

LONDON, JULY 30.

Declaration of War by America.

The official intelligence of war having been declared by America against this country...

A cabinet council was held this morning on the dispatches, and was fitting when our paper was put to press.

The account of our revocation of the Orders in Council had not reached America.

On Thursday, July 30, 1812. My Lords and Gentlemen,

SPEECH Of the Lords Commissioners to both Houses of Parliament.

In terminating the present session of Parliament his Royal Highness the Prince Regent has commanded us to express to you the deep concern and sorrow which he feels at the continuance of his majesty's lamented indisposition.

His Royal Highness regrets the interruptions which have occurred in the progress of public business, during this long and laborious session, in consequence of an event which his royal highness must ever deplore.

The assistance which you have enabled his Royal Highness to continue to the brave and loyal nations of the Peninsula, is calculated to produce the most beneficial effects.

His Royal Highness most warmly participates in those sentiments of approbation which you have bestowed on the consummate skill and intrepidity displayed in the operations which led to the capture of the important fortresses of Ciudad Rodrigo and Badajoz, during the present campaign, and his Royal Highness confidently trusts, that the tried valor of the allied forces under the distinguished command of General the Earl of Wellington, combined with the unabating spirit and steady perseverance of the Spanish and Portuguese nations, will finally bring the contest in that quarter to an issue, by which the independence of the Peninsula will be effectually secured.

The renewal of the war in the North of Europe furnishes an additional proof of the little security which can be derived from any submission to the usurpations and tyranny of the French government.

His Royal Highness is persuaded, that you will be sensible of the great importance of the struggle in which the Emperor of Russia has been compelled to engage; and that you will approve of his Royal Highness affording to those powers who may be united in this contest, every degree of co-operation and assistance, consistent with the interests of his majesty's dominions.

His Royal Highness has commanded us to assure you, that he views with most sincere regret the hostile measures which have been recently adopted by the government of the United States of America towards this country.

His Royal Highness is nevertheless willing to hope that the accustomed relations of peace and amity between the two countries may yet be restored; but if his expectations in this respect should be disappointed by the conduct of the government of the U. States, or by their performance in any unwarrantable pretensions, he will most fully rely on the support of every class of his majesty's subjects, in a contest in which the honor of his majesty's crown, and the best interests of his dominions must be involved.

We have it in command from his Royal Highness to thank you for the liberal provision which you have made for the service of the year. H. R. H. deeply regrets the burthens which you have found it necessary to impose upon his majesty's people; but he applauds the wisdom which has induced you to largely to provide for the exigencies trials of all nations, who are engaged in the defense of the rights of mankind.

After Capt. HULL had retired, the Hon. Chairman gave the following sentiment: ISAAC HULL, Esquire, his Officers and Ship's Company—They have achieved a Victory not surpassed, in bravery and talent, by any precedent. We accord to them our highest esteem and most grateful acknowledgments—May service so signal, and merit so brilliant, be appreciated by the Government and Nation.

When the President of the day had retired the Hon. Mr. Dexter was called to the Chair—and the following Toasts were drank: The President of the day.

Mr. Dexter observed that he had taken the Chair in consequence of the retirement of the President of the Day, and that he knew of no remaining duties to perform, but however begged leave to propose one toast.

The Iron Colossus that bestrides the Continent of Europe—May the nations no longer be blasted with its shadow.

Which was received with great enthusiasm by the whole company.

By the arrangements of the Committee no volunteer toasts were allowed to be pronounced; but the honorable Chairman, in a short, but pertinent address, informed the company that the late President Adams, who was an invited guest, was unable, from his age and the inclemency of the weather, to attend and that he had communicated a number of sentiments to be drank on the occasion. The following toasts were then pronounced from the chair as coming from him.

May every Commodore in our American Navy soon be made an Admiral, and every Captain a Commodore; with ships and squadrons, worthy of their commanders, and worthy of the wealth, power and dignity of their country.

Proh Dolor! Proh Fudor! Talbot, Truxton, Decatur, Little, Preble—Had their country given them the means, they would have been Blakes, Drakes and Nelsons.

After the 5th Toast, the following Ode, written for the occasion by L. M. Sargent, Esq. was sung by Mr. Stebbins.

TUNE—"Ye Mariners of England."

Britannia's gallant streamers Float proudly o'er the tide; And fairly wave Columbia's stripes, In battle side by side.

And ne'er did bolder foemen meet, Where ocean's furies pour, O'er the tide, now they ride, While the bell'wing thunders roar, While the cannon's fire is flashing fast, And the bell'wing thunders roar.

When Yankee meets the Briton, Whole blood congenial flows, By Heaven created to be friends, By fortune render'd foes; Hard then must be the battle fray, Ere well the fight is o'er.

Now they ride, side by side, While the bell'wing thunders roar, While the cannon's fire is flashing fast, And the bell'wing thunders roar.

Still, still for noble England, Bold DACRES streamers fly; And, for Columbia gallant HULL's; As proudly and as high.

