THE LEGISLATURE OF THIS STATE CLOSED
their Session on Tuesday night last, having passed 225 Laws.

THE EARTHQUAKE
As appears by the following extract from the Georgia Journal, printed at Milledgeville, was most sensibly felt in that place.
"The State House shook considerably, the bell attached to the clock struck from the force of the concussion, and those within the building fled with trepidation. When we recollect that the dreadful earthquake which destroyed Lisbon in 1755, was felt not only throughout Europe but on the American continent, we are at a loss to conjecture at what distance from us may be the devoted spot that was probably overwhelmed by these awful phenomena."

Extract of a letter from his excellency William Henry Harrison to the Secretary of War, dated "Vincennes, Dec. 10, 1811.
"In my official account of the late action I did not mention that Captain Prefcott, with his company, was in the last charge that was made on the left flank. I had placed him on that flank early in the action and recollecting that I had returned him to his original position, I had supposed it to have been before the charge; but I now find that it was afterwards. Lieut. Hawkins, with the few men of the rifle company that remained, also assisted in the charge on the right flank. The late Welsh's company, of the 4th regiment under the command of Lieut. Gooding had been previously to the action, united with Captain Burton's, which was the reason of their not being particularly mentioned in my letter. Mr. Gooding behaved with great gallantry and was severely wounded in the neck. I al- committed to mention, from the halfe with which my letter was written, my obligations to Captain Dubois, of the spies and guides. This gentleman rendered us the most essential services in the capacity in which he was employed.
I must request, fir, that the above paragraph be considered as a supplement to my copy of the 18th ultimo.
I have the honour to be, with great respect,
Your humble servant,
WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON.
The Hon. the Secretary of War.

Letter from a gentleman in Richmond, to M. Clay, Esq. a Representative from Virginia.
RICHMOND, DEC. 27.
I have a tale of horror to tell; prepare to hear of the most awful calamity that ever befallen a whole city into affliction. Yes, Richmond is in tears: children have lost their parents, parents have lost their children. Yesterday a beloved daughter gladdened my heart with her innocent smiles; to-day she is in Heaven! God gave her to me, and yes, it has pleased Almighty God to take her from me. O! fir, feel for me, and at for me only; arm yourself with fortitude whilst I discharge the mournful duty of telling you that you have to feel also for yourself. Yes, for it must be told, you are the father of an amiable daughter, now my beloved child, gone to join her mother in Heaven.
How can words represent what one night, the hour of unutterable horror, has done to overwhelm a hundred families with grief and despair. No, fir, impossible. My eyes behold last night what no tongue, no pen can describe—horrors that language has no terms to represent.
Last night we were all at the theatre; every family in Richmond, or, at least, a very large proportion of them, was there—the pit was uncommonly full—when, dreadful to relate, the scenery took fire, spread rapidly above, ascending in volumes of flame and smoke into the upper part of the building, whence a moment after it descended to force its passage through the pit and boxes. In two minutes the whole audience were enveloped in ho; scorching smoke and flame. The lights were all extinguished by the black and smothering vapor; cries, shrieks, confusion and despair succeeded. O moment of ineffable horror! Nothing I can say, can do justice to the awful, shocking maddening scene. The images of both my dear children were before me, but I was removed by an impassioned crowd from the dear sufferers. The young- (with gratitude to Heaven I write it) frang towards the voice of her papa, reached my assisting hand, and was extricated from the overwhelming mafs that soon choked the passage to the flairs: but no efforts could avail me to reach, or even gain sight of the other; and my dear, dear Margaret, and your sweet Mary, with her companions, Miss Gwathmey and Miss Gatewood, passed together and at once, into a happier world.—Judge my feelings by your own, when I found that neither they nor my beloved sister appeared upon the stairs. First one, and then another and another, I helped down; hoping every moment to seize the hand of my dear child—but no, no, I was not destined to have that happiness. O to feel so, so many amiable helpless females trying to stretch to me their imploring hands, crying, "save me, fir; oh, fir, save me, save me!" Oh God, eternity cannot banish that spectacle of horror from my recollection.—Some friendly unknown hand dragged me from the scene of flames and death—and on gaining the open air, to my infinite consolation, I found my sister had thrown herself from the upper window, and was saved—yes, thanks be to God, saved where fifty others in a similar attempt, broke their necks, or were crushed to death by those who fell on them from the same height.

Oh, fir, you can have no idea of the general conternation—the universal grief that pervades this city—but why do I speak of that? I scarcely know what I write to you. Farewell. In haste and in deep affliction.

THE FIRE AT RICHMOND.
This lamentable conflagration has been made the subject of legislation in the City Council of Richmond. They have passed an Ordinance, which comprises among many other arrangements, the following resolutions:
Resolved, That the inhabitants of this city and town of Manchester, be respectfully requested, and such strangers as may wish to join in this melancholy occasion, be most cheerfully permitted to contribute towards the monument to be erected over the deceased, in aid of the public funds to be contributed by this corporation.
Resolved, That a committee consisting of the following gentlemen, viz.—Gen. John Marshall, Thomas Taylor, Joseph Marx, William Fenwick and Benjamin Hatcher, be appointed to receive contributions and to make such arrangements in concert with a committee from the Common Hall as may be necessary for erecting the monument designated by an Ordinance passed this day.
The committee appointed by the meeting of the citizens of Richmond this day, to ascertain the number of the unfortunate persons who perished by the burning of the Theatre on Thursday evening last, have according to order proceeded in the discharge of that melancholy duty, and lament exceedingly that they have discovered the loss greatly to exceed the number which was at first apprehended, and beg leave to submit the following list of those who are dead & missing as the most accurate which they have been enabled to discover.
A List of Dead and Missing.

Sophia Trouin, Cecilia Trouin, daughters of Mr. Trouin, Joseph Jacobs, Elizabeth Jacobs, his daughter, Cyprian Marks, wife of Mordecai Marks, Charlotte Raphael, daughter of Solomon Raphael. The Citizens of Richmond have purchased the lot of ground on which the Theatre stood for the purpose of erecting a CHURCH in its place, and more than two thousand dollars have already been subscribed for that pious purpose. The writer adds that among the number, who so awfully perished, there were not six of the poorer class of people.

The Library of General Moreau, says the Trenton Federalist, was unfortunately consumed with his dwelling, as mentioned in the late papers.—His whole loss is estimated at $70,000.

VERY INTERESTING DISCOVERY.
Two very ingenious mechanics, living at Montpelier, within the pale of Green-Mountains in Vermont, having a laudable zeal to improve the mechanic arts with advantage to themselves and their country, and farther stimulated by the generous premium* offered by the French government, for the best method to spin flax, &c. engaged in the invention of machinery for that purpose; and it is with pleasure that the writer of this article can say, with the fullest assurance, that they have accomplished this grand design. This machinery has stood the test of experience; the principle is entirely new, and as simple as perfect. The machinery is now in actual operation, and has run (more or less) for 6 months past.
The principle, if rightly applied, with suitable materials and corresponding machinery, will produce every kind of cordage manufactured from flax or hemp, which is necessary for the convenience of mankind, from the coarsest rope-yarn to the finest cambrics.
The economy produced by this machinery, when contracted with cotton spinning, is three-eighths, and upon manual labour four-fifths.
This astonishing improvement in the art of spinning, which mechanics, and men of science in all parts of the globe have laboured in vain to produce, seems peculiarly reserved to be brought forth by the new world, and at a time the most fortunate.
It is worthy of remark, that the authors of this invention are sober, industrious men, but in very indigent circumstances: and it is feared, unable to prosecute to advantage so noble a design. P.
