IMPROVEMENT IN THE

Construction of Mills, &c.

By means of this new invention, of all others yet discovered the most simple and least expensive, families, consisting of twenty or thirty persons, may be suited with a mill adequate to a supply of flour, at an expense less than the value of the toll paid for two years at watermills, exclusive of the trouble of sending to the water or windmill. This invention may be used by hand, by horse power, by wind or water, according to the purposes for which the mill is to be used. A model may be seen at Pinkney and Munroe's store, in Annapolis, where patent rights may be had, to make and use the same under the authority of the subscriber, sole proprietor in Anne-Arundel county.

FOREIGN.

BERLIN, JULY 21.

The following has been published here.

ORDINANCE,

For putting an end to the abuse of trade with the United States of North America.

His royal majesty of Prussia, our most gra-acious lord, finds himself compelled, for the further maintenance of the continental system, in every thing which relates to the trade of his subjects, hitherto strictly observed, in concurrency with the French imperial court, and for the more certain prevention of the abuses which may have prevailed in the execution of the former ordinances, hereby to close all his ports against American vessels, wholly and without any exception.

In consequence, from the day of the publication of this ordinance, no vessel coming from an American harbour, or belonging to an American citizen or subject, can be admitted to the adjacent ports, but every vessel of this nation is immediately and without further ado, when she appears in a Prussian port or Prussian Road, to be ordered away.

The present ordinance is hereby published for observance and the strict maintenance ; and every infringer, beside the confiscation of the goods and vessel, will be subjected to particular prosecution and punishment.

Berlin, 19th July, 1810.

By special order of his royal majesty.

HARDENBURG,

GOLTZ,

DOHNA,

KERGHENSEN.

Our court and the whole capital, are suddenly placed in deep and grievous mourning, since our beloved and adored queen departed this life on the 19th inst. whilst upon a visit to her father in Strelitz. Her disease was a lung complaint ; she was seized on the 30th of June, and died on the 19th of July.

She has left four sons and three daughters.

She was in her 54th year. She was married on the 24th Dec. 1794.

LIVERPOOL, JULY 9.

At a general meeting of the Flour-Dealers

& Bakers of Liverpool, at the house of Thomas Willet, Brunswick-street, Eli Jaeger in the chair, the following resolutions were agreed to :

Resolved, That in consequence of the deficiency of weight in American flour, we will not purchase the American barrel flour, on any other conditions than as follow, after this date, viz.

If taken from the quay, to have it by the landing waiter's draughts, equal to 196 lbs.

net.

If taken from the warehouse, to be re-weighed in like manner.

By order of the meeting.

WM. PERRY.

PALMOUTH, JULY 28.

Arrived this day the Marlborough packet, capt. Bull, in 12 days from L. S. On the 28th inst. in lat. 48, 8, long. 10, 1, fell in with a French brig privateer of 16 guns, which, after several attempts to board, and having her foretopmast carried away by a shot from the packet, stood off. The action lasted 1 hour and twenty-five minutes ; the privateer is supposed to have suffered much—the packet had two men wounded.

LONDON, JULY 5.

There are many causes which induced gen.

Sarrazin to quit the French service ; it is, however, only necessary to state one :—In 1798 the general was a prisoner in England,

& was exchanged as a general of division, against maj. gen. Sir H. Buiard, an ensign and 5 soldiers. Since his exchange, he has arrived in Germany, in Italy, at St. Domingo, and on the coast of France. He has frequently applied to be employed as a general of division, in execution of the terms of the cartel which is an act of government, but in vain.—He has tendered his resignation, but it was refused.—Twelve years after his exchange as a lieutenant, he remained a major general and held that rank when he quitted Boulogne to come to England, while several young men, who 12 years ago were lieutenants and captains, are now generals of division ; and, in fact, gen. Sarrazin was in the situation of being commanded by those very officers to whom he had taught their exercise.

With regard to what has been published by general Vandamme, gen. Sarrazin thinks that contempt is the only answer that can be given to the extravagant eulogiums, or to the violent accusations of 1793, and that all nations, even the English nation, care very little about him, or gen. Vandamme ; but when gen. Vandamme talks of the gratitude which every Frenchman owes to Buonaparte for the services he has rendered France, it may be proper to observe, that gen. Van-damme has received from him a fortune of above 10,000 pounds a year ; but it is also true, that he pays most dearly for it, in the mortification which he is constantly doomed to suffer. Without adverting to his dismissal, nor to the admonition which he received when his aid-de-camp was raising contributions in Austria, nor to the order which he received to quit the house of the mayor of Boulogne in 24 hours, which he had taken possession of by main force, nor to the refusal of Buonaparte to alight at his house, when he had prepared a magnificent repast for him, at a great expense, altho' he and his suit passed under his very windows in going from Dunkirk to Lille, and from Lille to St. Omer's.

Without adverting to all these circumstances, it is sufficient to recall to the recollection of gen. Vandamme, the review of the 25th of May, and to remind him of the terms "negligent," and "ignorant," which were
