

No one particular in our history is more interesting to the young generation which has sprung into being since the establishment of our country's independence, than that which arrayed a portion of our countrymen in hostility to the other. By a litigant of our Father, let us not shrink with no less resolution than our fathers and our home!

"Almighty God—We beseech thee, that thou art never displeased with the expression of praise which is due to us, therefore, it becoming us on this solemn occasion, to notice with tender affection, the respectable, and patriotic person, to whose fatigable labours, we, of this city, are chiefly indebted for the first Monumental Stone sacred to the memory of the Father of his Country. In all patriotic offices, and public works promotive of the best of earth, virtue, benevolence, liberty—grant that his example be universally imitated with reverence and an enthusiasm worthy of the American citizen.

"Sovereign of Nations—Almighty Creator—God of the spirit of all flesh—Father of our Saviour—by whose divine permission we are united in these exercises—we beseech thee, to our thanksgiving and supplications, and favourably, in much mercy, be pleased to answer them Amen.

Men, brethren and fellow-citizens, Jehovah bless you, and keep you, Jehovah make his face to shine upon you, and be gracious, Jehovah lift up his countenance and give you peace!

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen. Music. First solemn, then national. Grand salute of 100 guns, band playing Yankee Doodle. The whole ceremonies of the day were concluded by three volleys of the whole line of infantry.

Our evening sky was beautifully bespangled by rockets thrown from the Java Frigate and from the Marine Battalion Howard, in the Park. They rose in a brilliant line of fire, and forming a graceful arch, broke into stars as they descended. Divine Providence seemed to smile on the occasion; the air was delightfully cool, and the firmament serene. The evening silence and tranquility that closed the joyful turbulence of the day, formed a striking contrast, and seemed to display the brevity of pleasure which the solemnity of the occasion demanded.

By His Excellency LEWIS ER, Esq. Governor of Maryland. A PROCLAMATION. WHEREAS it has been satisfactorily represented to me, that a certain SENECA PAGE, who was indicted at the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Goal Delivery for Baltimore County, for forcing his way into the County, and whereas it is the duty of the executive, in the exercise of the laws; to endeavour to bring malefactors to justice. I have therefore thought proper to issue this proclamation, and do by and with the advice and consent of the Council, TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD, to any person or persons who shall apprehend and bring to justice the said Seneca Page. Given under my hand and the seal of the State of Maryland this 10th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifteen.

By His Excellency's command, NINIAN PINKNEY, Clerk of the Court. July 6.

ment to foreign governments, and with that sage reflection of our great political father always in mind, that that nation which indulges a partiality for one foreign power in preference to another, becomes in some measure, its slave; have endeavoured to establish a character which Americans should only be desirous of establishing, of being devoted friends to their own republican institutions. They opposed embargoes, and restrictions on commerce, because they believed them, as experience proved, injurious only to ourselves; and they opposed the war because they believed it unnecessary. True our military and naval character stands higher than they did before, but has administration obtained one ostensible object for which war was declared? No—They have accumulated a debt upon the country, and imposed heavy taxes on the people, to support a war for "free trade and sailors rights;" but in the treaty of peace they are entirely forgotten. Look at these things, fellow-citizens, and then ask yourselves whether the faith are any longer entitled to your confidence, or their advocates worthy your support and suffrages?

New-York, July 3. Another Brilliant Naval Victory, achieved by the United States Sloop of War Hornet, Captain Biddle. For the following particulars of this brilliant action, the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser are indebted to the arrival at this port yesterday morning of the U. S. brig Tom Bowline, capt. Carleton, from a cruise in the Pacific Ocean.

The Tom Bowline sailed from this port on the 13th of Jan. in company with the late U. S. frigate President, and sloop of war Hornet & Peacock, and private armed merchant brig Macedonian, and parted company with the Hornet on the third day out, and did not fall in with her again, until the 24th of March, off the Island of Tristan de Cunha. When they first made her, she had in company the British sloop of war Penguin, her prize, and apprehending the Peacock and Tom Bowline were British cruisers, she scuttled her. The following are the particulars of the action, furnished by Lt. Brownlow, of the marines, belonging to the Hornet, who has in charge the colours of the Penguin, and despatches for government. On the 23d of March, off the Island of Tristan de Cunha, the Hornet, capt. Biddle, rated 18 and mounting 20 guns, (18 32 pound carronades, and two long 12's) fell in with H. M.'s sloop of war Penguin, rated 18 and mounting 21 guns (18 32 pound carronades, 2 long 12's) one 12lb. carronade on the fore-castle, and 2 brass swivels in her tops, with a crew of 158 men; and after an action of 22 minutes succeeded in capturing her with the loss on board the Hornet of only one man killed and eleven wounded—The loss on board the Penguin was 17 killed, including the captain and boatswain and 28 wounded.

