Sept. 9, 1811.

A Runaway.
WAS committed to my custody as a runaway, a negro man calling himself JOHN, who says he is the property of Mr. George Ashton, of King-George county, Virginia.

Said fellow is five feet six inches tall, about 23 years old, has large eyes, a nose, a scar over his left eye, has lost the joint of the middle finger of the left hand and is a little lame in the left knee. He is when committed, a tow linen shirt, with cotton trowsers, an old coat of light coloured cloth, old hat and shoes. He is requested to release him or he will be sold for his prison fees agreeably to law.

4 JAMES WILLIAMS,
Aug. 21, 1811.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY
EDWARD LLOYD, ESQUIRE,
GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,
A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it has been satisfactorily presented to me, that a certain JOHN BADGER, who was condemned seven years to the Public Roads, by the honourable Judges of the first Judicial District of Maryland, for House Burning and Horse Stealing—has made his escape from punishment, and is now lurking about Elkton, committing many crimes and alarming the people by his nocturnal plunderings. And Whereas, it is obviously the duty of the Executive, in the execution of the laws to endeavour to bring all malefactors to justice: I have thought proper to issue this my Proclamation, and do, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, offer ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD to any person or persons, who shall apprehend and bring to justice, the said JOHN BADGER.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State of Maryland, this thirtieth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eleven, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the thirtieth sixth.

6X EDW. LLOYD,
By his Excellency's command.

NINIAN PINKNEY, Clerk of the Council.
August 1.

The above Proclamation to be published twice in each week for the space of six weeks in the Whig, Sun, and Federal Gazette, at Baltimore; Maryland Gazette and Maryland Republican, at Annapolis; and the Star, at Easton.

Forty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Mrs. Anne Dorsey near the city of Annapolis, in Anne-Arundel county, on or about the first of April last, a negro lad named BILL, 16 or 17 years of age, 5 feet 3 or 4 inches high, stout made in proportion to his height, is tolerable black, with a full face, the whites of his eyes have a yellowish cast, and his upper lip rather thick. Had on when he went away, a cotton shirt, homespun round-about jacket and pantaloons, striped and dyed of a dark colour. It is supposed he is lurking about the farm of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esquire, near the city of Annapolis, or at the Manor on Elk Ridge, as his father lives at the former, and his brother at the latter place. Any person apprehending the above negro and returning him in goal so that I get him again, shall receive, if twenty miles from home, Twenty Dollars, if thirty miles, Thirty Dollars, and if a further distance the above reward, and all reasonable travelling expenses paid if brought home to the subscriber near the city of Annapolis. THOMAS H. DORSEY.

FOREIGN.

NEW-YORK, SEPT. 10. LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

Yesterday arrived at this port the ship Magdalen Sketchley, in 41 days from Liverpool, from whence she sailed on the 27th of July. The king of England remained very ill, as will be seen by the last bulletin.

The British Parliament was prorogued on the 24th July, to the 22d of August, and a speech from the Prince Regent was delivered on that occasion, by the Lord Chancellor.

Capt. Sketchley has favoured the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser with London papers to the 25th and Liverpool to the 26th July, inclusive, and Lloyd's Lists to the 23d, from which we have made the following extracts.

The king had experienced a paralytic stroke and was so much worse as to be deprived of Prayers for his recovery which had been discontinued for a long time, were resumed in the churches.

Dispatches for government are received by the Magdalen.

LONDON, JULY 23.

It is reported that his majesty is affected during the paroxysms with a swelling of the glands in the throat, which not only prevents his swallowing any aliment, but also renders his breathing extremely difficult. It is supposed that parliament will sit during this alarming crisis.

The enemy have withdrawn from Badajoz their train of artillery with which the place was taken, and have sent it to the southward. The Guerilla force appears to be increasing in number, activity and boldness, in all the northern parts of Spain.

Plymouth, July 22.

The Landrair schooner is sitting for sea in this harbour, and in the event of an American war, will cruise between the Channel and Atlantic to intercept the American merchantmen.

Admiralty Office, July 25.

