MARYLAND GAZETTE—EXTRA.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, DEC. 30, 1813.

Highly Important INTELLIGENCE.

This morning arrived in our harbour, the British three masted schr. Bramble, flag vessel, 40 days from Falkmouth. By a gentleman who landed from the schooner, we have been politely favoured with the following extracts from London papers to the 6th November, which were on board the vessel, and hasten to lay them before our readers.

Despatches for government were landed, and immediately forwarded to Washington.

Bavaria has declared in favour of Russia—Dresden has fallen—A grand illumination throughout England between the 6th and 10th Nov.

EXTRACTS From London Papers to November 6. DECISIVE DEFEAT OF BUONAPARTE.

With the loss of 82,000 men, 180 pieces of cannon, Leipsic taken, &c. First battle—After a hard and sanguinary action, which continued for some hours, Ney was defeated with the loss of 12,000 men.

Second battle—This battle, fought on the same day as the first, was equally well contested and bloody. But at length Buonaparte succeeded in breaking through the centre of the Prince of Schwartzburg's army, by bringing up the whole of his cavalry, under Murat. The allies then brought up their reserve, and drove Buonaparte back upon the point he occupied before he pierced the Prince of Schwartzburg's centre—The battle terminated at night, and both armies remained in sight of each other, without either having gained any material advantage—On the 17th October they prepared for the more important battle that was to take place on the next day.

Third battle—On the 18th the allies having collected and concentrated all their forces under the Crown Prince and Blucher, and the Prince of Schwartzburg, attacked Buonaparte in all his positions—He fought with the determination, the desperation, that a man may be supposed to have, who feels that his crown perhaps depends upon the issue of the conflict—But his obstinacy, his talents, his skill, were unavailing. He was defeated with the loss of 40,000 men, and nearly 200 pieces of cannon.

Leipsic stormed, without giving the enemy a day's respite. The allies advanced to Leipsic the day after their glorious victory, and after a most bloody resistance took it by storm, with 30,000 prisoners, a great number of cannon, ammunition, &c. &c.

Thus in four days, Buonaparte's army was reduced one half, a more rapid and enormous loss than he sustained in the same space of time even in his calamitous campaign in Russia.

Loss on 16th, by Ney,	12,000
do. 18th, by Buonaparte,	40,000
do. 19th, storming Leipsic,	30,000
Total	82,000

Driven from Leipsic, Buonaparte attempted to retreat by Erfurth, the direct road to the Rhine. He failed—the road was already occupied by his conquerors. His retreat to Erfurth was cut off. He then, with the wreck and remnant of his army, took the road towards Brunswick, thus removing further from his resources and his reinforcements. The allies are in pursuit of him, and he is destined, we trust, to experience fresh disasters and defeats.

The last dispatch from Sir Charles Stuart, is dated at Leipsic, Oct. 19th from which the following are extracts.

“Europe at length approaches her deliverance, and England may triumphantly look forward to reap, in conjunction with her allies, that glory her unexampled and steady efforts in the common cause so justly entitles her to receive.”

“I wish it had fallen to the lot of some abler pen to detail to your Lordships the splendid events of these two last days; but in endeavouring to relate the main facts, to send them off without a moments delay, I shall best do my duty, postponing more detailed accounts until a first opportunity.”

“The victory of Gen. Blucher, upon the 16th, has been followed, on the 18th, by that of the whole of the combined forces over the army of Buonaparte in the neighbourhood of Leipsic.”

“The collective loss of above 100 pieces of cannon. Sixty thousand men, an immense number of prisoners, the desertion of the whole Saxon army, also the Bavarian and Wurtemberg troops, consisting of artillery, cavalry, and infantry, many generals, among whom are Regnier, Vallery, Brune, Bertrand and Lauriston, are some of the first fruits of this glorious day.”

“The capture, by assault, of the town of Leipsic, this morning, the magazines, artillery, and stores, of the place, with the king of Saxony, and all his court, the garrison and rear guard of the French army, all the enemy's wounded, (the number of which exceed 30,000 men,) the narrow escape of Buonaparte, who fled from Leipsic at 9 o'clock, the allies entering at 11 o'clock; the complete overthrow (derout) of the French army, who are endeavoring to escape in all directions, and who are still surrounded, are the next objects of exultation.”

“The further result your lordship can but arrive at from an account of our military positions.

Here follows an account of the situation of the allied armies.

P. S. To the above dispatch, On the field of battle this day, an officer arrived from Gen. Tottenborn, bringing the information of the surrender of Bremen to the corps under his orders and keys of the town, which were presented by the Prince Royal to the Emperor of Russia.
Signed, C. STEWART.
