

The ship Nancy, from San Lucar, and the ship America, from Tonningen, furnish no later printed accounts from the continent of Europe, than have already appeared in the Mercantile Advertiser; but our consul in Spain handed captain Sheffield the following statement in manuscript, which is in every material circumstance confirmed verbally by the captain of the vessel from Tonningen.

On the 13th November the French army entered Vienna; the imperial Austrian court having retired to Brinn.

On the 14th a body of the French army entered Presburg. The same day the emperor Napoleon organized for Austria a new form of government, and appointed gen. Clark to be governor in chief. Each of the conquered circles is placed under the director of a superintendency, of which M. Darm, councillor of state, is appointed superintendent general.

The Russian army has offered to capitulate, on condition of being permitted to return home; and the same terms would be gladly accepted by Francis II. Several bodies of the French army were in pursuit of the Russians. The latter were rapidly retreating towards Brinn, and were committing in their progress, murder and every species of havoc.

Gen. Klein was entering Bohemia.

The kingdom of Hungary has offered to capitulate, and it is said her request will be complied with.

Nearly 3,000 pieces of brass cannon and 200,000 muskets have been taken at Vienna.

Among the great number of prisoners made by the French army, were many French emigrants, some of whom were in Italy during the late war with Buonaparte. The emperor did not transfer them to a military tribunal, as is usual in such cases; but said to them, "Ye have now no country left to emigrate to; return to your own, and emulate the glorious example of your countrymen."

One of the United States frigates arrived at Cadiz on the 13th December.

It is stated that the capital of Hungary, where the crown of that kingdom is kept. It is seated on the Danube, 34 miles east of Vienna.

BALTIMORE, February 6.

Capt. Sanger, who arrived in the schooner Repeater, Graves, from Cumana, which he left the 10th January, informs, that the day before he failed, a government vessel arrived there with dispatches from Martinique, an officer of which stated, that the Rochefort Squadron had arrived at Guadaloupe, and had sent their prizes, about 50 in number, to Fort-Royal, Martinique.

February 10.

By the vessel by which our German papers were received, a gentleman from this city received a letter from his friend in Bremen, dated the 5th Dec. which says—"The king of Prussia, incredible as it may now appear, has certainly joined the coalition." Strange, indeed, as the assertion appears, yet its truth seems completely established by the declaration of the emperor Francis, in as much as it will be found in our columns, he terms the king of Prussia, one of his "high allies," &c.

CHARLESTON, January 24.

A letter from Barbadoes, dated January 3, received by a gentleman in this city, states, that 20 sail of the Cork fleet had arrived at that port; they had fallen in with the Rochefort Squadron, when a signal was made for the fleet to disperse, and it was expected that most of them had escaped.

NORFOLK, February 5.

By the arrival of the brig Wheeler, capt. Besson, from Guadaloupe, we learn that advices had been received at Barbadoes, that fourteen sail of the line of the Brest fleet had got out, and were supposed to be destined for the West-Indies, where, however, they had not arrived when the Wheeler failed, which was on the 18th of the last month. In consequence of the expectation that the Brest fleet were destined for the West-Indies, admirals Duckworth and Louis had been dispatched for, and arrived at Barbadoes the 12th of last month, with six sail of the line. The British force to windward consisted of eight sail of the line, and twelve frigates, under admirals Duckworth, Louis and Cochran.

A gentleman who came passenger in the Wheeler, procured at Guadaloupe a Barbadoes paper of the 11th January, which he has favoured us with, containing London advices to the 7th of December, ten days later than the advices received at New-York.

Several articles speak of the co-operation of Prussia, but they are too vague and obscure, to attach full confidence in them—not that they are to be entirely discredited.

The answer of the emperor of Austria to the conditions of an armistice offered by Buonaparte, furnish some reason to believe that he is assured of the assistance of the king of Prussia. To present a satisfactory view of the dispositions of the armies, would require a more copious detail than we can make at this time, and without more competent knowledge of the countries in which the parties are contending, than we ourselves possess. It must, however, appear evident that Buonaparte is playing the boldest game that any commander has ever done before—the defeat of importance would perhaps terminate the war, and end in his ruin.

For Sale, on a long credit,

A VALUABLE country MILL, with about three hundred acres of land adjoining the mill, on the north side of Severn river, about two and a half miles from the ferry, has a constant supply of water, and as much work as it can do—it is one of the best as to water on that side of the river, and some good timber. For terms apply to NICHOLAS BRICE, in Baltimore, or the subscriber, in Annapolis.

JOHN BRICE.

