The Democrats enemies to the County interests.

TO THE POTERS OF MARYLAND.

It is the interest of the county party to hold fast to those constitutional ed by the will of the city of Baltimore. Although every Marylander is pleased that the activity of Baltimore produces invalculable benefits to the state still he ought with great reluctance to whole state.

Her influence has in very many in stances displayed a temper injurious to cy many years, had in the Senate majority favourable to her views, still she has been unequal to the courtol of the popular branche. Whenever the period shall arrive when she shall rule that you will see the whole wealth of the state, while niggardly denied to distant sections of the state for their amelioration, pour with the greatest profusion to the embellishment and improvement of the city, and those counties whose progress in value, give to the city additional consequence. Then will legislative provisions give sanction to those attempts which ow their existence now only to the spirit of combination, and which therefore are now of easy evasion and want that consistency which will be ensured by legal provisions.

The police of her town, however de fective it may be, and oppressive to the spricultural interest, will then meet with no resisting power. And if the city should, in the spirit of monopoly which distinguishes all trading people, trample under foot the most underiable principles of justice, and the best interest of the agriculturalist, no corrective power will remain in the constitution to stop the procedure. If her host of municipal officers shall, from a disposition to flatter the interest of those to whom they owe their appointment catablish and practise such principles as in their inspections may lead to the sacrifice of your plank, wheat, flour, pork, tobacco, fish, and all those arti-cles which you now pay for the inspection of, what remedy will you have? You will have to apply to those for a reform who are interested in the abuse Think ye that they will remove those very men who have adopted these prac tices for their benefit? Such virtue is not to be expected from any class of men, let alone the Baltimoreans, who from the collisions of party spirit, have had their minds excited to considerable ncor against the county interests. The Framers of the state constitution, knowing the influence of interest and the grasping temper of the human mind, when aimed with physical power or wealth, determined to guard the prosperity of the state, by opposing ment; It therefore provided, that ter ritory, and not population, should be the basis of representation.

They anticipated, that the interest of different sections of the state, would are must of labour the bread it has frequently come in collision, they therefore wisely provided, that each county should be enabled to marshal an equal force for its preservation in the popular branch. The senators were not to be selected, by the provisiens of the constitution, with any restrictions as to residence. That body, therefore, for the last 15 years, has, by itsracts, confirmed the anticipations of those who framed our constitution, by displaying the most unpardonable predilection to the interest of Baltimore. The greatest number of the Senators, from that period till the present, have heen drawn from the city, or the adja-cent counties—Although from this cause they have been enabled to pre-tent, they have been unable to execute much. The popular branch as yet have been tenseious of county rights. liave been tenacious of county rights; as the temper of the people display an attachment to them—Still every art is early day, the Whig of Baltimore, ext which gave to these contempelole coun ties the weight and consequence in the popular branch equal to that assigned o the splendid city of Baitimore.

Newspaper essays were circulated through the medium of the democratic through the medium of the democratic barty, to prove that although the federal triumph of eighteen hundred and sight, was decided, still that the mass of the people of Maryland were democratic that it was owing to a defect in the constitution that a minerity was their able, to control a majority—That it was unpartiquable, that a tree that of the milest tomby in the state. Those discloures, were propagated by distinguished Gantleman of the discussion party throughout the nute, and we much an entangled task of hearing men of much weight in the state ing men of much weight in the state. advicate an extension to the city of Hall timore, of her representatives, while they were for lessening the number of those now sent by the smaller counties. Smarting under the change in the pub-dic opinion, they were willing to yield up a portion of the constituting liber. ty, rather than the federalists about a gain burst into office. Yes, they dis-played, a base subserviency to Baltin more, and satisfied a temper, (not us, fearurable disabled a temper, (not us, requently displayed elsewhere, will ing to crouch to a tyrant, in order to be invested with a power of wreaking their unappeasable vengeance on those stern republicans, who dared to think; and

The counter revolution, which broth in 1809 to the house of delegates, a mass of their political friends, flattered them with the expectation that no measures of such extraordinary spi rit were requisite for preserving their ascendency. Disappointed in this, and "the doors of honor," being "occluded" to them for the last five years, rely upon it, that when the madness of the people shall again restore them to power, they will burst those less to them than "Lilliputian ties" which now limit the empire they are sedulous to poestion the infallibility of their ru

delegate to Baltimore.

