ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1815.

No. 403

[VOL. LXXIII.]

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED

BY
JONAS GREEN,
CHURCH-STREET, ANNAPOLIS.

Three Dollars per Annum.
FOREIGN.

Paris Papers received by the schooner Selby.

The Russian army of reserve, under the command of Gen. Wittgenstein, which was on its way to France, has received orders to return to the interior of their country. All the Austrian troops have received orders to retrace their steps and return to the Austrian states.

It was reported, and generally believed, that Ferdinand VII. King of Spain, was about to visit Paris.
The intercourse of posts was re-established, and the couriers passed usual.
The Sardinian government has brought to condign punishment, I therefore thought proper to issue my proclamation, and do by and with the advice and consent of the Council offer a reward of two hundred dollars, to any person who shall apprehend and deliver the said Edward Mockbee to the Sheriff of Anne Arundel county. Given under my hand and the seal of the State of Maryland, the twenty second day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifteen.

LEV WINDER, Gov.

Ordered, that the foregoing proclamations be published three weeks in the Maryland Gazette, Federal Gazette, Telegraph, Federal Republican, Frederick-Town Herald, and Essex Monitor.

By His Excellency's command,
NINIAN PINNEY, C.
of the Council.

Public Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the Orphan Court of Maryland, the subscriber will expose to Public Sale, on Tuesday the 17th day of October next, at the late dwelling of Henry Margaret Ogle, in the city of Annapolis, the whole of the real estate of Henry Margaret Ogle, late of the city of Annapolis, deceased, comprising a valuable and commodious brick dwelling in that city, with offices of every description, coach-house, stable, ice-house, and in short every requisite for a genteel family. The garden spacious, filled with fruit trees; and so productive of itself as to be sufficient for the support of a family, the apricots alone having sold some years for upwards of an hundred dollars.

Also, that valuable Farm known by the name of TALLEY'S POINT, being on the Chesapeake bay, and the mouth of Severn river, containing four hundred and seventy acres and an half of fine arable and pasture land, with a very comfortable dwelling house in complete order, four rooms on the first floor, with a kitchen and laundry, ice-house, meal-house, corn-house, barn, tobacco-house, and quarters, &c. the place under complete fence, grain is now sowing, and will be sold at a fair valuation.

HORN POINT, OR THE PRESIDENT, being that tract of land immediately opposite the city, containing eight hundred and nine acres and three quarters of good land, great part of which is wood, of which there is sufficient to pay for the whole farm at two dollars a cord. The arable land is rich and well adapted for gardening, and as the parcels to Baltimore run regularly by it every other day they afford a ready sale of every production of farm or garden at your own door.

The terms of sale are—the purchaser or purchasers to give bond, with security, for payment of the purchase money within twelve months from the day of sale, with interest, and on payment of the purchase money the subscriber is authorized to give a deed. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock A. M.

Benjamin Ogle, Trustee.

September 19, 1815.

The Editors of the Federal Gazette, Baltimore, and National Intelligencer, Washington, are requested to publish the above once a week till the day of sale, and forward their accounts to this office for collection.

June 1, said County, to wit:
I hereby certify, that Walter Brown, of the county aforesaid, this day brought before me, the subscriber, a justice of the peace in and for the county aforesaid, a bright bay Horse, as a stray, trespassing on his enclosures, of the following marks and descriptions, viz: has a small star in his forehead, his left hind foot white as far as the first joint, shod all round with old shoes, about fifteen hands and an inch high, five or six years old, no perceivable brand, trots, racks and canters, low in flesh, and is lame in the right hip; appears to have what is generally called the wenny. Given under my hand the 14th day of September 1815.

John Cord.

The owner of the above Horse is requested to come forward, prove property, pay charges, and take him away.
Walter Brown.

