BY HIS EXCELLENCY

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it has been stated to me by the petition of a number of respectable persons, inhabitants of Prince-George's county, that a murder has been committed on the person of CHARLES NEVILL, junior, late of Prince-Georges county, by a certain negro man, slave of Basil Soper, called WALL, who has since absconded and fled from justice: And whereas it is the duty of the executive to guard as much as may be against the commission of such enormities, and to bring such offenders against the laws and peace of society to justice, I have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, and do, by and with the advice and consent of the council, offer a reward of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS to any person or persons who shall apprehend and secure the said negro WALL in any goal in the United States, so that he be brought to justice.

GIVEN in council at the city of Annapolis, under the seal of the State of Maryland, this sixth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and six.

By his excellency's command,
NINIAN PINKNEY,

ORDERED, that the foregoing proclamation be published once in each week, until countermanded, in the Maryland Gazette, at Annapolis, the Federal Gazette & Evening Post, at Baltimore, the Frederick-Town Advocate, and in the National Intelligencer, at the city of Washington.

By order,

One Hundred & Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away, on the first of July, 1806, from the subscriber, living in Anne-Arundel county, Patapco Neck, near Hawkins's Point, within ten miles of Baltimore, Maryland, a likely young negro man named BOB, but sometimes calls himself BOB MILLER; is a tolerably black, straight made fellow, with a smiling countenance when spoken to, has a remarkable scar on the lower part of the back of his neck, near the size of a cent, under his shirt collar; he was raised to the farming business, he is in the twenty-fourth year of his age, about five feet nine or ten inches high; had on when he went off, a high crown felt hat, with a band and buckle, an over round coat, deep blue mixed strong cloth doubled at each elbow, and the left shoulder, olinabrig shirt, and hempen linen trousers. I expect he will change his name and cloaths, as he did when he ran off before, he changed his name to NICHOLAS JOHNSON. I presume he has procured a forged pass from his infamous connexions in the neighbourhood where he lived. If taken up and secured in any goal, so that I get him again, shall receive one hundred dollars, if out of the state the above reward, and reasonable travelling expences paid, if brought home, by JAMES P. SOPER.

N. B. Captains of vessels and others are forewarned harbouring, employing, or carrying off said runaway at their peril.
July 2, 1806.

Notice.

SOME time in the month of December, 1805, I came to the plantation of the subscriber, a white BOAR, without any mark; also, in August last, a spotted BARROW, marked with a crop and slit in the right ear, and a crop and under slit in the left ear. The owner or owners may have them again by proving property and paying charges, on application to the subscriber.

Poet's Corner.

SELECTED.

FROM THE WEEKLY INSPECTOR.

The following are among the happiest effusions of the celebrated translator of Anacreon. The alliteration in the last line of the first stanza, is easy and unaffected. In the last line of the second stanza the sound is beautifully imitative of the sense, and all the images are rural, chaste, and descriptive.

BALLAD STANZAS.

I KNEW by the smoke, that so gracefully curl'd
Above the green elms, that a cottage was near,
And I said, "If there's peace to be found in the world,
"A heart that was humble might hope for it here!"
It was noon, and on flowers that languish'd around
In silence repos'd the voluptuous bee;
Every leaf was at rest, and I heard not a sound
But the wood-pecker tapping the hollow beach-tree.
And "Here in this lone little wood," I exclaim'd,
"With a maid who was lovely to soul and to eye,
"Who would blush when I prais'd her, and weep when I blam'd,
"How blest could I live, and how calm could I die!"
"By the shade of yon sumac, whose red-berry dips,
"In the gush of the fountain, how sweet to recline,
"And to know that I sigh'd upon innocent lips,
"Which had never been sigh'd on by any but mine!"

THE WRECKED SEA-BOY.

HE silent stands, and marks each rising wave,
That rudely dashes on the level strand;
And weeps to view the shattered bark that leave,
That bore him hither from his native land.
On wet and shining on the rocky height,
Some flustering cloud deceives his eager eye;
But e'en th' illusion is obscured by night,
Fades with the glimmer in the western sky.
Nor drown'd his cry; he walks upon the shore,
Till faint and weary on the sand reclin'd
He sits him down to list the surges roar,
That roll tumultuous on his troubled mind.
Chill blows the air, now only fancy fees,
And the dew mingles with the wretch's tears;
Shrill whistles through the bulk the breeze,
While mid the parting clouds the moon appears.
To her pale lustre lifts his sparkling eye,
The scene conveys a sorrowful delight;
For there, he thinks, perhaps, and heaves a sigh,
His wearied spirit soon may take its flight.
Ah! why did man e'er trust the sickle wave,
Presumptuous o'er the trackless ocean roam,
Sure ev'ry blessing nature meant, she gave,
Enough for life is surely found at home.
Those rays that shine upon his dew wet cheek,
May mildly beam on her across the main.
Who walks the cliff, with fond expectation see,
In every whitening sail his bark again.
Far, far away, the sea-boy yields his breath,
Unseen, unheard upon the cheerless isle,
No friend to sooth the agonies of death,
Or give the consolation of a smile.
No stranger visits there the way worn beach,
There e'en the savage foot neglects to stray.
No sound salutes him save the Osprey's screech,
In wild contention how'ring o'er his prey.
