

POET'S CORNER.

SELECTED.

From a London paper.

His Royal Highness the Prince, patron of the regiment, on presenting its colours, intimated to the celebrated Capt. Morrice, the most worthy successor of Anacron, his royal wish for an appropriate song to be sung at all festivities of the corps. His royal highness was obeyed by Capt. Morrice, with a fervour which produced the happy thoughts combined in this little piece. The song is preserved in the regiment as a most precious treasure, and is sung on every festive occasion with an exultation which those who have ever witnessed its effects have forcibly felt, yet can but faintly describe.

REGIMENTAL SONG.

For the 87th Regiment, called the Prince of Wales' Irish Volunteers.

Come on brother soldiers! the field is now ended;

The cow's merry music now calls us along;

True valour's best pleas'd, when with mirth it is blended,

And love's a gay chorus when glory's the song.

Then, join in my list now, ye lads of true mettle!

The brave 87th our voices shall raise;

The Muse, lads, wherever her eye she may settle,

Will ne'er find a subject more fit for her praise.

At loyalty's call as a band of true brothers,

We sprang into arms to give strength to her sway,

And life, that's a debt, paid to nature by others,

We, bro't a free gift, to the prince we obey.

Our love for our country's as firm as old Cato's,

For our best constitution, our colours we rear;

We're the prince's own lads, from the land of potatoes;

And no sound but of glory, has charms for our ear.

Our colours his own royal arm hath supported;

The charge of their fame to our honour he gave,

And we trust in the field where true glory is courted,

They'll shine like himself the Great Hops of the brave.

May union and concord for ever then bind us;

Through honour's bright field with one heart may we roam!

Abroad in all danger the foe ever find us;

And Friendship and Love ever find us at home!

Thus his brave royal line, to the end of time's story,

May God and our arms ever shelter and save!

May the Shamrock be ever the crest of true glory!

And the Harp of Old Erin the charm of the brave!

THE GLEANER.

"Suen," continued the preacher, "being the importance of this union of faith with works, it is the wildest of all attempts to sever them from each other. The hand which would disorder this harmony, is lifted against God and nature. 'Faith without works' is an expression our religion does not assist us to interpret. For us it has no meaning. God has linked them together, and the powers of earth and hell confederate; shall not separate them. Let us not endeavour to do it. Be it our object to convince the unbeliever that the faith of the Christian is the best principle, because it makes the best men.

But let me not be mistaken. Whilst I enforce the necessity of their uniting faith with practice, I would guard against confounding them; for, whilst they are inseparable, they are distinct. A good life is the fruit of a good faith; but let not the fruit be applied to the purpose for which the tree is destined. Faith in the merits of his redeemer, justifies man in the sight of God—works attest his justification; faith wins him Heaven—works bespeak him fitted for it."

From such a view of faith, this veteran in Christianity seemed to catch new vigour in speaking of it. "In teaching you," he said, "to desire and to embrace this principle as the sum and essence of religion, I am not placing upon you any cunningly devised fable. The 'thousands' who in every age have bowed the knee to Baal, have uniformly maintained faith to be the only instrument of salvation. The Popes for some centuries, have been equating the religion of God to the measure of their own views. Not content with their encroachment upon human authority, they dared to wrest from God the sceptre of his grace. They taught that if the merits of Christ and the Spirit of God might begin the work of salvation, still man must complete it; and they erected him to be, in some degree his own Redeemer. Your ancestors saw this, and they resolved to 'stand in the breach and stay the plague.' They fought the battles of the reformation, and the shouts of their victory were heard. 'Worthy is the lamb who was slain!' Nor were their principles those only of the days in which they lived. They had consulted the 'oracles of God,' and they found this to be 'the good old way' of Religion. They saw it printed, and even worn with the footsteps of saints, of prophets and of patriarchs. When the great Apostle of the Gentiles calls up the shades of the mighty dead to record the holy actions by which the service of God has been signalized; he dares not recount their deeds, except in union with the principle from which they sprung. He points to these illustrious men looking through the darkness of ages, their eye fixed and intent upon that 'Saviour who was to come.' 'By faith,' says he, 'Abraham offered up Isaac; by faith Jacob worshipped; by faith Moses preferred the suffering with the people of God to those pleasures of sin which are but for a moment. Refuse not to add your names to a catalogue of whom it is declared 'the world was not worthy;' cultivate the same principles, pursue the same practice, and 'enter into the same glory.'

A liberal Reward

WILL be given (if required) by the City Commissioners, for two brass fire-joints, forming the bend or elbow of the pipe of the fire engine; they were lost either the day of the fire at the College or taken since from the house where the engine is kept.

House-keepers are earnestly requested to make particular enquiry for them among children and servants, as possibly they may be found in the possession of a person who knows not their use, and view them only as old brass.

PAUL'S DOMESTIC INFALLIBLE COLUMBIAN OIL.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic. It is not pulled up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates, of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security for their money, as 'twere cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found so efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure, viz: Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the back and breast, Colds and Coughs, Toothach, Phuristies, Cholic, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough & Mumps, and Dysentary or Bloody Flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sicking, and loss of appetite, it will act as a powerful bracer to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all periorals and expectorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with a tubercle or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking fast, stooping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a teaspoonful of the Columbian Oil will render some relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809. I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to order the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD.

Baltimore No. 16, Water-street, sign of the plough.

No. 2. Sept. 1809.

Sir, From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent sorethroat, about the 10th of August, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of melasses, which took away pieces of purrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48 hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild and infant of 17 months old which was taken about the first of August with slow fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician, who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five drops morning and evening, for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD.

Baltimore, by Peter's Bridge.

No. 3. Sept. 6.

I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which has restored me to a good state of health again.

THOMAS ELLIOTT.

On the Hook's-town road near the turnpike gate.

No. 4. Feb. 12, 1809.

I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil I had been ailing with a violent pain in my back, so that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N. B. I had a violent toothach about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.

ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

No. 5.

I comply with your request of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the letter-worm. I have been afflicted with the letter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, proving an effectual cure for the ring-worm and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively, when the letter left me, and has not made its appearance since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N. B. My Susanna, a child aged 20 months & 6 days, was taken about the middle of July last with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough; I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.
