For the Maryland Casette The following lines, compiled for the becasion, were read at the late. Twelith Night Coronation, in this elty, in conformity with long esta-blished usage.]

ADDRESS TO THE QUEEN. In indee days of early time, In proud Derri's snany clime, When Chivalry and Knighthood strove "To win the boon of Woman's Love," Were tilt and tournament display'd, In honour of some lovely Maid: And tilt and tournament, alone, Could honour her who fill'd the throne For valiant deeds of high emprize, Could charmine en lovely woman test

But chivalry hath pass'd away, Succeeded by more polish'd day; And woman now, finds no delight In tournament, or listed fight; More tender scenes her heart engage, Than mailed Knight and humble Page

For what the modern time no more Sees Damsel sigh or Knight adore : What, though no Knight is seen to die Benerth the scorn of Woman's eye;

Yet many a secret sigh is given
To her, "the last hest gift of Fleaven"—
And many a youth, in love's sweet hour.
Still owns the force of Woman's power
Then, Queen of Beauty, oft to thee,
Mast suppliant youth, on bended knee, His warm impassion'd tale impurt, And own thy empire o'er his heart: So be that empire love's mild reign, Thy only fetters love's bright chain ; Far those blue eyes, whose sunny light Bearns so screne and sweetly bright, With lastre so divinely clear, As never dimm'd by sorrow's tear; That rose stain'd cheek, and forehead

Which seem as the' the winter gale Or summer sun had never seen, Proclaim thee beauty's lovely Queen. But the' our sov'reign here you be, Yet live simil even reign o'er thee ; And then shall many a raptur'd hour Own love's joy dispensing power; When kindred hearts responsive sigh, In soul subduing harmony.

ADDRESS TO THE KING. Partune, capricious of her gift, Delights the varied scene to shift, And mise the low degree; Strips Grandenr of her gry extremes, And, whilst the last year's favirite dreams. Transfers his Crown to thee She bids thee guide in Pashion's sphere, And reign o'er Fashion's World a year And then the gift resign;

So thou art our liege sov reign King. Whether install'd by crown or ring, Though not by right divine. Forget then all affairs of state.

Aud matters which concern the great; Lay politics aside-And shew the world that you can be The very pink of gallantry, Whilst o'er us you preside.

> Adjutant General's Office. H.Q. Montreal, Dec. 12. 1515.5 GENERAL ORDER.

His excellency the governor in chief and commander of the forces, has to announce to the troops under his command, that he has received a communication from major general Wilkinson, commanding a division of the army of the U. States of America, by order of his governments of which the following is an extract:

"The government of the U.S. adhering unalterably to the principle and purpose declared in the communication of gen. Dearborn to you, on the subject of the 23 American soldiers, prisoners of war, sent to E gland to be tried as criminals; and the confinement of a like number of British soldiers, prisoners of war, selected to abide the fate of the former, has, in consequence of the step taken by the British government, as now communicated, ordered 46 British officers into close confinement, and that they will not be discharged from their confinement until it shall be known that the 46 American officers and non-commissioned officers in question are no longer confined.'

It would be superfluous to use any argument to refute an assumption so extravagant, unjust, & unprecedented, as to deny the right of a free nation to bring to legal trial, in a due course of law, her own natural born subjects taken in the actual commission of the most heinnus offence that man can commit against his ting, his country, and his God, that of raising his parricide arm against his allegrance to his countrymen, by leaguing with their enemies, a crime held in such abhorrence by every civilized nation in Europe, that summary death by the law martial, is its avowed reward, and is inflicted with unrelenting secrety by France, the ally of the U. States. This pretension riust appear to every unprejudiced and upright mind, as iniquitous and unjust, as is the retaliation which the government of the U. S. has adapteil, hy placing in close confinetent 23 British soldiers, as hostages to ap equal number of infamous wreches, the unworthy offspring of

G. Britain amha, when alrema leom He ranks of the enumy, aglicited to be suffered to explicto their treason by turning their arms against their recent employers. These rebels have, with the contempt they merit, beer consigued to the infamy and punish-ment that awaits them from the just laws of their offended country; while the government of the U.S. does not blush to claim these outcast traitors us their own, and outrage the custom of civilized war, in the persons of honorable men, by placing them on a pay with rebels and descr-

Notalternative remains to the com mander of the forces, in the discharge of his duty to his king, his country and his fellow soldiers, but to order all the American officers, prisoners of war, without texception of rank. to be immediately placed in close confinement, as hostages for the 46 British o wers so confined, by the express commands of the supreme authority in that country, until the number of 46 be completed, over & above those now in confirement. His excellency directs that this general order, together with that issued on the 27th October, be read to the troops, that the British soldier may be sensible of the terms on which America has determined to wage this war; confident that he will meet them with proper spirit and indignation; for should be become the prisoner of a foe so regardless of those laws which for ages have governed civilized nations in war, he would be doomed to a rigorous confinement, and that perhaps only preparatory to a more savage scene.

DISTRESSING INTELLIGENCE. An express arrived fast evening with despatches for the governor, from whom we have received the distressing intelligence, that the villages of Buffalo and Black Rock were desiro; ed by the British on Thursday, the 30th ult .- that Mrs. Lovejoy, whose husband was serving in the militia was murdered by the Indians or British-that col. Chapin was taken prisoner-that maj. gen. Hali had retreated, and had his head quarters at eleven mile creek-that gen. M'Clure had retired to his residence accompanied by about 150 regulars, as a sefeguard to cover his retreat from an exasperated populace. The enemy, after burning and plundering Buffalo, again returned to Black Rock, with the intention as was supposed of re-crossing the ri-

Our informant also adds, that there were four small schooners at Bustalo Creek, which had been used as gun boats, had fallen into the hands of the enemy and were destroyed.

A vessel from Carthagena is in this river: she had a long passage. The following is the verbal intelligence s'ie brings, a friend has promised to let us have the papers which contain

Sr. Martha still held out, but continued to be invested by sea and by land. Caraccas, Coro, Santa Fe and the whole province of Venezuela, had again declared themselves in favor of independence. A vessel belonging to the station of St. Martha, had captured a ship and a brig war, and a merchant vessel from Spiin, loaded with a supply of arms and ammunition for that place, and carrying besides 600 troops. The cunning Carthagenian having at first captured the merchant vessel, seized the Spanish signals and hoisted the Insurgent's flag under that of Spain, made signals for reinforce. ments from the two other vessels, who sent their boats to her aid .-The Carthagenian captain immedistely took hold of the men, and successfully attacked the two vessels and succeeded in taking them both. The gentleman who gives this infermation adds that the Spanish officers taken on board those vessels, having spoken in an abusive manner against the Carthagenian government had been loaded with chains, and that he had seen them dressed in their uniform, and work-slaves General Labatut, had been replaced in the command of the military forces by general Pesniers lately arrived from Europe.

The insurgents have at length seized on Acapulco, one of the finest ports on the Pacific Ocean, and perhaps the only safe harbor in Mexico -it is eminently situated for commerce with the east, and was once famous for its annual galloons to Manilla. It appears that Morellos, after aving secured his posts in the southern provinces, and organized a powerful army, found himself sufficiently strong to detach several corps to intercept the communication be-tween Vera Cruz and Mexico.
