GALLANT ACTION.

Gibraltar, May 24.

The following particulars of a most brilliant achievement performed by his majesty's frigate Sirius, capt. Prowse, on the coast of Italy, have been received from an officer on board the frigate, and may be depended upon. We publish them without comments: no praise can heighten the merit which the bare unadorned account bespeaks in the gallant commander and his brave crew.

H. M. S. Sirius, April 26, 1808.

On Thursday, April 17, we gained information from a vessel we boarded at sea, that a French national squadron, consisting of one ship, three brigs, one bombard, and five heavy gun vessels, had sailed that morning, from Civita-Vechia, for Naples. We immediately made all sail in chase of them, and at four o'clock, had the pleasure of seeing them from our main head, and cleared ship for action; at six o'clock saw them very plain from our deck, under easy sail, and apparently determined to wait our attack; at half past six they hove to, and at seven we commenced action on both sides within pistol shot; at eight observed several of the enemy's vessels much damaged, and running in for the land, we still in close action with the ship and three brigs; at a quarter past nine, the ship ceased firing, and hailed us to say she had struck. I am sorry that we could not take possession of some other vessels, the night being so very dark, and our ship crippled and close to the land. However, we have given them something to remember us. The ship is la Bergere, and now with us at Malta. They mounted in the whole ninety-three guns, and six hundred and sixty-one men, which you will see by the list of them I send you. I can assure you we found enough to do with the whole of them; for the water was so smooth that all their guns told; and for a frigate, like the Sirius of thirty-six guns, and only two hundred and sixty men, to have ninety-three guns, and six hundred and sixty-one men against her, it was serious indeed. Capt. Prowse has lost his nephew (Mr. Adair) a very fine young man; his brother was killed on board the Victory with Lord Nelson; he was captain of the marines. I am sorry to say that we had nine killed and twenty wounded."

Mr. Thomas Grimshaw, of Alexandria, advertises "new constructed bed cords" for sale, which he says, "are rendered superior to any other kind by their infallibility in destroying and preventing those insects called Chinchas, which harbour in the holes of the bedsteads." He believes they will "last 15 or 20 years and retain the same virtue." If they do not answer the purpose, on delivery of the bed cords the money will be returned. [Evening Post.]

BALTIMORE, July 27.

Arrived, ship Thomas Wilson, Gardner, 15 days from La Guira. The French letter of marque brig Gen. Ernouf, of 10 guns, and 28 or 30 men, arrived at La Guira the 25th of June, in 5 days from Guadaloupe, in quest of provisions, and had obtained permission to take away 500 barrels of flour, paying 26 dollars per barrel, with a quantity of Indian corn, beef, &c. and was then engaged loading the same.

The capt. of the Gen. Ernouf informed, that a few days before he sailed from Guadaloupe, an American schooner had arrived there from the United States, with a quantity of hams, lard and cheese, all of which sold at 1 dollar per lb. It appears that the schooner had cleared out a parcel of casks (as empty) in order to bring home sugar and molasses, and these provisions were concealed in them. There was no flour at Guadaloupe, and the last had been sold at 40 dollars per barrel.

The Knell.

How dark, though fleeting, are the days of Man!
What countless Sorrows crowd his narrow span!
For what is Life?—A groan, a breath, a sigh,
Weak as the fluttering Moth, or gilded Fly—
A Lamp just dying in sepulchral gloom,
A voice of anguish from the lonely Tomb!
Or wept, or weeping, all the change we know—
'Tis all our mournful history below;
Pleasure is grief, just smiling to destroy,
And soon are past th' illusive dreams of joy!

DIED.

On Saturday morning last, much regretted, after a long and painful illness, which he bore with patience and resignation, at his plantation near this city, Mr. RICHARD DORSEY, in the 39th year of his age—He has left a wife and five small children to experience the loss of a kind husband and an affectionate parent. On Sunday his remains were interred in the family burial ground, attended by a number of the inhabitants of this city and county.

On Tuesday evening, the 26th ult. of a consumption, Miss M. RANDALL, of this city.—Death to her was indeed a welcome Messenger.

SUICIDE

From the Norfolk Ledger.

JOHN PAGE, of Williamson county, (Virginia,) in apparently good health and peace of mind, put a period to his existence on Sunday before last. It is understood from one of the inquest that he had frequently expressed a desire to see a daughter, married in South-Carolina, and the day before the perpetration of the horrid deed, spoke as if he had despaired of ever seeing her. Nothing is even furnished that could render him dissatisfied with existence, or cloud his future days. On the fatal morning he was cheerful as common, walked into the field with his gun in his hand, and in the orchard he fixed and shot himself through the heart. What made this distressing event still more so, is, that the identical daughter, with her family, came to the dwelling-house of the deceased at the very time his body was brought to the house.—Dark and intricate are the ways of Providence.

Union Tavern, Annapolis.

CHARLES HENRY WILLIGMAN respectfully informs his friends, and the public in general, that he has taken that justly celebrated Inn in this city, called the Union Tavern, lately in the possession of Mr. Samuel J. Coolidge; he hopes, by his assiduity and attention, to give the greatest satisfaction to every person, as no exertion on his part shall be wanted to keep up the high character which this tavern has, as being one of the best in the union.

Charles H. Willigman likewise begs all persons not to deal with his servants, or to let them have any thing without a permission in writing from him, or he will be, very much against his inclination, compelled to take those steps which the law directs for preventing them, if they do not attend to this warning.
