The following is a copy of a let-that place, now in this city, received this morning, dated

"Herkimer, Oct. 4—9 A. M.
SIR,
"An express has this moment arrived from Sackett's Harbor. You are to march with your regiment immediately. The enemy are in sight and an attack is expected momentarily."
P. S. The rumor here (Albany) is, that at the last dates an attack had commenced; and that it was made by land and water.
Yours, &c.

"I have this moment learnt, from a source which may be depended on, that an express has just arrived from the Harbor, with information, that that place was invested by the British, both by water and land; that the militia were called out en masse; and that great fears were entertained for the safety of the place. Such is the information just given to me, by a gentleman in whom I place the most implicit confidence."

SACKETT'S HARBOR, Oct. 1.
"We have no important news for you at this place. Our fleet were seen off the Ducks last evening.
The enemy's fleet will be out in a few days, when you may expect to hear of an engagement, as it is generally believed our commodore will give them a chance of trying their luck on this lake. I annex you an extract statement of the forces of the two fleets, by this you will perceive that we are considerably behind the enemy in guns, but our officers and men are undoubtedly superior to the enemy."

Arrival of the John Adams.
The United States corvette John Adams, Samuel Angus, esq. commander, arrived here last night in 36 days from the Texel. Mr. G.
Dallas, secretary to Mr. Gallatin, arrived in this ship, and is the bearer of despatches. Mr. D. left town this morning for Washington.
The British commissioners had arrived at Ghent, and the first conference with our commissioners took place on the 8th of Aug. From that time the conferences were continued almost daily. We do not learn any thing decisive has taken place.
We have been obligingly favoured with Dutch papers to the 28th, and London to the 19th of August, from which we have hastily selected the following articles:—
The French national brig Olivier, 19 days from New York, has arrived in France. The U. S. sloop of war Wasp, was also in France.
The Peacock sloop was cruising on the coast of France and England, and had made several captures. We are informed that the John Adams was boarded by two British gunbrigs, in pursuit of the Peacock.
Bernadotte had defeated the Norwegians, and obliged them to surrender Norway, according to treaty between Sweden and Denmark.
Extract of a letter from Amsterdam, dated Aug. 24, to a respectable house in this city.
"The negotiations at Ghent between the English and American commissioners, which suffered a temporary interruption, have recommenced, and are now continued, though nothing is known as to the probable results, which is awaited with all that interest which its importance even to Europe inspires.
In this country, it is the general wish that a peace may soon be concluded; until that event, the commercial world will not be restored to quietness.
"Our markets and exchange on hand experience from day to day, great fluctuations. Exchange on London, which had been as high as 36, 10, is again down to 34, and apparently falling more. This affords one of the many proofs that trade is yet unsettled."

Courant of Aug. 27, for the N.

BRUSSELS, AUG. 23.
They write from Ghent, that the intendant of the department of the Scheldt, has given a magnificent entertainment to the English and American envoys, who were in that city negotiating for a peace.
GHENT, AUG. 22.
Since the conversation which Ld.
Castlereagh, first minister of H. B.
M. has had with the American envoys, and after the return of a courier from London, the negotiations of the congress have recommenced, which had been suspended, and are continued with activity. Mr. Dallas, one of the secretaries of the American legation, went yesterday to the Texel, with despatches for his government, and is to embark on board an American ship for America.
There is every hope, that the conferences will have a speedy and favourable issue.
Lord Castlereagh proceeded last Saturday to Brussels, with a suit of 20 carriages, he is to wait there ten days, and proceed to Paris on his way to Vienna.

Madison and private secretary to Mr. Gallatin, arrived in this city which had not come out. L. Dick-out of the militia was only a measure of precaution." Mr. Adm.

By the arrival of the steam-boat Car of Neptune, at an early hour from Albany, this morning, the aspect of our affairs on L. Ontario is entirely changed from the last reports. Verbal accounts say, that the large ship could not get over the bar off Kingston harbor, and that Chauncey therefore, still continued the blockade; & that the calling out the militia to repair to Sackett's Harbor, was a preparatory or precautionary measure. The general import of the news is also favourable. Col.

