ORDERED, That the "Supplement to an act, entitled, An act for regulating writs of error, and granting appeals from and to the courts of common law within this province," and the "Act to alter the time of the meeting of the court of appeals, and for other purposes," be published twice in each week, for the space of three weeks, in the Maryland Republican and Maryland Gazette, at Annapolis; in the Whig, American, Sun and Federal Gazette, at Baltimore; in the Star, at Easton; in the Republican Gazette, at Frederick-town, and in the Maryland Herald, at Hagar's-town.

POSTSCRIPT.

From the Federal Gazette of Tuesday, CONGRESS.

House of Rep. Monday March 9.

The following message was received from the President of the U. S.

To the Senate & H. of Representatives.
I lay before congress copies of certain documents which remain in the department of state. They prove that at a recent period, whilst the United States; notwithstanding the wrongs sustained by them, ceased not to observe the laws of peace and neutrality towards Great-Britain; and in the midst of amicable professions and negotiations on the part of the British government, through her public minister here, a secret agent of that government was employed in certain states, more especially at the seat of government, (Boston) in Massachusetts, in fomenting disaffection to the constituted authorities of the nation, and in intrigues with the disaffected; for the purpose of bringing about resistance to the laws, and eventually, in concert with a British force, of destroying the Union, and forming the Eastern part thereof into a political connexion with Great-Britain.

In addition to the effect which the discovery of such a procedure ought to have on the public councils, it will not fail to render more dear to the hearts of all good citizens that happy union of these states, which, under Divine Providence, is the guarantee of their liberties, their safety, and their tranquillity, and their prosperity.
JAS. MADISON.

March 9th, 1812.

A great variety of letters accompanied the message, from which it appeared, if full credit be given to a certain John Henry, who makes the communications, on the 20th of February last to Mr. Monroe, that he was in Montreal in the winter of 1809, and was appointed by Sir James Craig, then Governor of Canada, a secret agent, to reside in the Eastern States, and make regular communications to the Governor of Canada, of the state of parties there, of the proceedings of legislatures, of the sentiments of the leading federalists, &c. and to use his endeavours to bring about, should such a measure, on account of the oppressive operation of the embargo, be contemplated, a separation of the union.

Henry proceeded through Vermont and a part of New-Hampshire to Boston, from which place he writes many letters to the governor, dated in March, April and May, giving a history of proceedings, and stating the sentiments of the people. Though authorised by the governor to show his credentials, should a separation be expected and the assistance of the British wished, he does not show them to any one, not finding any who were desirous of disunion, if it could possibly be prevented; and if commerce should continue to be oppressed to such a degree that a separation should ever be agitated, they would never need nor would receive the assistance of the British or any other government.

In the course of the correspondence there are very many most bitter and sarcastic reflections on the government of America, and on the democratic party.

Henry states, that he was promised to be duly rewarded. Sir James not rendering him any satisfaction, he applied to the British ministry for the office of judge advocate for Lower Canada, worth 5000. sterling per annum, or for a consulate. No office or reward being given him, he has at length concluded on turning patriot and exposed to this government his and their turpitude and thus obtain revenge.

They were unanimously referred to the committee of foreign relations, and 5000 copies ordered to be printed.

IN SENATE—After the reading of the documents, Mr. Lloyd submitted the following resolution for consideration:

Resolved, That the secretary of state be directed to lay before the senate the names of any and all persons in the U. S. and especially in the state of Massachusetts, who have in any way or manner whatsoever, entered into, or most remotely countenanced, the project or the views for the execution or attainment of which John Henry was, in the year 1809, employed by Sir James Craig, then governor general of the British provinces in North America, and which have this day been communicated to the senate of the U. S.
