Never was there a more brilliant and rapid triumph of virtuous principles, supported by manly and honourable actions, over false patriotism aided by chicanery, than was obtained on Monday week by the federal party.

Not only had we to encounter the arts and zealous operations of the demagogues of our own State, but the general government lent the aid of its influence in the election. Hence the corrupt machinery of fraud and violence is constantly employed by our opponents.

It is a proud title to be called a MARYLAND FEDERALIST. Their union and strength increased with the crisis; and they were joined by a number of good men, whose present decision against the party with whom they formerly voted, was made up no less from what the observed of the base arts, corruption, and undue influence now so barefacedly exercised against the right of free suffrage, than the succession of disasters to the nation which have so copiously flowed from the late rash, unnecessary and fruitless measures of self-infliction and war, but from which the nation is yet far from being relieved.

Citizens of this description are a valuable acquisition to the interests of virtue and the country, to which the federal party are so steadfastly devoted. They are hailed and welcomed as brethren in the support of a good cause.

But we must not omit to point out a peculiar property in the character of the federalists of Maryland, which redounds to their distinguished honour. Whilst the politics of other states of the union have veered with the wind, and sometimes settled at the point of self-interest, since Maryland's resurrection, six or seven years ago, she has steadily maintained her majority in the house of delegates; for four successive years returned federal delegates sufficient in number to elect a federal governor, by out voting all the democrats in both branches of the legislature; and has gradually increased her strength, though in contact with the hostility of the general government, till the almost perfect expansion of her glory at the late election.

That Elections will be held in the several election districts of Anne Arundel county, on the first Monday in October next, for four Delegates to represent said county in the General Assembly of Maryland; and for a Representative to represent this state in the Congress of the United States.

The Court Martial.
Gen. Miller having arrived, the court martial was organized this forenoon. General Gaines gave up his sword, of course, to the judge advocate.

The charges & specifications, at full length, were read by the judge. They include accusations against General Gaines' conduct at Sacket's Harbour & Fort Erie, in 1814; at the former place, for violating the law relative to transfers of officers from one corps to another, &c. &c. at the latter, for a great variety of offences, as, doing injustice to the meritorious, and rendering praise to those who had little or no merit; extolling some who were engaged but partially or not at all, and observing repeatedly a partial and unjust silence respecting officers and corps who had borne the brunt of battle, particularly the officers and men of the 19th infantry. His plans are impeached; he is accused of neglecting opportunities of destroying a crippled enemy &c. and even of giving a false account of the very works at Fort Erie. His Despatches are represented as grossly inaccurate, false and partial; and he denounced for premeditated wrong. One of the specifications, affirms that at Philadelphia, he confessed the injury done to Major Trimble, &c. and promised to redress it, but subsequently aggravated the injury by failing in his promise.

To the usual questions, by the judge advocate, whether he pleaded guilty or not guilty, General Gaines replied— "Not guilty, as my accuser well knows."

The judge advocate remarked, that some of the alleged offences were of two years standing, previous to the order for a trial, and by law, the accused could not be tried & punished for such, except in circumstances where an earlier trial was unobtainable, which did not appear to be the case in the present instance: but it was for the court to decide whether they would take cognizance of such charges.

Gen. Gaines addressed the court, declaring that he waived all objections, and wished an investigation. There was a combination formed against him; but he well knew that a base cabal could not stand before that honourable court. He wished to destroy it as far as possible.

AN IMPORTANT CAUTION.
Ladies who are accustomed to wear their dresses extremely low in the back and bosom, or off the shoulders, are particularly requested to beware of a person who has for some time past frequented all places of public amusement, and many private parties. He is an elderly gentleman, of venerable appearance and correct manners; his constant practice, when he observes a lady dressed in the manner above described, with an almost imperceptible and apparently accidental pressure of a little instrument which he carries in his hand, to imprint the following words upon her back or shoulder—Naked but not ashamed. The stain is like that produced by lunar caustic—washing will not remove it, and becomes more visible by exposure to the air, so that nothing but a covering can conceal it. It is said that several ladies were marked last summer at various places of fashionable resort, and that they cannot even now, strip for company without displaying this indehible badge of disgrace.—London paper.

We have a letter before us from Vermont, of the 21st August, which states, "that the mountains are covered with snow, and the atmosphere, on the plains, unusually cold."
[Bost. Gaz.]

HYMENEAL.
Married, on Tuesday the 3d instant, the Hon. William Gaston, of North Carolina to Miss Eliza Ann Worthington, eldest daughter of Doctor Charles Worthington, of George Town, District Columbia.

In this city on Sunday the 1st inst. by the Rev. Mr. Wells, Mr. George M'Nier to Miss Elizabeth Thompson, all of this city.

TAVERN.
REZIN D. BALDWIN.
Respectfully informs the public, that he has opened a Tavern and Boarding-House, at that well known stand occupied for many years by Captain James Thomas. Its vicinity to the Stadt-House will at all times render it the most convenient resort to strangers having business to transact in any of the public offices. Those who may be inclined to patronize the establishment, are assured that the best accommodations are provided, and the most unremitting attention shall be paid to his guests. This establishment having been always the resort of gentlemen from the Eastern Shore, it is hoped that they will continue to frequent it; and so far as attention, good fare, and moderate rates, can support the character of an establishment so well known, he pledges himself they shall not be wanting. Boarders taken by the day, week, month or year, and horses taken at liberty.
