

NEW-YORK, MARCH 11.
FROM ENGLAND.
Leslie, late last night, favoured of the N. Y. Gazette with Letters to Jan. 18, inclusive. They contain the news that follows. We find nothing relating to us.

January 17.—It is now ascertained on a Danish newspaper of the that only five seamen and crew were saved from the Defence, and and it is supposed the whole of the the St. George, of 98 guns, perished.
These two vessels have lost upwards of 1400 men.

18.—Benjamin Walsh, Esq. M.P., his day arraigned at Old Bailey for the murder of Thomas Plomer of 1800, and found guilty of jarceny on a question of law.

RUSSIANS & TURKS.
Petersburg Court Gazette, of December, contains an account of the Russian signal victory over the Turks on Nov. when the Grand Vizier the left bank of the Danube, who was wounded, and the troops compelled down their arms before the Russian the whole of the Turkish army, in their officers, and the commander of Chaban Ouglow, a Bashaw of ails, surrendered prisoners of war, pieces of cannon, magazines, &c. the hands of the Russians. This in various actions, previous to of the Danube, lost, in killed and about 10,000. The Turkish army sisted of 35,000 men. It is supposed above victory will lead to a peace between these two powers.

15.—The King's illness.—The of the committee of the House of appointed to examine the king's ings, has been printed and delivered ring. It occupies 14 folio pages. question put to all the physicians whether his majesty's health was to render him incapable of coming ment in person, or attending to e. The reply of all was in the affirmative.

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, MARCH 26.

His B. M's Ketch GLEANER, arrived here on Thursday night last, in forty-two days from Plymouth, with despatches for Mr. Foster. By this arrival we have been favoured with a Plymouth paper of Feb. 1st. which contains little of importance. Some extracts follow.

LONDON, JANUARY 30.
THE KING.

Our accounts from Windsor state, that His Majesty had a very serious change for the worse during Monday night, and the attendance of the whole of the physicians was immediately required. A dispatch was sent to the Prince Regent, and another to the Lord Chancellor, on which account his Lordship did not sit on Tuesday in the court of chancery. But we understand, from accounts since received, that His Majesty's disorder had not increased.

The Cadiz mail furnishes us with a continuation of the debates in the Cortes on the proposition of Senor Arguelles. The first of these propositions namely, "That at the head of the Regency which the congress was about to nominate for the government of the kingdom, conformably to the constitution, no royal personage should be placed," was carried by 93 votes against 33. One of the arguments for placing a royal personage at the head of the regency was, that the allies would treat more efficaciously with such a head than with any other government. It seems to have been the opinion of some people at Cadiz, that the measure was suggested by the allies of Spain.

French papers to the 24th have reached town. They mention several engagements between the Russians and Turks subsequent to the late defeat of the Turkish army, but say nothing respecting a peace between those powers.

It is said that ministers have received intelligence from Sicily, that immediately on the arrival of Lord William Bentinck he had an interview with king Ferdinand at Palermo; the immediate consequence of which was, that every thing was amicably arranged, and that the trial and punishment of a number of French spies and emissaries were ordered.

London Gazette, Extraordinary, Jan. 28.
DOWNING-STREET, JAN. 28.

[Transmitted by Major-general Cooke.]

SIR—In my last I had the honour to state, that the enemy commenced to batter in breach on the 29th December, since which period until yesterday he kept up a heavy fire of cannon on the breach, and of shells on the town, cause-way and island. At 8 o'clock on the morning of the 31st December, a strong column was seen rapidly advancing to the breach; our musketry several times checked the enemy; and the firm front and intrepid behaviour of the troops, in less than an hour, gained a complete victory.
The most bold of the enemy fell near the foot of the breach, and the mass of the column made a precipitate retreat.

The situation of the enemy's wounded, with which the ground was covered between his battery and our fire, where they must have inevitably perished, induced me, from motives of compassion, to hoist a flag of truce to carry them off. Some were brought into the place over the breach, but from the extreme difficulty attending this, I allowed the enemy to carry the remainder away.

Gen. Leval, the French commander in chief, expressed his acknowledgment for the conduct of the British and Spanish nations on this occasion, in the most feeling and grateful terms. We have made prisoners ten officers and 20 or 30 soldiers; the enemy's loss has been very severe. The column that attacked the breach was 2000 men, composed of all the grenadiers and voltiguers of the army.
The enemy invested this town on the 20th Dec. since which period, 1000 British and 7 or 800 Spanish troops, with only the defence of a wall, which appears to have been built as a defence against archery, and before the use of gun-powder, have resisted an army of 10,000 men, with a regular battering train of artillery, and have at last defeated and repulsed them. The wall of the town has the additional disadvantage of being commanded within half musket shot, and flanked or taken in reverse in almost every part.

