France, a Paris paper of the 26th of April, we find the following article—

"The United States is perhaps the only country in the world, in which the depositaries of public offices can, without difficulty, mingle with the people, and divest themselves in the presence of their fellow-citizens of those authorities, and commandings which are so necessary in other countries. The reason is, that the Americans are yet virtuous; and the purity and simplicity of their manners preclude the necessity of government and laws! They are still in their political infancy, and much nearer the age of Cincinnatus than we are."

Extract of a letter from capt. Bellard, of the British ship Pearl, off Messina, 29th March.

"Subjoined is a list of the French Squadron that sailed from Toulon on the 19th inst. The next morning I captured one of their convoy, and from letters found on board her, and the declarations of the prisoners, I have every reason to suppose the fleet bound to Egypt.

"L'Indivisible, 80 guns, capt. Loudor; Le Forcible, 80, Allano; L'Indomptable, 80, Monier; De Descaz, 74, Pullum, admiral; La Constitution, 74, Tange; Le Jean Bart, 74, Gantheaume; La Badine, 64; La Creole, 18, Gronieg; La Braveur, 12, Dordlevi.—There were 7000 troops on board the fleet. Generals of divisions, La Herequet, Lequen and Heretol."

We are assured by later intelligence, that the above Squadron has returned to Toulon.

SAVANNA, May 29.

Extract of a letter from an officer at Fort Wilkinson, to his friend in this city, dated May 8th, 1801.

"We have alarming news from the Seminoles towns: Bowles's revived interest and influence at this juncture, will certainly shake the authority of the United States. From the best information received as late as this day, Bowles has received a cargo of valuable goods from some one of the Jamaica ports—the traders are flocking to him, and I fear will become his advocates, as he disposes of his goods at an extreme low rate. Letters from col. Hawkins and Timothy Barnard say, 'the mischief makers are again at work; a convention of the Creek nation will take place on the 23d of May; we know not the event.'"

"I think, from the doubtful state of the colonel, some serious and decisive stroke is in agitation."

WASHINGTON, June 10.

We understand that the president of the United States has vacated the legations to Lisbon and the Hague. The reasons, on which this step has been taken are almost too obvious to require enumeration, and certainly too evident as to need but little amplification. By it, two important effects will be produced; the immediate saving of a considerable annual expenditure, and supercession of some of those delicate diplomatic ties which united us to European powers. Economy dictates the former no less powerfully than sound policy recommends the latter. An annual expence of probably more than 20,000 dollars will be retrenched, without in the least injuring our commercial relations with Portugal and the Batavian republic; as we have no doubt but that in the room of the diplomatic agents, respectable consuls will be appointed, with powers strictly appropriate to the intercourse of trade. Nor can the least umbrage be taken at this procedure by the belligerent powers; as it equally affects both contending parties, Portugal being allied on one side, and the Batavian republic on the other.

An official letter to the secretary of state of the date of the 22d of April, has been received from our consul at Gibraltar, which says nothing of a declaration of war by Algiers.

Authentic information is received from Gibraltar, of as late a date, received there from Mahon, of the French Squadron having returned to Toulon, much disabled by bad weather, and the crews were sickly; the 74 is missing; supposed to have put into Palermo.

BALTIMORE, June 8.

Bainbridge, and schooner Enterprise, captain Sterett, left the Capes, on a cruise in the Mediterranean.

Extract of a letter from Cadix to a merchant in this city, dated April 18, 1801.

"The dey of Tripoli has declared, that after the 22d March, his cruisers shall have liberty to capture all American vessels they fall in with."

If the British fleet in the Baltic has proceeded to any further operations, Carlscroon, the naval port of Sweden, which is not 100 miles from Copenhagen, or Stockholm itself, which is about 400, appears to be the most probable point of attack.