Vice-adm. Sir James Saumarez has transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. a letter from capt. Peter of his majesty's ship Grifly, giving an account of an attack made off Hellim Island, on the 15th inst. by a Danish flotilla of 17 gun-boats and 10 heavy row-boats, on a convoy under the protection of the Grifly, Delance, Dictator, Sheldrake sloop, and Bruiser gun-veffel. The enemy were defeated without the loss of any of the convoy, & four of the Danish gun-boats were captured, mounting each one long 24 pounder and four brass howitzers, and having on board 120 men.

It is not true that Sir Joseph Yorke has gone to the coast of America—his destination is a very different one.

JULY 24. SPAIN.

Letters from Cadiz to the 3d inst. state that gen. Graham had embarked from Cadiz for Lisbon, with his personal staff of about 500 men. He is to be second in command under lord Wellington, and Sir B. Spencer is to succeed him at Cadiz.

The Ann, captain Britton, has arrived at Falmouth, from Halifax, in 21 days. She has brought over by order of Sawyer, a British seaman, who acted in the capacity of a quarter gunner, on board the American frigate the President, during the action with the Little Belt. The evidence of this man fully confirms, in every respect, the statement of captain Bingham, (which is already before the public) with the important addition that the crew of the President were apprised, the day after she left N. York, that it was the intention of com. Rogers to attack the Guerriere, in the event of a refusal on the part of the British, to deliver up an impressed man. The seaman who brings the above intelligence leapt overboard from the President, after her return to N. York, and swam on board the Ann. Another British seaman who accompanied him, was unfortunately drowned in the attempt. The seaman who has arrived at Falmouth, further reports that the crew of the President consisted of 560 men, out of whom upwards of 300 were English, Irish and Scotchmen; all of whom are ready to attest that the American frigate fired the first gun. The Ann also brings intelligence, that the slight encounter between the Eurydice and another American frigate has been apologized for by the American captain's passing his word of honour, that there were no orders given for the firing of the gun.

The Express which brought the despatches from Paris for the John Adams frigate, arrived from the capital in 30 hours, when the American ship of war immediately set sail for the English coast, and without touching at the port as we have already stated, sent a boat on shore, with despatches from Mr. Russell to Mr. Smith, charge d'affaires of the U. States, resident here. They contain an account that the Two Brothers, the Good Intent, and the Star, captured since the 1st of November, have been released, on satisfactory proof being produced that the property was American. It is asserted that the numerous others detained under the like circumstances, will be immediately surrendered to the claimants by the French government.

It is stated on the same authority, that the proceedings in these cases, on the part of the captors, in the French courts of admiralty, are not at all founded on the Berlin and Milan decrees, which are held by the judges of those courts to have been abrogated, and rendered null and void since the 1st of Nov. last.

From the London Star of July 24.

Sir Joseph Yorke is at last understood not to have gone to America. The fleet under his command being, it is said, declined, or rather having failed to a different quarter. The supposed necessity for the appearance of a British fleet off America at the time Sir Joseph left England, probably gave occasion to the report that he was going thither, as his departure took place about the time that the news of the action between the President & the Little Belt first reached this country. We can say nothing as to the real destination of Sir Joseph's squadron.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Prorogation of Parliament.

About twenty minutes after 3 o'clock the lord Chancellor stated, that two commissions had been issued under the Great Seal, the one for giving the Royal assent to certain bills, and the other for the Prorogation of Parliament, and the house adjourned to robe.

A few minutes after the Archbishop of Canterbury, the lord Chancellor, the earl Camden, earl Westmoreland, and the earl of Aylesford, took their seats in their robes, as lords commissioners. [The marquis Wellesley, at first took his seat as lord commissioner, but gave it up to the earl of Liverpool, who afterwards gave it to earl Camden.]

Mr. Quarme, the deputy usher of the black rod, was sent to require the attendance of the Commons.

After a short interval, the Speaker and several members of the House of Commons came to the bar. The Lord Chancellor stated, that it not being convenient for H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, to be personally present, Commission had been issued under the great seal for giving the Royal assent to certain bills.

The Commission, signed by the Prince Regent, in the name, and on behalf of his majesty, was read by the clerk, at the table. The royal assent was declared and notified in the usual form to the Bank Notes bill, and the Militia Interchange Amendment bill.

The Lord Chancellor delivered the following Speech:

"My Lords and Gentlemen,
H. R. Highness the Prince Regent, acting in the name and on behalf of his Majesty, has commanded us to signify to you the satisfaction with which he finds himself enabled to relieve you from your attendance in Parliament, after the long and laborious duties of the session. We are particularly directed to express his approbation of the wisdom and firmness which you have manifested in enabling his royal highness to continue the exertions of this country in the cause of our Allies, and to prosecute the war with increased activity and vigour.

