

The three upper classes shall be frequently exercised in translating English into Latin. On every Saturday mornning the students shall be exercised in delivering select speeches in English, and there shall be such an arrangement, as that each boy shall perform this exercise once a fortnight. RESOLVED, That a punctual attendance at the hours appointed for business in the college, be strictly enforced; that every student ought to be impressed with an idea, that his attendance will not be dispensed with, unless for sickness, or for some reason which may, by the professor of the school, be deemed satisfactory; and that no frivolous excuse be deemed sufficient.

That to procure the regular attendance of the students, the bell shall begin to ring, at each appointed time of meeting, and continue to ring ten minutes; that immediately after the ringing, a roll shall be called over, in which the absentees shall be carefully marked; that this roll be examined once a week, at the discretion of the professors, the absentees called on, and punished for each absence, unless they can satisfy their respective professors, that there was a sufficient reason for their non-attendance.

That all profane swearing, indecent conversation, gaming, rude or unmannerly behaviour, and every thing immoral, be strictly prohibited and punished; that every student behave himself in a decent manner in school, out of doors, and at his lodgings; that no student shall be absent from his lodgings at a late or unreasonable hour; and that any student, who shall offend against this rule, shall be called to account and punished; that the professors and masters inquire frequently into the conduct of the students at their lodgings, and for that purpose, that some one or more of them call at each lodging-house once a month.

That the students be dismissed, at the going out of the schools, by ringing of the bell, RESOLVED, That the principal of St. John's college shall take care that the plan of education, and the regulations adopted by this board, be strictly observed in all the schools; that for this purpose, he shall frequently inspect the several schools, and, whenever called upon by the board, shall report the condition of the college; and that a copy of each resolve for the regulation of the college, shall be delivered to the principal, and by him communicated to the professors, masters and tutors, who shall give him information, whenever required, concerning their respective schools.

RESOLVED, That immediately after the ringing of the bell each morning, the professors, masters, tutors and students, shall be assembled, a roll, containing the names of all the students, called over, and the names of the absentees shall be carefully marked; that some one of the professors, masters and tutors, shall perform Divine service, consisting of prayer, and the reading of some select portions of the Holy Scripture; that there be an established form of prayer, in which the address to the Supreme Being shall be agreeable to the liberal catholic foundation of St. John's college, and not repugnant to the tenets of any denomination of christians; provided nevertheless, that no student, whose parent or guardian shall, by writing to the principal, request that his attendance may be dispensed with, shall be obliged to attend the said service.

RESOLVED, That the said form of prayer, and the selections from the Scripture, be left to the discretion of a majority of the professors, subject to the revision of, and alteration of this board; and that the professors report a form of prayer and selection, as aforesaid, to this board, at its next quarterly meeting.

RESOLVED, That the roll aforesaid be examined once in each week, in the presence of the professors, tutors and students, and the absentees from prayer be punished for each offence, in the manner heretofore prescribed, or by fine, not exceeding two shillings and six-pence current money for each offence, at the discretion of the professors.

RESOLVED, That no scholar be admitted into the philosophy school, without having previously learned at the college, or elsewhere, writing and arithmetic, and at least as much Latin and Greek as would qualify him to be of the first class in the grammar school.

RESOLVED, That the course of education in the philosophy schools be completed in three years; and that the scholars in the said schools constitute not more than three classes, viz. Senior Class, the Junior Class, and the Noviciate Class; that of the scholars at present belonging to the college there be formed two classes; that the vice-principal immediately enter on his duty; that some of the higher authors in Latin and Greek, Logic and Moral Philosophy, constitute, at present, the department of the vice-principal; that the whole course of education in the philosophy schools shall be laid down, at the next meeting of the board on the fifth day of July next; that at the said meeting the respective departments of the principal and vice-principal be fully ascertained; and that, in the mean-time, the principal shall teach the said two classes such of the sciences usually taught in other American colleges as he shall think proper.

RESOLVED, That the following plan for the course of education in the philosophy schools be adopted; provided nevertheless, that in as much as, in the opening of the said schools, it is impracticable to pursue the said plan exactly, the principal shall conform thereto, as nearly as may be, for the present, taking care so to regulate the said schools, that the said plan may be carried fully into effect as early as possible.

PLAN OF EDUCATION IN THE PHILOSOPHY SCHOOLS.

Noviciate class, under } Higher classics, if not completed before. Livy. Parts of Xenophon, Plato vice-principal, to learn } or Demosthenes. Logic and Metaphysics. N. B. English and Latin exerin the order wherein } cises to be assigned at discretion. And syllogistic disputation to be held at they stand. } least once a month.

Noviciate class, under } Arithmetic reviewed. Algebra. Logarithmal Arithmetic, with its applicathe Principal, &c. } tion to compound interest. Annuities and Reversions. Euclid. Plain Trigo&c. } nometry. Spherical Trigonometry. Heights and Distances.

Junior class, under the } Geography, with the use of the terrestrial Globe. Well's Dionysius. Intro-vice-principal, &c. } duction to Rhetoric. Horace's Art of Poetry, critically. Longinus. Aristotle's Po&c. } etics. Parts of Quintilian. Forensic Disputation at least once a month.

Junior class, under the } Surveying. Principles of Navigation. Mensuration. Fortification. Conic principal, &c. &c. } Sections. Nature and Principles of Fluxions. Gunnery.

Senior class, under the } Moral Philosophy. Epictetus. Tully's Offices. Xenophon's Memorabilia.
vice-principal, &c. } Introduction to Civil History.

Senior class, under the } Natural Philosophy. Astronomy. Use of the celestial Globe. Projections of principal, &c. } the Sphere. Chronology. Sketch of Natural History.

During the whole course of education, part of one day in each week to be appropriated to speaking and reading English.

RESOLVED, That no student shall be admitted to a degree, unless he shall have gone through the complete course, and, upon examination, shall have been found qualified; but that any student, who has not had a regular classical education, may at any time be permitted to join a class, for the purpose of learning any particular branch of science in which the class shall be engaged.

RESOLVED, That some one of the professors, masters and tutors, shall hereafter perform Divine service at the time mentioned in the resolve of the 4th day of June last; that the said service consist of first, some short select portions of the Holy Scripture, next some one of the three following form of prayer, and lastly, the Lord's prayer.