THE PILGRIM.

DROP by drop the Angel pours, Comfort every moment yours;
Guards the night and cheers the day, Gently leading life away.

Every object every thought, Sweetly seen or kindly taught, Dropping in the simple heart, Unseen happiness impart.

Tho' the gloomy shades of night Hide the hills, obscure the light, Cheerful hope, with kindly ray, Drops of comfort still convey.

Safely flowing down the tide, E'en o'er ocean's bosom wide, Storms and tempests cease to fear, Drops of peace shall meet you there.

'Then cease to flutter, foolish FEAR, SORROW, DARKNESS, dwell not here; But LIGHT and COMFORT, drop by drop, Raise the hopeful spirits up.

Then banish DISCONTENT'S sad pain, PIETY ne'er hoped in vain;
Drop by drop the Angel pours,
PEACE with VIRTUE must be yours.

THE GLEANER.

"BUT literature has, of late years, been prostituted to all the purposes of the bagnio.
Poetry, in particular, arrayed in her most bewitching colours, has been taught to exercise the arts of the Leno, and to charm only that she may destroy. The muse, who once dipped her hardy wing in the chafest dews of Castalia, and spoke nothing but what had a tendency to confirm and invigorate the manly ardour of a virtuous mind, now breathes only the voluptuous languishings of the harlot, and like the brood of Ceres, touches her charmed cords with a grace, that while it ravishes the ear, deludes and beguiles the sense.
I call to witness Mr. Moore, and the tribe of imitators which his success has called forth, that my statement is true.
Lord Strangford has trodden faithfully in the steps of his patron. Moore's poems, and his translations, will, I think, have more influence on the female society of this country, than the sage has had in its worst period, the reign of Charles 2d.
Ladies are not ashamed of having the delectable Mr. Little on their toilette, which is a pretty good proof that his voluptuousness is considered as quite veiled by the sentimental garb in which it is clad. But voluptuousness is not less dangerous for having some slight semblance of the veil of modesty. On the contrary, her fascinations are infinitely more powerful in this retiring habit, than when the boldly protrudes herself on the gazer's eye, and openly solicits his attention. The broad indecency of Wicherly, and his contemporaries, was not half so dangerous as this insinuating and half covered modesty, which makes use of the blush of modesty in order to heighten the charms of vice."

[Remains of H. K. White.]

"WHEN I reflect on the many valuable members of society, who are almost entire strangers to the sacred volumes, the truth of whose all-important contents has been attested by the greatest characters of almost every age and country, my heart fills with sorrow; and I look round for every species of argument and persuasion, to lead them if possible, to an acquaintance with these invaluable repositories of heavenly wisdom. Nor let the cold and the phlegmatic accuse me of enthusiasm in a rash and hopeless cause. Can I gaze on the glories of the rising sun, and dwell with rapture on the councils and every varying wonders of nature, without lamenting his melancholy fate, whose eyes are closed to this bright display of beauty, and to whom all creation presents nothing but a blank? When the founts of harmony swell on my delighted ear, and I listen enchanted to the wild notes of the thousands of songsters of the morn, can I repress the sigh of commiseration for him, whose ears the hand of heaven has sealed in perpetual silence? Cold indeed must be his heart, who, glowing with the fresh bloom, and bounding with the vigour of health, does not feel for the poor afflicted child of disease. Let me then employ my humble talent, in leading to the sun of righteousness, him who has shut his mental eye in voluntary darkness: Let me try to charm the deaf adder by the glorious sounds and glad tidings of the gospel; and by an honest exertion of my poor abilities, let me endeavour to bring to the Physician of souls, those unhappy beings, who feel the agonies of a wounded spirit, and are walling away under the miseries of a diseased and fallen nature."

[Monitor.]

