From a London Paper.

BOXING. In conformity with imperious custom, we are almost compelled to give the following disgusting detail. Editors of newspapers are obliged to cater for the general palate; and if they hope to do any good by their labours they must meet the public taste so far as at least is necessary to secure readers. Such scenes however, shall never be noticed by us without that reprobation which they deserve. There is no excuse in the present day for the encouragement given to the practice of exciting men to fight, who have no personal enmity. In Greece and Rome there might be some kind of apology for such scenes. The brutal exhibitions of the Paneratum, and the fights of the Gladiators, had a tendency to promote and produce that ferocity of mind and that strength and agility of body which gave the soldier of those days the advantage in the field of battle; but in the present day, when strength and ferocity have given place to skill and coolness, no such excuse can be set up in justification of modern prize fights.

Battle between Crib and Molineaux.

Round—Sparing for one minute, when Crib made play right and left. The right handed blow told slightly on the body of the Black, who returned slightly on the head. A rally followed, in which three blows were exchanged, when the Black was knocked down by a hit on the throat. The blows were not such as to do much execution, and the knock-down was not clean. Betting as at setting to.

2—Crib first shewed blood from the mouth at setting to. A dreadful rally was commenced, and Crib put in a good body hit with the right hand, which Molineaux returned on the head with the left flush. Each fought at half arm for superiority, and hits, in number about six, were exchanged with force. Closing followed, when Crib was thrown in a trial of strength, 5 to 2 on Crib.

3—Crib's right eye was nearly closed in the last rally, and another here followed of a sanguinary nature. After sparing for wind in which the Black was deficient, Crib put in a dreadful doubler on the body of the Black, but although he was hit away, he kept his legs, and renewed the rally with a fury which excited alarm amongst the cognoscenti. Crib in the rally hit right and left at the body and head, and the Black fought at the head alone, and was so successful with the left hand, that he planted some dexterous flush hits, and Crib bled profusely, and was damaged in both eyes. The rally lasted a minute and a half, and in a close Crib was thrown a heavy fall. To an ordinary spectator the Black was winning the fight in a hurry, but the champion's tried game made him yet a favourite, although it reduced the odds. 4—Crib's head was much disfigured, and the Black's wind was treacherous: The former bled profusely, but he smiled, renewed the rally with heroism never excelled, and hits in abundance were exchanged. Crib still fighting at the body mark with his right hand, and the black at the head. Crib fell with a slight hit, and manifested the first weakness. Betting 7 to 4.

5—Rallying was renewed by Molineaux, and the execution on both sides was terrific. The Black had the best of the determined rally, and Crib fell from a blow, and received another in falling; which excited murmur and applause from the partizans of the combatants; but on reference to the umpires, it was decided FAIR, Crib's hands being at liberty. 6—The black fatigued by want of wind, loughed right and left, but he was avoided, & he made a good stop of Crib's right hand, Crib put in a destructive right handed blow at his body mark, which doubled him up, who got away pitifully distressed. He appeared frantic on renewing the rally, anxious to go in, but alarmed at the consequences; and no dancing matter ever cut capers more amusing to Crib's friends. He hit short and was abroad. Crib followed him around the stage, and did astonishing execution, and floored him with a blow at great length.—This round brought the odds to 5 to 1 on Crib.

7—Molineaux run on a rally intemperately and did some execution, but Crib hit him several blows as violent as can be figured, about the neck and jugular, and after a rally of one minute, the black fell from hurts and weakness.

8—Molineaux, in the forlorn hope, again rallied at illjudged distance, and after Crib had again nobbed him, he got his head under the left arm, and fibbed on till the Black fell. No takers at odds.

9—Lombard-street to a China Orange Molineaux was dead beat, and only fought to encounter Crib's death-like blows. In running in, Crib met him with his left hand and broke his jaw, and he fell like a log, he did not come to time within a half a minute but Crib's appetite was not to be satiated—he gave away this chance, dancing a horn-pipe about the stage, and floored his man, after letting half down and up again.

