THE SABBATH MORN. By Cunningham Dear is the hallow'd morn to me, When village bells awake the day And by their sacred minstrelsy. Call me from earthly cares away.

And dear to me the winged hour Spent in thy hallow'd courts, O Lord. To feel devotion's soothing power, And catch the manna of thy word.

And dear to me the loud " Amen." Which echoes thro' tile biest ahode Which swells, & sinks, & swells agoin. Dies on the walls but lives to God. And dear the simple melody, Sung with the pemp of rustic art; That holy, heavenly harmony, The music of a thankful heart.

In secret I have often pray d, And still the anxious tear would full But on thy sacred altar hid,

The fire descends and dries them all Oft when the world, with iron bands, Has bound me in its six days chain This bursts them, like the strong man's bands,

And lets my spirit loose again. Then, dear to me the Sabbath morn. The village bells, the shepherd's voice-

These oft have found my heart forlorn. And always bid that heart rejoice. Go, man of pleasure, strike thy lyre, Ofbroken Sabbath's sing the charms Ours is the prophet's car of fire. Which bears us to a Father's arms.

From The Ecliever's Pocket Com-

" He that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will bye him, and will manifest myself to him." John xiv. xzi.

We love God because he first loved us; and therefore with loving kiedness, hath he drawn us; for by nature our hearts are ensured to G. a and ad that he approves, having no hope, and reing without God in the wold. Had the Lord left us in this situation, to follow the perverseness of our natures, we should have gone on in a state of rebellion against Him, until death and destruction had overtiken us. How an azing then it is, that God should fix his love upon such vite creatures as we are! And this love being shed abroad in our hearts by his blessed spirit, draws out our affections towards Him. Whatever comes from God will lead to God, for his love constrains to obedience. How nught Christians to discover their love to God, by an attachment to his cause, and a diligent discharge of every Christian duty! God is love, and they who know God, desire to be like him. The word of God is the rule of faith and practice : let us make it ours : let our conduct be regulated by this standard, and God help us to adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all The Father's love's the moving cause

Of all we have below; And Christ alone the living rock From whence our comparts flow.

From the New-York Courier. A LITTLE PLAIN ADVICE TO PLAIN PEOPLE.

It is a rearm day but it will be cold in winter; therefore keep a look out in time, and prepare for the worst. "God helps them that hemselves," said Dr. Frank lin. Therefore do not depend too much on charity, but like the ants, provide a store for the severity of the winter, while you may, and remember that there is but on way to do it, and that is by industry and frugality.

" Get what you can, and what fairly got hold; 'Tis the from that will turn all your lead into gold."

Do you see that man going regularly for his bitters in the morning, his grog at noon, and his beer at night? How much better would he feel next weer, to have all the mo-ney he now pends so uselessly, to provide fuel and food for his family. How much better would it be when his week's earning was paid him, to buy a load of wood now, while it is yet cheap; and if he has any thing over to provide a few vegetables, while they are plenty, and the pice low. His next week's labour will be cheerfully resumed. His chil-dren will bless their father, and his wife cling with delight to her faithful husband. How much better all whise than the society of roaring tip lers, and noisy brawlers. Work then the property get more mone get more wood—and as the coo weather increases, provide yoursell with dead hog. And if you must drink a little, lay up a barrel of good cider. It will warm you as muchas rum's it is your country manufacture; and cheap. There is but one objection to it: it will not be apt to get you drunk, and o will not be erbaps quite as pleasant a companion abroad, but refy upon it you will be infinitely more beloved at home. And again, do not forget to stay at home. Habit is a second na ture, and when you are once used to it. I assure you, you will find it quite as easy to behave well as to behave ill. Therefore stay at home as much as you possibly can. In fact. it is a thousand times more pleasant to be seated before a warm fire at home, with your family cheerful and sportive around you, while the snow and hail are beating against your door, than to encounter . the peltings of the pitiless storm," reeling from the tavern to your desolute dwelling. Be i dustrious, be sober, be frugal, and you will enjoy the or riogal, and you will enjoy the greatest of all earthly blessings, the glorious privilege of being independent." If you are ever to get help of your more wealthy neighbours, deserve it first, you will never get much of it without. In fact the rich will have enough to do next winter. The number, however, of the rich, has diminished a great deal of late; and will diminish a great deal more before winter sets in, I

Remember too, that we have among us, a mustifule or emigrants who have been drawn to this country in the hope of finding it overflowing with milk and honey. These have been hudaled together in the city, and vast numbers of them havng no means of subsistence now will suffer dreadfully in the winter. If ever there was a time for peoole to take care of themselves, it is low. The city has a cruel winter before it. He that gets through it safe, will see better times in the Tornefort mentions a Venetian Consul who resided at Smyrna, that lived to the age of 218 years, and never drank my thing but week; which is said to be the universa only liquor of the New-Zealanders, who enjoy the most perfect and uninterupted health, entirely untainted with disease; not a single person having been seen by Captuin Cook that had any bodily complaint; nor among the numbers that presented themselves to that renowned navigator, was there an individua observed who had even the slightest eruption upon the skin, or the least mark which indicated that any had formerly existed. It may be worthy of notice likewise, that two of the most athletic characters of antiquity, and a modern hero, whose intrepidity was long the admiration of all Europe, were among the prace ical advocates of this wholesome element. That water is not an incentive to vice, like many of the iquors in common use, and that its vocaries are exempt from the disgrace of ebriety, has been observed by Snakespeare-