"BUT, after all, the scoffer, it is to be feared, will continue to shoot his arrow at the sacred altar of religion, and the infirmity of our nature will still inflexibly shrink from ridicule: It becomes, therefore, a matter of the most serious concern, to put those on their guard, who lie most in the way of this dangerous temptation: And when you look around you, and see a young man of good principles yet unsettled by habit, and unconvinced by experience; his heart glowing with the sentiments of honour, and his cheek kindling at the slightest suspicion of reproach; convinced that all is not right within him; yet afraid of "the world's dread laugh;" almost but not altogether a christian; does not every generous feeling of your nature prompt you to warn him of the perils to which he is exposed?—To such an one would I call, in the language of affection and solicitude; and urge him by all that is noble, and dear, and sacred, to reject the council of the ungodly, and sit not in the seat of the scornful. "Oh, fly," would I say, "from their society, who would rob you of your comfort here, and your hope of peace hereafter. Of what are you ashamed?—Do you blush to honour that Great Being, who first called you into existence, and still sustains, protects and blesses you?—Is gratitude, then, so despicable a feeling, that you are ashamed to express it to your good and gracious Benefactor?—Does it degrade you to bend at that altar, where the best and wisest of mankind have rejoiced to worship?—And are you ashamed to bear the name of a Saviour, who suffered a life of humiliation, and a death of dishonour, for you? Do you not perceive, when the scoffer mocks at religion, that he endangers the peace and shakes the foundations of society?—and would it not be glorious, to show your family, your friends, and your country, that you dread more their merited reproach, than all the unmeaning laughter, and contemptible ridicule of fools?"

Go on, then, young christians, strong in the goodness of your cause, and ashamed of nothing but vice.
Examine the evidences of your religion, and be ready, at all times, to give the reason of the hope that is within you.
Having discovered that truth is on your side, have boldness in the faith—be steadfast, immovable—and tell the scoffer, in the words of the apostle, "that you are not ashamed of the gospel of CHRIST." Yet cast not away the ornament of a meek & quiet spirit. "He who hates another, (said a celebrated convert to Christianity) for not being a christian, proves by doing so, that he is not a christian himself." But, above all things, let the whole tenor of your actions correspond with the goodness of your principles, and the strength and solidity of your faith. Undeviating integrity, and an unspotted holiness of life, will sooner silence the ridicule of the scoffer, than all the arguments you can bring forward. The infidel, who affects to despise you, will secretly honour you in his heart. The gay and insouciant may be won, by your example, to think more highly and reverently of that religion, which thus preserves you, firm and unbending, in the midst of a crooked generation. All the wise and the virtuous, will esteem and love you. Good angels will guard and strengthen you; and HE, of whom you have not been ashamed on earth, before men will, crown and reward you in the presence of an assembled universe, and in the glory of his father, in Heaven."

APPLICATION being made to me, the subscriber, in the records of Anne-Arundel county court, by petition, in writing, of William M. Chaney, of said county, praying the benefit of the act for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms mentioned in the said acts, a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors, on oath, as far as he can ascertain them, being annexed to his petition, and the said William M. Chaney having satisfied me by competent testimony, that he has resided in the state of Maryland for the two years immediately preceding the time of his application, having also stated in his to be discharged from confinement I do therefore order and adjudge, that the said William M. Chaney be discharged from his imprisonment, and that by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in the Maryland Gazette weekly for three months successively before the first day of August next, give notice to his creditors to appear before Anne-Arundel county court on the third Monday in September next, to show cause why the said William M. Chaney should not have the benefit of the said several acts as prayed.

PAUL'S DOMESTIC INFALLIBLE
COLUMBIAN OIL.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic, it is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information; therefore the public has better security for their money as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found so efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure, viz: Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the back and breast, Colds and Coughs, Toothach, Pleurisy, Cholera, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough & Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody Flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite, it will act as a powerful bracer to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pedorals and expectorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Phthisick or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking fast, stooping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a teaspoonful of the Columbian Oil will render some relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809.
I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced.—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD.

Baltimore No. 16, Water-street, sign of the plough.

No. 2. Sept. 1809.

From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent sore throat, about the 26th of August, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of molasses, which took away all pieces of putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48 hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, and infant of 17 months old which was taken about the first of August with slow fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician, who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five drops morning and evening, for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD.

Baltimore, by Peter's Bridge.

No. 3. Sept. 6.

I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which has restored me to a good state of health again.

THOMAS ELIOTT.

On the Hook's-town road near the turnpike gate.

No. 4. Feb. 12, 1809.
I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil I had been afflicted with a violent pain in my back, so that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N. B. I had a violent toothach about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.

ELEANOR ELIOTT.

No. 5.

I comply with your request of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm.
I have been afflicted with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm and similar complaints. I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when the tetter left me, and has not made its appearance since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N. B. My Susanna, a child aged 20 months 20 days, was taken about the middle of July last, with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough; I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.