The conduct of all the troops has been admirable, and that of Lt. Col. Gough, and the 2d battalion of the 87th regiment, exceeds all praise. Equal credit is due to the indefatigable exertions of captain Smith's royal engineers, to whom much of our success is due. I have on all occasions received the greatest assistance from the military experience and the great exertions of Lt. Col. Lord Proby, second in command.

We have to regret the loss of two officers killed, Lieut. Longley, Royal Engineers, and Lieut. Hall, 47th regiment. I have, &c.
(Signed) J. B. SKERRETT, col.

Tarifa, Jan. 5.

SIR—In my letter of the 1st inst. I had the honour to relate the particulars of our proceedings here, and of our victory at the breach. Since that period the enemy has kept up a partial fire, and the breach was yesterday completely open for the space of 25 or 30 yards.

From the movements of the enemy last night, I was induced to suppose he intended another assault, and the garrison waited in eager expectation to give him another proof of British valour. To our astonishment, this morning at day-light, the columns of the enemy were already at a distance, having taken advantage of a dark and stormy night to make a precipitate retreat, leaving in our possession all his artillery, ammunition, stores, &c. I immediately ordered major Broad, with a part of the 47th regiment to follow the enemy; he took possession of his artillery, wagons, and a quantity of stores, time enough to save them from the flames, the enemy having set fire to them. We have made some prisoners. From the number of dead found on the ground the enemy occupied, his loss on the whole must have been very great. Marshal Victor was present in the French camp to give orders for the retreat.

We have thus seen the greatest effort the French are capable of making frustrated by 1800 British and Spanish troops, with only the defence of a paltry wall; and an army of 10,000 men, commanded by a marshal of France, retreating from them silently in the night, after having been repulsed and defeated, leaving behind all their artillery and stores, collected at a great expense and by immense exertions.

I enclose a return of artillery and stores taken from the enemy. The unremitting vi-gillance and exertions, the zeal and intrepidity of every individual of the garrison, is above praise.

I have the honour to dispatch this by my aiding aid-de-camp, capt. O'Donoghue, of the 47th regiment, who is in possession of every information relative to my proceedings at this place, an officer of great merit and considerable length of service.

I have the honour to be, &c.
(Signed) J. B. SKERRETT, col.
To major-general Cooke, &c. &c.

[Here follows another letter from Colonel Skerrett, expressing his consideration of the unremitting exertions and great assistance afforded to the place by captains Dickson, Searle, Pell and Carroll, of the navy.]

[Then follows a despatch from Lieut. Genl.
Campbell, at Gibraltar, which after detailing the result of the enemy's attack, states their loss at 300 men in killed and wounded, besides 10 officers prisoners, many deserters, and a great number of sick, which are left without accommodation. Fifty deserters reached Algeiras on the 2d of January, in the most deplorable state, and assert that great numbers would come in but for the difficulty which they experience.]

[Next follow the letters of captain Dixon, and commodore Penrose. Nothing of importance is communicated by them which may not be found in the despatches from Colonel Skerrett.]

PLYMOUTH, FEB. 1.

The American ship Peace & Plenty, capt.
Hall, which it was feared had been lost on her passage from America to this port, arrived in Cawsand Bay on Monday last, from Wilmington N. Carolina, with a cargo of timber, sailed 56 days since, and came a running ship. Early on Monday morning she fell in with H. M's frigates Endymion and For-tunee, the Scilly islands then bearing S. W. distant about 4 miles, and was boarded by the latter. They were then in chase of two French frigates and a national brig that had previously chased the Fortunee into Cork, where the latter was joined by the Endymion, when both ships proceeded immediately in pursuit of the enemy's squadron.

On Thursday came in a very fine American schr. called the Spy, of 200 ton N. Y.
York, with a valuable cargo of sugar, coffee, &c. bound to Bourdeaux, Costegan, master, detained within 10 leagues of Bourdeaux, after a smart chase of 8 hours, by the Belle Poule and Dryad frigates; the former was left in chase of another American schr. which it was expected she would come up with.