"Your determined perseverance in a system of liberal aid to the brave and loyal nations of the Peninsula, has progressively augmented their means and spirit of resistance, while the humane attention which you have paid to the sufferings of the inhabitants of Portugal, under the unexampled cruelty of the enemy, has confirmed the alliance by new ties of affection, and cannot fail to inspire additional zeal and animation in the maintenance of the common cause.

"His Royal Highness especially commands us to declare his cordial concurrence in the measures which you have adopted for improving the internal security and military resources of the united kingdom.

"For these important purposes you have wisely provided, by establishing a system for the annual supply of the regular army, and for the interchange of the militias of Great Britain and Ireland; and his Royal Highness has the satisfaction of informing you, that the voluntary zeal which has already been manifested upon this occasion, has enabled him to give immediate operation to an arrangement by which the union and mutual interests of Great Britain and Ireland may be more effectually cemented and improved.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons.
His Royal Highness commands us to thank you, in the name and on behalf of his majesty, for the liberal supplies which you have furnished for every branch of the public service.

"His Royal Highness has seen with pleasure the readiness with which you have applied the separate means of G. Britain to the financial relief of Ireland at the present moment; and derives much satisfaction from perceiving, that you have been able to accomplish this object with so little additional burthen upon the resources of this part of the united kingdom. The manner in which you have taken into consideration the condition of the Irish revenue has met with his Royal Highness's approbation; and his Royal Highness commands us to add, that he looks with confidence to the advantage which may be derived from the attention of Parliament having been given to this important subject.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

"His Royal Highness commands us to congratulate you upon the reduction of the island of Mauritius. This last and most important colony of France has been obtained with considerable loss, and its acquisition must materially contribute to the security of the British commerce and possessions in that quarter of the world.

"The successes which have crowned his majesty's arms during the present campaign, under the distinguished command of Lieutenant General Lord Wellington, are most important to the interests, and glorious to the character of the country.—His Royal Highness warmly participates in all the sentiments which have been excited by those successes, and concurs in the just applause which you have bestowed upon the skill, prudence, and intrepidity, so conspicuously displayed in obtaining them.

"It affords the greatest satisfaction to his royal highness to reflect, that should it please Divine Providence to restore his majesty to the ardent prayers & wishes of his royal highness and his majesty's people, his royal highness will be enabled to lay before his majesty in the history of these great achievements of the British arms throughout a series of systematic operations, so satisfactory a proof that the national interest, and the glory of the British name have been successfully maintained while his royal highness has conducted the government of the United Kingdom."

Then a commission for proroguing the parliament was read. After which the Lord Chancellor said—

My Lords and Gentlemen,

"By virtue of the commission under the Great seal, to us and other Lords directed, and now read, we do in obedience to the commands of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on behalf of his Majesty, prorogue this Parliament to Thursday, the 22d day of August next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday, the 22d day of August next."

The Commons withdrew from the bar and the Lords Commissioners retired from the house.

By the schooner Globe from Bayonne, arrived at Baltimore.
VIENNA, JULY 22.

Battle between the Russians and Turks.

An official relation has just been published, dated at the head quarters of the Russian army, before Rudschuk, 6th July, 1811, of which the following is an extract:

"The army of his Imperial majesty Emperor of all the Russias, under the command of the general in chief Golemschitcheff de Kutusoff, gained, on the 4th of July, a most signal victory over that of the Ottoman Porte, commanded by the Grand Vizier in person.

The general in chief having, on the 18th June, transferred his head-quarters from Bucharest to Giurgewo, was informed by several prisoners he had made, that the Grand Vizier was marching towards Rudschuck at the head of his army, consisting of 60,000 men; having also received information that the Grand Vizier had reached the village of Kadi (or Sandi) Kieni, a short distance from Rudschuck, M. de Kutusoff passed with his troops on the right Bank of the Danube, and encamped before that fortress.

On the 2d of July, 500 Turks came to reconnoitre our lines; but by a dexterous manoeuvre of lieut. Gen Wainoff, the enemy though superior in number, withdrew rapidly at the appearance of four battalions of
