TAVERN.

REZIN D. BALDWIN.

Respectfully informs the public, that he has opened a Tavern and Boarding-House, at that well known stand occupied for many years by Captain James Thomas. Its vicinity to the Stadt-House will at all times render it the most convenient resort to strangers having business to transact in any of the public offices. Those who may be inclined to patronize the establishment, are assured that the best accommodations are provided, and the most unremitting attention shall be paid to his guests. This establishment having been always the resort of gentlemen from the Eastern Shore, it is hoped that they will continue to frequent it; and so far as attention, good fare, and moderate rates, can support the character of an establishment so well known, he pledges himself they shall not be wanting. FROM HAYTI.

Translated from the Port-au-Prince Telegraph.
Port-au-Prince, Oct. 13, 1816.]

Year 13.

The 10th inst. the day fixed for the President of Hayti to take his oath before the Senators, in conformity to the 143d article of the Revised constitution, afforded general satisfaction! At noon, the drums were beat to assemble the troops. At 2 o'clock the line was formed, which extended from the church to the senate. The Cortege had already convened at the National House; whether, about 3 o'clock the President repaired, accompanied by the generals of the army and by his whole staff. He was preceded by two Senators, who, after their arrival at the door, led him to the seat appropriated for him, which was directly facing that of the President of the Senate.

After a short pause, the President of the Senate rose, and thus addressed the President of Hayti:

Citizen President,

The annals of the republic of Hayti will transmit to posterity, traits, which in exciting its admiration, will remove all doubts as to their existence; their distinguishing characters being so truly wonderful.

In fact, the revolutionary events which have, as it were, by enchantment, established liberty & independence in the place of prejudice and slavery, are of a nature to produce surprise in those most accustomed to the vicissitudes of human nature.

It will belong to history to relate how the Haytian nation, after having so long endured the yoke of an odious despotism, should at once have freed herself from her degraded state, and been restored to her natural dignity.

It will belong to this faithful guardian of great actions to relate by what means the brave men, who defended oppressed humanity, triumphed in this memorable struggle over the perfidy of a cruel enemy, recovered our usurped rights, and finally proclaimed the emancipation of the country.

Citizen President,

The annals of the republic of Hayti will transmit to posterity, traits, which in exciting its admiration, will remove all doubts as to their existence; their distinguishing characters being so truly wonderful.

In fact, the revolutionary events which have, as it were, by enchantment, established liberty & independence in the place of prejudice and slavery, are of a nature to produce surprise in those most accustomed to the vicissitudes of human nature.

It will belong to history to relate how the Haytian nation, after having so long endured the yoke of an odious despotism, should at once have freed herself from her degraded state, and been restored to her natural dignity.

It will belong to this faithful guardian of great actions to relate by what means the brave men, who defended oppressed humanity, triumphed in this memorable struggle over the perfidy of a cruel enemy, recovered our usurped rights, and finally proclaimed the emancipation of the country.

Citizen President,

The different elections which have called you to the first magistracy of the state, are an unequivocal proof of the approbation due to your administration. Your virtues and services have for a long time commanded public opinion in your favour, and the Senate, in re-electing you to the Presidency of the republic for life, believe they give a new evidence of the esteem of the nation.

This choice, however gratifying to their wishes in placing you in a more important situation, seems to require additional obligations on your part. You will confirm this high consideration by taking the sacred oath required by the Constitutional Charter—An oath which imposes upon you very high duties, and which is the guarantee and foundation of your obligations.

We delight in the conviction that an increase of power will have no influence on the moderate use you have ever made of authority, and that the principles which have always been admitted for their purity will remain inviolate.—The nation reposes on your benevolence, believing that the laws and justice resulting from it, will be your only rule—that a paternal government will distinguish every moment of your political existence, and that the power confided to your care will be employed to the public good.

Such are their wishes.—May your meditations in promoting those views of benevolence experience the satisfaction peculiar to generous minds, and may the Divine Power suitably reward you.

The President of Hayti replied in the following terms:

Citizen Senators,

The Constitution of the Republic has just been revised conformably to our fundamental laws and the principles of that of the 27th December, 1806. It has experienced the alterations which time and experience rendered indispensable; calculated more for the manners and character of the people for whom it was intended than resembling any such compact of other governments. In the situation we are placed, it was the duty of our legislators to guarantee the republic against every fear for its safety and independence—to explain to the people the extent of their rights and strength, as also to point out the respect and submission due by them to the laws prescribed.