Sept. 19, 1815.

not sent to St. Helena, he would be sent to the Emperor Alexander—"God keep me from the Russians," replied he, shrugging his shoulders and addressing Bertrand. "At what hour to-morrow morning, shall I come, General, and accompany you on board the Northumberland," asked Sir G. Cockburn. Buonaparte appeared somewhat surprised at hearing himself addressed simply as general, but replied at 10 o'clock, Bertrand and his Lady, Savary, L'Allemand, Count Montholon, and his Lady, were near Buonaparte; Sir George Cockburn asked them if they wished any thing before they sailed? Bertrand replied that he wanted 20 packs of cards, a baggammon-board, and a set of dominos—Madame Bertrand required some articles of furniture. One of the French officers, nephew of Josephine, complained that they had not kept their word with Buonaparte, who expected to reside in England with his suite. Buonaparte asked Lord Keith's opinion; who merely replied, that he must obey the orders he had received from his government. B. requested a second interview; Lord Keith refused, observing, that he could give him little satisfaction, inasmuch as his orders were peremptory, and it was impossible to make any change in the sentence which had been announced to him. An officer who stood near observed, "had you remained one hour longer, you would have been taken and sent to Paris." Buonaparte turned his eyes upon the speaker, but made no reply.

Sir George the next morning very early went on board the Bellerophon, to inspect the baggage of Buonaparte. It consisted of 2 services of plate, some articles of gold, a super silver toilet set, books, beds, &c.
The whole was carried on board the Northumberland at 10 o'clock.
At half past 11, Lord Keith came in the Tonnant's cutter on board the Bellerophon, to receive Buonaparte and those who were to accompany him. Before its arrival, and afterwards, he conversed with captain Maitland and the officers of the Bellerophon. He then went on board the cutter, and again took off his hat to them. Lord Keith received on board the cutter the following persons: Buonaparte, Bertrand, lady, 3 children, the count and countess; Montholon and child; count Lascazes; gen. Gurgand; 9 men and 3 female servants. Savary appeared much to dread the idea of being given up to the French government, after repeating that the honor of England would not suffer him to be sent to France.

At noon the cutter came alongside the Northumberland. Bertrand was the first who went on board; Buonaparte followed him.
As soon as he came on deck he said to sir George Cockburn, "I am under your orders." He bowed to lord Lowther and Mr. Lyttleton who were near the admiral, and said something to them, to which they replied—He asked one of the officers in what corps he served.
The officer replied, "in the artillery." "I sprang from that service" (je sors de ce service) Buonaparte briskly replied. After taking leave of the officers who accompanied him from the Bellerophon, he went into the cabin, where besides his principal attendants, were lord Keith, adm. Cockburn, lord Low-ther, and the hon. Mr. Lyttleton.
Lord Keith took leave of him and went on board the Tonnant, lord Lowther and Mr. Lyttleton remained and had a conversation of nearly two hours with him.

The Bellerophon, the Tonnant and the Eurotas returned to Plymouth bay on Tuesday. The Northumberland cruised off that port the whole day, although the wind was favourable. It is supposed that they are waiting the arrival of the Weymouth, which was to bring their supplies the following day.

From a French paper.

The following are some of the details in relation to the death of Marshal Brune. He arrived on the 2d of August at Avignon, at ten o'clock A. M. The new prefect arrived the same day, some hours before, and had alighted for a little while at an inn where the marshal stopped. Some persons were ap-prized of the arrival of the marshal at Avignon, and others who had recognized him, formed a circle around his carriage. They suffered him to change horses quietly; the marshal would perhaps have even set out without accident had he not wished to wait for some papers which had been carried to the superior commander of the department.

The tumult in the meantime increased; M. Brune, uneasy, went to the house of the prefect, to shew him his passports signed by the marquis of Riviere. The prefect advised him to abscond, and promised to send him his papers—they descended together. The prefect, although he was not yet known to the people in that capacity, came to make himself known to the people and in the midst of the insulting language which they heaped upon the marshal, to reproach him for his former conduct and his recent transactions in the south, he with difficulty procured an opportunity for the marshal to pass in his carriage without receiving violence. He thought himself safe; but a moment after, his carriage was stopped upon the ramparts and his life was threatened anew. They assailed his retinue with stones and cut his horses to pieces. The marshal then demanded of the prefect, who came in haste, with the members of the council, permission to enter the city.— He was conducted to the post-house.
There, the prefect not having an armed force at his disposal, aided by some peaceable citizens, defended the door of this house in person.— He employed, to appease the anger of the people, prayers, solicitations, promises, threats—nothing availed.
Those without demanded the death of the marshal with loud cries. The prefect promised in vain that he would conduct the marshal to prison if they would respect his life; all was useless. A battalion of troops which arrived could not re-establish order; the effervescence was at its height; already they began to break the gates with axes; the vociferations redoubled. For more than four hours the prefect defended the life of the marshal with unshaken courage; the multitude crowded towards the door, before which he stood, with all the magistrates, the commandant of the department, some officers of the national guard, and the armed force which they had assembled. Three times they were driven off—thrice they returned in spite of the bayonets and threats which were directed against them. At this moment they heard the discharge of a gun, and persons came to announce that the marshal had killed himself.