10—Molineaux with difficulty got off his second's knee for fresh punishment, but he made a desperate unsuccessful effort, and fell from distress.

11—This round ended the fight, after Crib had given away another chance about time, but the black's senses were hit out of him; and after he had received another knock-down he was unable again to stand, and victory was announced in a Scots Reel by Gully and Crib, accompanied by shouts and applause.

Molineaux was carried out of the ring senseless and speechless, and he is constantly attended by a surgeon. He has suffered most about the left side, and the jugular vein, but he is not considered in danger. Crib is blind but he has received no body hurt; and on being joked with after the fight, about his captivating appearance, he observed he would sooner go through such another fight than go through another training up the Highlands of Scotland, after his patron and trainer, Captain Barclay. Crib will benefit 400 pounds by his victory.

CONGRESSIONAL.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Friday, November 22.

Mr. Key presented a petition from John Dillon of Baltimore, praying the restoration of 7000 dollars for a vessel labelled and sold at N. Orleans. Referred to the committee of claims.

On motion of Mr. Dawson, the house went into a committee of the whole on the bill apportioning representatives among the several states, according to the third enumeration.

Mr. Dawson said the committee who framed the bill had directed him to move to fill the first blank in the bill with the words "forty thousand," so as to allow one member for every forty thousand persons in the United States after the year 1813. Mr. D. said he was himself opposed to so large a ratio, as it would deprive several of the states of some of their present representation.

A debate ensued on the apportionment but not interesting.

The yeas and nays were then taken on filling the blank with 37,000, and carried, yeas 102, nays 18.

Mr. Dawson moved to fill the other blanks in the bill as follows:—New-Hampshire, five members; Massachusetts, eighteen, Vermont five, Rhode-Island two, Connecticut seven, New-York twenty-five, New-Jersey six, Pennsylvania twenty-one, Delaware one, Maryland nine, Virginia twenty-two, North-Carolina thirteen, South-Carolina nine, Georgia five, Kentucky ten, Ohio six, and Tennessee six.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading. The house adjourned till Monday.

Monday, Nov. 25.

Mr. Seybert presented a petition of Wm. M'Pherson, naval officer, Philadelphia, praying compensation for diminution of salary—referred to the committee of ways and means.

The usual annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury was received, read, referred to committee of ways and means, and 1000 copies ordered to be printed.

A bill was reported for the relief of John Burnet—twice read and referred to the committee of the whole to-morrow.

The bill apportioning the representation of the states was read a third time, Mr. Bibb moved that the bill be re-committed.

Mr. Quincy supported this motion in a speech of about an hour, in favour of a smaller ratio.

Mr. Widgey replied to some of the remarks of Mr. Quincy, but was also in favour of the motion.

Mr. Key spoke some time in favour of the motion, wishing to reduce the ratio to the minimum constitutional allowance, 30,000.

Mr. Randolph replied to some of the arguments of Mr. Key, and was opposed to the motion. He requested the yeas and noes, which request was granted.

Mr. Cheaves spoke against the commitment. The question was taken; and the yeas were 56 Noes 72: and the bill passed without a division.

On motion of Mr. Key, the petition of Wm. Dent Beale, presented to the house last session, was referred to the committee of claims.

Mr. Randolph offered a resolution which was ordered to lie on the table. It instructed the committee to whom it was referred what of the President's message relates to national defence, to inquire into the expediency of abolishing corporal punishment in the army.

Adjourned at 3 o'clock.

Tuesday, November 26.

Mr. Little offered a resolution requesting the President to lay before the house a list of persons impressed from American vessels; where, when, by whom, and under what authority it was done; how many of such persons are American citizens; with such other information as he may think proper to communicate. Ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Morrow from the committee of public lands, made a report recommending the appointment of commissioners for fixing the western boundary line of the Virginia military tract, &c. Ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Talmadge presented a petition from sundry merchants in New-Haven, (Conn.) praying permission to import certain goods from St. Croix. Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Nelson presented the memorial of the vestry of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Alexandria, praying for an act of Incorporation. Referred to the committee on the District of Columbia.

Several petitions were presented and bills referred. Adjourned.