The democrats of the smaller couries will be invited by the recollection of past dangers, by the hopes of vengeance, by the fear of retribution, to suffer the Baltimore horsemen to mount into the saddle of state, as necessary to the conquest of their federal ene-mies. When thus scated, they will so effectually curb you, that you may curvet and plunge till you are tired, 'ere you rid yourselves, or your posterty, of such unfeeling riders, who will leny to you every benefit inconsistent with their policy. You recollect that in 1800, when the democratic members in the house of delegates originated a committee, com posed of their distinguished friends, to report a hill rendering the Senate of Maryland more dependent on the people of the state, coming into office immediately thereafter, and thus exercising the power of filling up the vacancies in that body, they forgot their hos-tility to that feature of self election; which, when exercised by their politi ral enemies displayed an independence to the opinion of the people, and an aristocracy irreconcilable to the genius of our republican government. Yes, these very men who stunned you with their alaims of danger to your interests and your government, from this power, in the hands of the federalists. when it is grasped by them pertinaci ously resist every proposition to modify this most aristocratic feature of our constitution!!! Very many acts have been referred to, as displaying the inconsistency between the professions and deeds of democracy hut not more conclasively shew the interested hypocrisy of those men who aim at the government of the state, hy retaining power which they deprecated, when exercised by o-

In 1807 in attempt was made in the house of delegates, by the federalists, to alter the constitution, so that the senate should be chosen directly by the people This attempt was crowned with success there; the same fate did not a-wait it in the senate, then principally composed of gentlemen from the neighbourhood of Baltimore. If this proposition should finally prevail, the power of Baltimore would vanish; her tyran ny over the state would disappear; the ller counties then would be represented on the senate floor. Such being the effect, it was anticipated that the senate would not sanction this attempt. However they consented to do so, provided the house of delegates would agree to adopt on their part, the following amendment to the constitution:

"And be it enacted. That from and after the first Monday of October, eigh. teen hundred and nine, the several counties of this state shall be represen-ted in the house of delegates in propor-tion to their population, after deduct-ing two fifths of all slaves in each of the aforesaid counties; provided that not more than one representative shall be allowed for every five thousand in-habitants, except the city of Baltimore which shall be entitled to six members. And bait enacted. That the population as aforesaid shall be ascertained and as aforesaid shall be ascertained and fixed by the last census, taken under a provision of the constitution of the Up of last census in the constitution of the Up of last census, taken under a provision of the census in the representation of the provision to be taken agreeably to the provision blot from our character that feature which rave to these contemporal last census, taken under a provision of the census in the provision of the census in the provision of the several countries that feature the provision of the several countries that feature the provision of the several countries that the several countrie ties of this state shall be had and the gulated, except as relates to the city of Beltimore, which shall in no case be entitled to a greater number of representatives than is provided by this

The exertions, which were made by those is the interest of Baltimors to arrest this humans object is well resolded all they wanted the rapks to pay nothing: If any ingular it should be applied exclusively to the opening of roads, through which the western reads would pour into her city and thus give to her proporty significated by the proposition for a representation according to population prevailed, this faudable plat, by which a perpetual fund is set apair, for which a perpetual fund is set apart for the ciucation of the poor in the dufer-ent counties in the state, would never have existed and been referred to as another confirmation of the zeal which has been displayed by the federalists to ameliorate the condition of those to whom fortupe has denied a competency. Recollect these things; they are facts. Bear in mind, that Mr laney of Calvert gave to the poor the right of suffrage. Mr. John H. Thomas the right of being elected. Mr. John Young the right of serving on juries; that a federalist suggested the fund now set apart for the education of the poor. That Mr. John C. Herbers attempted to rescue you from the oppression of military duty-compare these things with the Baltimore designs. They to the last opposed the extension of universal suffrage; they wished no money to be set apart for the education of the poor; they attempted to rivet on you a dreadful conscription law. If you therefore prefer the county interest to that of Baltimore, as having feelings, more in unison with yours, vote for Federal