Some hours after they wished to carry the body to a chapel; but it was impossible to restrain the people, who seized it and threw it into the Rhone.

London, July 25.

AWFUL AND DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

We have to record one of the most dreadful calamities that has occurred in the metropolis for years by fire.

On Friday night, about 9 o'clock, the neighborhood of Spitalfields was thrown into universal terror by an explosion of fire in the house of one Licheleau, in John-st.
Brown-st. This was almost instantly succeeded by another, and one universal blaze was spread over the whole neighborhood. The unhappy proprietor carried on the business of a hair dresser, but was more generally known as a manufacturer of fire works. In his house unfortunately were deposited several barrels of gunpowder, which had exploded. How the fire had communicated is not yet ascertained, and Mr. Licheleau had but a few moments returned from a walk with his wife, with whom and his family he was just sitting down to supper when the dreadful event took place. The effect in his house was truly heart rending; it was literally blown up from its foundation, and all its inmates buried in the ruins. These consisted of six or eight persons; namely Mr. Licheleau, his wife and sister, two other females, servants, a Mr. Oldham, and it is feared some others. In the houses adjoining also on either side, 3 or four more perished, and a number of persons in the neighbourhood were dreadfully hurt by pieces of glass, brick, timber, and other articles falling upon them, or being forced into the windows by the effects of the explosion.—Huge beams of timber were tossed into the air, others carried an incredible distance over the tops of houses, while not less than from two to 300 habitations have been shook and shattered to a most frightful degree.

—The house of Mr. Licheleau was situate within two doors of the brewery of Truman and Haubury, and within 4 doors of Brown street, where there is a meeting of three others, and such was the effect of these dreadful explosions that it not only consumed the two adjoining houses, but nearly destroyed four others, and injured, as already described, some hundreds, forcing itself round the corners, and spreading wide destruction down the streets.

The whole exhibited a terrible picture of havoc and destruction.
Windows broken, window frames crushed and forced in; doors knocked from the hinges, and even furniture displaced and shattered to pieces. In addition to the loss of lives in the house mentioned, a child sitting opposite to the house was killed by the explosion. At two o'clock on Saturday the engines continued to play upon the ruins while at each house some of the wretched victims who had fallen were discovered, and dragged forth in a mutilated state.—At three o'clock the remains of Mrs. Licheleau, her sister, and that of a female servant, had been taken out, and deposited in the bonerom of Spitafields church.

William Duvall,

Respectfully informs his friends and the public in general, that he has commenced business on the wharf in the house formerly occupied by Mr. William Caton, where he offers for sale an Assortment of Groceries of the best quality. Among which are Teas, Sugars, Coffee, Chocolate, and a variety of articles suitable for family use.

Also, he keeps a supply of Bottled Porter and Strong Beer, and Cider in their season, and hopes to share in public patronage.

Persons indebted to him on the estate of Francis Tucker, are once more requested to come forward and settle their accounts—Further delay will be attended with the law.
Annapolis, Sept 28, 1815. 2

Sarah Anne Waters,

Has just received a handsome assortment of Ladies dress and undress HOES & SLIPPERS,

Anna Gambrill

Informs her friends and public generally, that she continues to keep TAVERN (since the death of her husband) at the old stand of her mother Mrs. Uphart, at the head of Severn, on the road from Baltimore to Annapolis, where she is well provided with, and will constantly keep a good supply of liquors, eatables, lodgings, &c. She has good and sufficient stables for horses, and well supplied with hay, oats and a careful ostler. Being near to navigable water, she will make it her constant care to provide as far as in her power, at the different seasons of the year, wild fowl, fish, crabs, and oysters; so as in every respect, to endeavour to accommodate satisfactorily all those who call on her, so doing will have reason to expect a share of public support.
