PEACE OF MIND—By Cowper.

When all within is peace,
How nature seems to smile!

Delights that never cease,
The live-long day beguile.

From morn to dewy eve,
With open hand she showers Fresh blessings to deceive And soothe the silent hours.

It is content of heart Gives nature power to please
The mind that feels no smart, Enlivens all it sees;

Can make a wintry sky Seem bright as smiling May,
And evening's closing eye,
As peep of early day.

The vast majestic globe,
So beautifully array'd
In nature's various robes,
With wondrous skill displa;

Is to a mourner's heart,
A dreary wild at best;
It flutters to depart,
And longs to be at rest.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY

JONAS GREEN,
NEW-YORK-STREET, ANNAPOLIS.

From the United States Gazette

ADDRESS OF THE NEW-JERSEY CONVENTION.

We published in our Gazette of yesterday the address of the convention of the friends of peace in the state of New-Jersey.

We earnestly recommend this address to the attention, the consideration, and reconsideration of every friend to his country of whatever party. It is one of the ablest state papers which has for a length of time come under the public notice.
It is calm—it is plain—it is energetic—it is true—it pours rays in the strongest colours the character of the WASHINGTON policy; the efffects of that policy; the happiness which would have attended a continuance of it; the artifices by which it was subverted; the rival policy of Jefferson and Madison; the means by which it has been supported; and the dreadful result in which it has eventuated. Let any man dispassionately read this address, let him remember "the wide extended and substantial happiness enjoyed by the American people, flowing from the policy of Washington and those whom he loved and honoured with his confidence; let him contrast with it "the scene of weakness and deplorable misrule, unfolded by a view of the present legislative executive conduct"—let him review "the mass of political intrigue, im-becility and corruption," by which this change has been effected—let him do this, and if he does not exclaim in the language of the address, "Give us back PEACE and the honest policy of WASHINGTON," it must be because he is wilfully blind or obsti-nately wicked.

This address deserves consideration, not only from its internal excellence and worth, but from the character of the men who issue it.— It is not the production of a newspaper editor, however respectable.— It is not the effusion of an anyomous essayist—it is not the har-rangue of a town meeting declaimer.— It is the sober, considerate, and solemn declaration of the wisest, the ablest, and the best men of one of the most pure and virtuous states in the union—of men selected from every county in the state—selected on account of their wisdom and their patriotism—of men who were honoured with the confidence of the people in those happier days which are now past forever—of men, some of whom fought with WASHINGTON in the field—others of whom aided him in Council in the times when Hamilton, and Jay, and Knox, and Ames, and Elsworth, and Pickering, and Pinck
