INTERESTING NARRATIVE.

Extract of a letter from Dr. Fairfield living at the Rapids of the Miami, to Mr. 75-seph Meacham, of Urbana, dated Aug.

22, 1812. On Monday, cap. Elliot arrived with a flag of truce and the bearer of the copy of the capitulation of Detroit. The troops evacuated the Fort at the River Raifin about 11 o'clock that evening, and at 12 I left there for this place; on Tuefday the inhabitants assembled at capt. David Hull's, for the purpose of agreeing on some plan, for the safety of our persons and property, no way could be devited by which we could think ourfelves secure in making a retreat, from savage cruelty. It was generally thought belt to fend a flag of truce to the officer commanding at the River Raisin, and with him to make some arrangements, to keep back the favages till we could retreat in fafety; confidering our-felves as prisoners of war; and according to the capitulation, not to take up arms against them during the contest, otherwise to remain and be protested by their slag. By the earnest intreaties of the inhabitants, I affented to go with the flag of truce; and on Wednelday I started accompanied by capt. David Hull and two Frenchmen, who spoke Wiandot and Ottawa tongue fluently. On our arrival at the River Raisin, we found that capt. Elliot had embarked for Amhersifburg and the inhabitants lest on parole of honour, as prisoners of war. About 9 o'clock on Thursday morning from one hundred and fifty to two hundred Indians arrived from Brown'stown, confissing of the following tribes, viz. Wiandots, Ottawas, Shawanese, Delawares, Siaux, Winabagnes, Chippawas, Potawata. mies and a few of the Cherckees, four or ten chiefs of each tribe. They were under the command of Tecumseh (brother to the Prophet) who had the appellation of a General They were attended by Col. Elliot and capt. M'Kee of the Indian department, about 20 private characters from Malden; and all under the immediate command of maj. Chambers, of his majesty's 41st reg. They made a halt opposite to my lodging. It stantly made myself and business known to co. Elliot. He gave very short answers to my questions. He said he had no arrangements to make or protection to give; that the bulinels was fettled on the 16th inft. As I was passing by an Indian chief (whom I recognised to be a Wiandot by the name of Walk in the Water) he raised the tomahawk over my head, took off my hat and gave a straw one in return. He looked at me with a savage grin, too horrid for any to face. An Indian was about to take the life of capt. Hull, but was prevented by Mr. John Baitlis (a merchant at Malden)—I was placed in a fimilar fituation, but male myself known to a friend, by whom I was placeted and used as a brother, we however found it necessary to secret ourselves in a barn under some sheafs of grain, and there remained about two hours, by which time the Indians were in some measure dispersed and our friends at liberty, who again took us under their protection. Almost every American family fuffered greatly. Among the number was col. John Anderion. The favages stripped his house and store of every article except one trunk, which Mrs. Anderfon secreted at the risk of her life. The property which they took from col. Anderson was 1000 dollars, in cash. All the Canadians who held commissions under our government or who were in any way employed fuffered. Among those was Mr. Gabriel Godfrey, jun. contractor's agent of that place, from whom they plundered every thing visible in his house. They also took from Mr. Godfrey's a portmanteau belonging to me, containing in bank bills and notes about 1,300 dolls. and many other papers very valuable to me. I am now entirely destitute of a change of apparel and of every means to procure any. I am fatisfied; if my days are prolonged, I will seek my redress with the second army. The fort at the River Raifin was demolished by fire. The most of the favages after loading their horfes with plunder, and stealing every horse that was to be found, returned to Brown's-town-the public flores were taken to Malden in gun-boats. On Friday morning three gun-boats were fent to the Rapids for public flores; capt. Hull was put on board. I accompanied major Chambers by land. On our arrival at this place discovered Fort Miami on fire, which was foon demolished, about 30 Indians were bufily employed in plundering from almost every family except the French-they all left the Rapids on Friday evening-only one murder was committed, which was a Frenchman shot through mistake. (One of their own party.) This place will be wholly evacuated by the Americans on to-morrow, the most of them will go by water to Cleaveland-I have not yet determined which way to go; about 50 who pretended to be friendly Ottawas held a council with me this afternoon. Nawash the little chief made a long talk, agreed the conduct of his brethren, &c. and wished to be represented to his Great Father. After presenting his Wampum and receiving assurances that his request should be complied with, they were loaded with provisions, drank their whifkey, departed, and instantly went to stealing horses and committing other de-predations.