Lieut. Brownlow informs us that about a minute after the Penguin struck the Hornet, and the action had ceased, a shot was fired from the Penguin, which wounded captain Biddle severely in the neck, but from which wound he was fast recovering. The Penguin was much shattered having 33 round shot in her hull, and her foremast shot away 4 feet above deck, and low-sprit close to the night-heads. The Hornet came off with the loss of her spanker boom carried away by a round shot, and several grape in her hull. During the engagement, Lt. Conner of the Hornet was wounded in the hand and thro' the thigh, and in that situation remained on deck till the battle was over, pre-emptorily refusing to be carried below. The day after the action the Tom-Bowline in company with the Peacock fell in with the Hornet and then put into the Island of Tristan de Cunha, on the Brazils, where they remained twenty days, and then made a cartel of the Tom-Bowline and sent her with the prisoners to St. Salvador, where they were landed. Before the Tom-Bowline left Tristan de Cunha, captain Biddle had nearly recovered from his wound so as to be considered out of danger. The Hornet spoke a neutral vessel two or three days before the action, who informed of the Peace, but captain Biddle did not believe it. The Tom-Bowline did not hear of the peace until she arrived at St. Salvador.

Mediterranean Squadron sailed. Boston, July 3. The Squadron for the Mediterranean sailed yesterday, consisting of the following vessels, viz. Independence, 74, Com. Bainbridge, Capt. Crane. Erie, sloop, Capt. Ridgely, Chippewa, brig, Lt. Com'dr. Reid. Lynx, schr. Lt. Storer. The squadron has been detained some days past, in consequence of the Independence having been on trial, found rather crank with the heavy metal she had on board, which consisted of all 32 pounders—90 guns; long guns on the middle and lower deck, and carronades on the upper. The lower deck guns were cast considerably heavier than those on the middle deck, and have been taken out, and their place supplied by those on middle deck; and the middle deck has been supplied with 24 pounders in lieu of the former, which change has lightened her about 50 tons. The pilots left the squadron at half past 2 P. M. about 5 leagues from the light house, under a press of sail, standing to the eastward, with a good breeze at W. N. W. The Independence outtailed the remainder of the squadron, and spared them her light sails.—Success attend them.

CINCINNATI, June 16. On Tuesday evening last Mr. Uriah Rose left this place on his return to his residence 9 or 10 miles from Brookville, accompanied by Mr. Cooms, one of his neighbours aged about 66, two of his daughters, two of his nieces and little son about 14 years of age, in a wagon. On arriving at Millcreek about 11-2 miles from this place, he found it considerably raised, but not sufficiently apprised of its depth, attempted to cross. The foremost horses had just got in the water, when he discovered their danger; but it was too late—all were immediately afloat and swept with the current. The old gentleman, Mr. William Cooms, one daughter, Anna Rose, and one niece Phoebe Rose were drowned. The boy caught hold on some drift wood about 80 yards below, and there, with unusual presence of mind saved the other two, by catching the hand of one just discernible and the garment of the other as they floated by. The whole team were drowned and every thing lost.

From the Susquehanna Democrat, of June the 30th. TORNADO.

On Monday last the town of Orwell, Bradford county, was visited by a violent tornado. Large trees were broken off, and many carried into the air—some were supposed to be nearly half an hour before they struck the ground. A school house was thrown down and the logs scattered about. A new house of Mr. Luther Chaffe, was carried from its foundation, thrown completely over, and left standing on the roof. Old logs carried from their beds several rods and the timber scattered in every direction.—The extent of the damage was not known when our informant came away, but supposed to be considerable.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8. DARING ROBBERY.

On Thursday evening last, about 8 o'clock, a gentleman of this city returning to town with his lady in a gig, on the Germantown turnpike, between the first and second gates was met by two foot pads, one of whom seized his horse by the bridle and the other presented a pistol to his breast and demanded his pocket book. Upon being informed that it contained nothing of value, he demanded his watch which was delivered, and then the ruffians departed and permitted the gentleman to proceed.

When it is considered that this outrage was committed upon the most public turnpike leading to the city, less than a mile from the thickly built parts of the Northern suburbs, and within call of eight or ten dwellings, its audacity is almost unexampled, and indicates that the perpetrators of it must be possessed of no ordinary degree of contempt for the authority of the laws.

Extract from a letter received at New-York, dated Paris, April 29. "The horrors of war are again about to visit this unfortunate country, and doubtless, the consequence will be the second and final fall of Buonaparte."

The first part of the Homilies appeared in the reign of Edward the sixth, and is supposed to have been written by Cranmer, as assisted by Latimer. The second part, published early in the reign of queen Elizabeth, is attributed chiefly to Bishop Jewell. A copy of these homilies was given to every parish priest in the kingdom, who was commanded to read them diligently and distinctly, that they might be understood by the people. These discourses have ever been considered as containing the most unexceptionable summary of doctrinal knowledge and genuine piety. Annapolis, July 13.