COMMITTED to my custody, on the 30th day of last January, as a runaway, a negro man who calls his name DAVY, and says that he is the property of WILLIAM COOK, of Charles county; Davy is a black fellow, five feet four or five inches high; his cloathing are, a white broad cloth coat, much worn, yarn trousers, old shirt, black hat, shoes and stockings. His master is requested to take him out of gaol, or he will be sold for his gaol fees, agreeably to law.

LANCELOT WARFIELD.

February 4, 1806.

DORIMANT,

Six years old,

He is as well bred a horse as any in America, handsome and strong, when in training had great speed, until he fell lame from a hurt received when young.

He was got by the famous horse Gabriel, (sire of Oscar and Post-Boy,) his dam by Hall's Eclipse, grandam by governor Eden's Badger, (sire of Ogle's Badger,) great-grandam by Morton's Traveller, out of col. Tasker's Selima by the Godolphin Arabian.

Gabriel (bred by lord Ossory) was got by Dorimant, dam by Highflyer, grandam by Snap, out of Shepherd's Crab mare, her dam was Miss Meredith by Cade, out of the Little Hartley mare, so that Dorimant has the Godolphin Arabian blood both by sire and dam.

Gabriel won in three seasons fifteen matches, stakes and plates, including four kings. He beat both the famous horses Waxy and Gohanna, proving himself a capital horse at low and high weights, short and long courses.

Pasturage at half a dollar a week, but not answerable for accidents or escapes. The money, or notes, payable on or before the first of September, will be expected before the mares are taken away.

Dorimant may be seen any morning at Mr. Ogle's stable, in Annapolis.

CANZONET.

CAN aught be more fair to the eye
Than the blush of the maidenly year?
Can aught with the orchard-bloom vie,
When in May its sweet blossoms appear?
Can aught like the eglantine please,
Or the rose budding? Tell me what can?
O thrice more attractive than these
Is the cheek of my SWEET LITTLE ANNE!

What can charm like the spring of the field
When it trickles transparently by?
Or what sweeter pleasure can yield
Than to look on the gem of the sky?
What can win like the tremulous dew
Which the zephyrs on gossamer fan?
O thrice more enchanting to view
Is the eye of my SWEET LITTLE ANNE!

Can aught like the morning delight
When it dawns t'wards peaceable day?
Or bewitch like the planet of night
When she steals in good humour away?
Is there aught like the sweetness of eve
When serene as when nature began
The sun takes his mellow last leave?
Yes—the smile of my SWEET LITTLE ANNE!

Can aught more delicious be nam'd
Than the exquisite fruit of the pine?
More sweet can aught be proclaim'd
Than the elegant bunch of the vine?
Is there aught can in flavour exceed
Ev'ry beverage precious to man?
O yes, these are tasteless indeed
To the kifs of my SWEET LITTLE ANNE!

Thrice more than the sun-setting hour,
Or the dawn of the morning benign,
More delightful than Spring's sweetest flow,
Or the much-murmur'd joys of the sun,
More serene than the gems of the sky,
And more soft than the down of the swan,
Is the cheek, is the lip, is the eye,
Is the smile, of my SWEET LITTLE ANNE!

A HINT.

A woman's dress, like her reputation, should be pure and unspotted. Neatness in attire is a most powerful attraction: It in some measure compensates for the want of beauty; and where the personal charms are numerous, it gives them a double lustre. Nor is the quality less propitious to health than to fortune and love. A perpetual attention to the minutiae of cleanliness is deemed the most sovereign preservative against all diseases, endemial as well as constitutional; while dirty finery creates a waste of expence, and never fails to disgust, and sometimes to injure.

GENUINE WIT.

AN honest Hibernian, possessed some short time past, a bull, of the breed of cattle commonly called muly, or no horned, was very seriously inquired of by a lady, if he could assign the cause of his bull's being without horns—scarcely could it be supposed the question had reached the organs of hearing, than he gravely replied—"Madam, my bull is not married."

Twenty-five & Fifty Dollars Reward.

ABOUT three years ago I purchased of Walter W. Norman, tanner, in Queen-Anne, a black boy named STEPHEN, then fifteen years old, remarkably well disposed, a little defective in his knees, but otherwise stout and well made. This boy, about 8 weeks ago, by the instigation of some very disreputable person, was enticed from my service, and (from information derived through the boy's own colour) I have reason to believe has obtained a pass, and is now harboured and protected under it. He is supposed to be either in the Swamp of West river, or on Kent-Island, where he has a mother named Esther, lately manumitted by a certain Valentine Carter. I will give twenty-five dollars for apprehending said boy, so that I get him again, and fifty dollars for such information as will merely justify my feelings in inflicting the punishment proper for so great a scoundrel.