Now louder rings the battle din, More thick the volleys pour; Still they ride, side by side, While the bell'wing thunders roar, While the cannon's fire is flashing fast, And the bell'wing thunders roar.

Why lulls Britannia's thunder, That wak'd the war'ry war? Why slays that gallant Guerrier, Whole streamer wav'd to fair? That streamer drinks the ocean wave! That warrior's fight is o'er!

Still they ride, side by side, While Columbia's thunder roar, While her cannon's fire is flashing fast, And her Yankee thunders roar.

Hark! 'tis the Briton's lee gun! Ne'er bolder warrior kneel'd! And ne'er to gallant mariners Did braver seamen yield.

Proud be the fires, whole hardy boys Then fell to fight no more; With the brave, mid the wave, When the cannon's thunder roar, Their spirits then shall trin the blast, And swell the thunders roar.

Vain were the cheers of Britons, Their hearts did vainly swell, Where virtue, skill, and bravery, With gallant MORRIS fell.

That heart, so well in battle tried, Along the Moorish shores, Again o'er the main, When Columbia's thunder roar, Soall brave its Yankee spirit true, With Columbia's thunders roar.

Behold our floating bulwarks, And our mountain's yield; Bright Heaven's plain decree—To the war'ry field!

Our farthest barrier then, Whitt'ning fall shall pour; They'll ride o'er the tide, While Columbia's thunders roar, While her cannon's fire is flashing fast, And her Yankee thunders roar.

UNION NAVAL DINNER!

We have seldom been more pleased than to record and to celebrate, the splendid achievements of our countrymen, and it is therefore peculiarly grateful to us, to be able to announce an union of both political parties in the public dinner given on Saturday, at Faneuil Hall, to the gallant Capt. Hull, for his brilliant victory over the British frigate Guerriere. If any sound sentiment is more peculiar to the Federal party than another, it is this, that the only protection of commerce is a naval force. It was with great satisfaction, therefore, that they learned how completely the frigate Constitution had proved the truth of their position. Accordingly a sumptuous public entertainment was prepared at Faneuil Hall, which was splendidly decorated for the occasion. In State-street and Merchant's Row, through which the procession passed, naval flags were displayed; and the ships in the harbour hoisted their flags at the mast-head. A company of about 500, of the most respectable citizens of both parties moved from the Exchange Coffee-House to Faneuil Hall, at about half past 3 o'clock, in the following order, under the superintendance of Francis J. Oliver, Esq. as Chief Marshal.

ORDER OF PROCESSION.

Aid, Chief Marshal, Aid, G. Bathune. F. J. Oliver. R. G. Shaw. Committee of Arrangements.

Music. Marshal, Pres't of the Marshal Gen. Sullivan. day & Capt. J. Magee. Hull. Vice-Presidents.

N. Appleton. Marshals. N. Hale. Subscribers to the Dinner. A. Everett. Marshals. P. Upham.

The Hon. John Coffin Jones, was the President of the day; the Vice-Presidents were the hon. Samuel Dexter, hon. H. G. Otis, Tristram Barnard, esq. Thos. H. Perkins, esq. George Blake, esq. col. Daniel Messinger, hon. Daniel Sargeant.

The ornaments of the Hall were strictly naval, and confer great credit upon the taste of col. Sargeant, who superintended and designed them. The Dinner was excellent, well served and well attended; and was prepared by Mr. Jones of the Exchange Coffee House. After the dinner was concluded, the following sentiments were pronounced and received with universal approbation.

REGULAR TOASTS.

1st. The American nation—May danger from abroad ensue Union at home.

2. The President of the U. States.

3. The Governor of this Commonwealth.

4. Our infant Navy—We must nurture the young Hercules in his cradle, if we mean to profit by the labors of his manhood.

5. The Victory we celebrate—An invaluable proof that we are able to defend our rights on the ocean.

6. A speedy peace with the country of our ancestors, and until that event, a contest to be conducted as not to banish the recollection of past, or the hopes of future friendship.

7. No entangling alliance—We have suffered the injuries and insults of a despotism with patience, but its friendship is more than we can bear.

8. The gallant frigate Constitution—While ever disasters may happen to her spars and rigging, we are certain she will always remain safe and sound in her HULL.

The Hon. Chairman then proposed the following sentiment—"The memory of the gallant BUSA—Our tears like our joys, come from the heart."

9. The fourth Regiment of infantry—The valor and discipline which saved our army from the fury of savages, are crowned with laurels which misfortune cannot wither.

10. The Officers and Crews of our little Fleet—A galaxy of talent and courage;—Let their country afford the means and occasion, and they will requite their country by victory and honor.

11. Freedom to our Commerce—It asks thousands of millions and give millions for Revenue.

12. The memory of our Country's Father—May his spirit inspire our councils in war and in peace.

13. The American Eagle—Instead of walling his lightnings on the desert, may they be reserved for a nobler struggle on the deep.

14. A Free Press—The natural source of those rights, of which a navy is the surest defense.

15. Our National Union—Strict fidelity to the Nation in every State, and equal protection to the interests of every State by the power of the Nation.