CAPT. BLAKELY'S CRUIZE.
Copy of a letter from Captain Johnson Blakely to the Secretary of the Navy.
U. S. Sloop Wasp,
L'Orient, 8th July, 1814.
SIR,
On Tuesday the 28th ult being then in lat. 41, 36, N. and long. 11, 15, W. we fell in with, engaged, and after an action of 19 minutes, captured his B. M. sloop of war the Reindeer, William Manners, Esq. commander. Annexed are the minutes of our proceeding on that day prior to and during the continuance of the action.
Where all did their duty and each appeared anxious to excel, it is very difficult to discriminate. It is, however, only rendering them their merited due, when it is declared of Lt.
Reily and Bury, 1st and 3d of this vessel, and whose names will be found among those of the conquerors of the Guerriere and Java; and of Mr. Tillinghast, 2nd Lieut. who was greatly instrumental in the capture of the Boxer; that their conduct and courage on this occasion fulfilled the highest expectation and gratified every wish. Sailing Master Carr is also entitled to great credit for the zeal and ability with which he discharged his various duties.
The cool and patient conduct of every officer and man while exposed to the fire of the shifting gun of the enemy and without an opportunity of returning it, could only be equalled by the animation and ardor exhibited when actually engaged, or by the promptitude & firmness with which every attempt of the enemy to board was met and successfully repelled. Such conduct may be seen, but cannot well be described.
The Reindeer mounted 16 24 lb. carronades, 2 long 6 or 9 pounders, & a shifting 12 lb. carronade, with a complement of on board 118 men.
Her crew were said to be the pride of Plymouth.
Our loss in men has been severe, owing in part to the proximity of the two vessels and the extreme smoothness of the sea, but chiefly in repel-ling boarders. That of the enemy, however, was infinitely more so as will be seen by the list of killed and wounded on both sides.
Six round shot struck our hull, & many grape, which did not penetrate far. The foremost received a 24th shot, which passed through its centre, and our rigging and sails were a good deal injured.
The Reindeer was literally cut to pieces in a line with her ports; her upper works, boats and spare spars were one complete wreck. A breeze springing up next afternoon her foremast went by the board.
Having received all the prisoners on board, which from the number of wounded occupied much time, together with their baggage, the Reindeer was on the evening of the 29th set on fire, and in a few hours blew up.
I have the honour to be very respectfully, your most obedient servant,
J. BLAKELY,
Hon. William Jones, Secretary of the Navy.

From the Federal Gazette.
We would willingly indulge the idea that a favourable change took place at Ghent, and that the negotiations were resumed with a prospect of success, after the date of the letter from which, in part, our information is stated yesterday, was derived. But we cannot find any cause or ground for hope, that any such change had taken place. The Prince Regent's speech, on which some slight hopes were founded was made on the 30th July, and it was on the 19th August that a courier arrived express at Ghent with those propositions as the ultimatum of the British cabinet, which our commissioners considered so utterly inadmissible as to reject them without hesitation.
We understand that it was required on the part of the British government, that their right to search our vessels for their seamen, and to take them wherever found, should be explicitly acknowledged; that a new boundary line should be established which would cede to them a part of the state of New-York, a part of Massachusetts, and the exclusive navigation of the Lakes; that we should relinquish all right to the fisheries, and that the independence and security of the Indians should be guaranteed. Such is stated to be the outline of the propositions, of its correctness we are not certain; but if truly stated, it must be evident that the British government had entirely abandoned the idea of making peace on such terms as we could think honourable to both parties.
The messenger who brought the dispatches from our ministers, had remained at Ghent several days after the arrival of the courier from London; if any change had taken place during that time, the writer of the letter abovementioned would certainly have used the opportunity to communicate it. We fear, therefore, that there is now no hopes of a peace being concluded, until at least another campaign has added to the distress of our suffering country.

Valuable Lands for Sale.
The subscriber is authorised to dispose of at private sale, all that tract of land, formerly the property of Richard Chew, and lately of John Muir, Esq. deceased, consisting of 1095 acres, situated in Anne-Arundel county, lying on the Chesapeake Bay, and forms the mouth of Herring Bay; twenty miles from Annapolis, fifty from Baltimore, and thirty-five from the City of Washington. This land is rich and fertile as any on the Chesapeake, affords the most luxuriant pasturage, has a large proportion of meadow land, and the greatest abundance of fire wood and timber, and for ship building the best timber on the Chesapeake may be had on this land. The situation is healthy, and as beautiful a prospect as any on the Bay, a good harbour, and the waters lying round the land afford the greatest abundance of excellent fish, crabs, oysters, and wild fowl. The very convenient situation of this land must be obvious to every person wishing to purchase, as the wood, timber, and the whole product of the land, can be removed from thence by water, and that in a few hours, to the markets of Annapolis and Baltimore.
A more minute description of this valuable property is thought unnecessary, as any person wishing to purchas-can view the same by applying to Dr.
Richard T. Hall, who resides thereon, or to Mr. Philemon L. Chew, who lives within a few miles of it. Terms will be made known on application to