Wednesday, November 27.

The Speaker laid before the House the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, containing an exhibit of the amount of duties and drawbacks on goods imported and exported during the years 1808, 1809 & 1810. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Gholfon, chairman of the committee of claims. The report was unfavourable to the petition, because the claim was barred by the statutes of limitation; the validity of the claim the committee, had not examined, wishing the house at once to decide the propriety of those statutes, by agreeing or disagreeing to that report, and thus bring the subject fairly into discussion and obtain a decision.

Mr. Pitkin wished to know whether this was one of the claims which would be embraced by the resolution, offered sometime since by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Bacon) for repealing the statutes of limitation in certain cases.

Mr. Gholfon said it was not; nor would Mr. Bacon's resolution embrace one third, perhaps not one fifth of the claims that came before the committee of claims.

Messrs. Quincy and Pleasants, and some others, spoke in favour of a repeal of the statutes of limitation, Mr. Bacon & Mr. Mitchell opposed such repeal. On motion of Mr. Bacon the report of the committee of the whole for Monday next, for the purpose of discussing the propriety of the repeal, and deciding that question.

The bill for the relief of Josiah H. Webb, was read a third time, and passed.

The house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Desha in the chair, on the report of the committee of elections on the petition and remonstrance of John Talliaferro, against the election of John Hungerford. Mr. Talliaferro was furnished with a seat in the house. After the reading of the report he addressed the committee in a speech of about an hour and a half. General Hungerford replied in a speech of considerable length, to which Mr. Talliaferro rejoined; the committee rose without coming to a decision, and the house adjourned at half past 3 o'clock.

Thursday, Nov. 28.

Mr. Bacon offered two resolutions this morning; the one instructing the committee of ways & means to inquire into the expediency of continuing the act providing the salary of certain officers of government for a limited time; the other instructing the same committee to enquire into the expediency of continuing the act providing for the better protection of the commerce and seamen of the U. States against the Barbary powers; with leave to report by bill. The resolutions were adopted.

Mr. Morrow observed, that since the affair, of which information has just been received, in Indiana Territory it is rendered necessary to be prepared for any attack that may be made by the Indians on the frontiers of or in the state of Ohio. The inhabitants of that state were much in want of arms; good soldiers they might make, but not without arms: you might as well make a good mechanic without showing him a tool, as a soldier without a gun or sword.—He offered a resolution to authorize the President to loan to the state of Ohio, a quantity of small arms, bayonets, and cartouch-boxes, as well as a few pieces of artillery. The resolution was referred to the committee of the whole for to-morrow.

The house then went into committee on the whole Mr. Desha in the chair, on the report of the committee of elections on the contested election of John P. Hungerford.—The motion debated all day yesterday, and still before the house, was for granting Mr. Hungerford further time to procure testimony. Mr. Pleasant spoke in favour of the motion, also Mr. Pitkin, Mr. Macon and Mr. Clay the Speaker. Against the motion were Mr. Gholfon, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Allton. After debating till almost 4 o'clock Mr. Randolph moved that the committee of the whole should rise and report progress, for the purpose of refusing them leave to sit again, and recommitting the report to the committee of elections. The committee rose and the house immediately adjourned. The subject will come before the house again to-morrow, and perhaps occasion the total waste of another day.

Friday, November 29.

The house resumed the consideration of the report of the committee of elections on the contested election of J. P. Hungerford. The resolution allowing Mr. Hungerford further time for procuring testimony, still under consideration Mr. Hungerford spoke a short time in favour of the resolution: Mr. Emott spoke at length on the same side: Mr. Randolph also advocated the resolution. Mr. Talliaferro, Mr. Fisk, and others opposed it. Mr. Randolph moved to recommit the report to the committee of elections, with an amendment, and that the committee be authorized to send for persons and papers; and to issue commissions for taking depositions.

The debate continued till half past 2 o'clock when a motion was made by Mr. Porter, that the report lie on the table, for the present.—Carried, by the casting vote of the Speaker, the house being equally divided, 60 to 60. Adjourned.
