Annapolis, Thursday, Nov. 21.

Married, on Thursday the 14th inst. by the Rev. Mr. Brown, Captain Benjamin Dare, of Calvert county, to Miss Ann Lord, daughter of the late Tobias E. Lowe, esq. of Somerset county.

Mrs. Carson, and her mother and two associates, charged with having entered into a conspiracy against the Governor of Pennsylvania, have all been acquitted.

The Mines of Peru

These mines having recently failed in their usual supply of silver, in consequence of the miners being prevented by the overflowing of the waters from the constant prosecution of their labours, the Spanish government has, with the sanction of England, engaged an English engineer to take to South America several steam engines, in order to draw off the superfluous waters. This arrangement, has also been entered into between the two governments, for the dollars to be sent over, in order that the silver may be converted into dollars, and in this state sent to England direct, instead as formerly to contract.

Extract from a letter to a respectable House in Baltimore, dated New-York, Nov. 8.

Mr. Daschkoff, the Russian Minister, has notified our government, that his mission is at an end, and that he shall leave the country as soon as he can arrange his affairs. This is the result of a negotiation between him and our government, relative to the arrest some time since of Kosloff, the Russian Consul General, for a criminal offence committed in Philadelphia; and this last step is in conformity with positive instructions from his government. The same spirit which dictated these orders, will in all probability, refuse all audience to our minister Mr. Pinkney, and may even throw some obstacles in the way of our trade. Mr. Daschkoff leaves this city to day, and sells his furniture during the next week.

Cure for Corns.

Take a wild turnip and cut it into slices, and boil it in sweet milk and make a poultice. Apply the poultice for three or four successive evenings, and it will eradicate the corn by the roots.

TO HOUSE-KEEPERS.

Method of preserving Beef.

Sort your beef, let it be cold, but not frozen. To 200 wt. use half a bushel of salt, half a pound of salt-petre, and two quarts of molasses. Dissolve your salt-petre in water, and add the molasses, then pack down your beef tight, put salt in your barrel, and between each layer, and let a suitable proportion of salt-petre and molasses be put on each layer, till all is put together—reserving four or five quarts of salt to make a brine, sufficient to cover the beef, which must be added in four or five days, and your beef will be good through the year. When you salt beef again use the same process—10, 11 or 12 quarts of salt will be enough—but keep your old brine, and in 4 or 5 days

Experiment 3d. A phenomenon, which fifteen years ago would have been considered as chimerical, has likewise resulted from the experiments on the Galvanic fluid. It is to following: Attorney, originally united with several cubic inches of muriatic acid, indicates when the two metals are homogeneous or heterogeneous; and whether they are in a state of pure regulus, or in an oxydated state. It also points out whether the coloration of a mineral substance depends on charcoal, or an oxydation on which takes place. The living nervous fibre, is consequently a living analizing apparatus, means of discovering charcoal, almost as certain as the action of iron, and that of [illegible]

Experiment 4th. Porter drank out of a pewter or silver pot, placed upon a valver of a nacher metal, has a much stronger vale and richer flavor than when drank without the pot being placed upon a fever. If the person who drinks previously moisten his hands with fair and water, the strength and flavor of the liquid will be increased.

Experiment 5th. Tea drank out of China cups with gold a rim, has a richer flavor than tea drank out of cups without a metalic rim.

Experiment 6th. A Galvanic pile or apparatus [illegible] constructed out of vegetables when metals [illegible] be procured: it has for example, three hundred discs of beet, and the same number of horse radish, placed alternately, will form a pile as strong as fifty pieces of silver and fifty of zinc.

Experiment 7th. Another curious and well established fact connected with the theory of Galvanism, is, when a fish, instantly after being taken out of the water, is killed by a violent blo[illegible] on the head, by which the skull is fractured, the irritability and flexibility of the muscles are preserved much longer than they would have been, if it had been allowed to die with the organs of sensation in an intire state. So very feasible are fishermen of this, that they have recourse to the above practice, with a view to render the fishes they catch, susceptible for a longer time to the operation called crimping. Salmon is one of the fishes the least tenacious of life, insomuch that after having been taken out of the water, it will cease to live less than half an hour, to manifest any sign of vitality, provided it be not exposed to any violence. But if, on the other hand, it receives as soon as it is caught, a violent blow on the head, the muscles will continue for one hour or more than twelve hours, to exhibit visible signs of irritability.

NEW-YORK.

AN ACT TO SUPPRESS DUELLING.

Passed November 5, 1816.

Be it enacted by the people of the state of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That if any person whatsoever shall challenge another to fight a duel with any weapon or in any manner whatsoever, the probable issue of which may or might result in the death of the challenger or challenged, or if any person shall accept a challenge or fight a duel with any weapon or in any way whatever, the probable issue of which may terminate in the death of the challenger or challenged, or if any person shall knowingly be the bearer of any challenge or message sent for the purpose of requesting or inviting any other person to meet the person so bearing such challenge or message, or any other person, with intent to fight any such duel, such person shall be deemed guilty of a public offence, and being convicted thereof, shall be incapable of holding or being elected to any post of profit, trust or emolument, civil or military, under this state.

And be it further enacted, That every person who shall hereafter be elected a member of the Senate or of the Assembly of this state, and from and after the 1st day of July next, every person who shall be elected or appointed to any office or place, civil or military, under this state, except town officers, and every person who shall be admitted as counsellor, attorney or solicitor of the court of chancery, supreme court, or any court of common pleas, or mayor's court in this state, shall, in addition to the oath or oaths now prescribed by law, take the following oath or affirmation; "I do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be) that I have not been engaged in a duel by sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or by fighting a duel, or in any other manner in violation of the act, entitled "an act to suppress duelling," since the first day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixteen, nor will I be concerned directly or indirectly, in any duel during the continuance of the said act, and while an inhabitant of this state;" and that if any person taking such oath shall wilfully swear falsely therein, such person shall, on conviction thereof, be liable to the like pains and penalties as those who are convicted of wilful and corrupt perjury.

And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the justices of the courts of oyer and terminer and general goal delivery, and general sessions of the peace, at every session, to give in charge to the grand jury of the county in which either of the said courts shall be held, to inquire of all offences committed against this act.

And be it further enacted, That whenever any judge or justices of the peace shall have good cause to suspect that any person or persons are about to be engaged in a duel, he shall issue his warrant to bring such person or persons before him, and if he shall think it proper, to take of them or either of them, a recognizance to keep the peace, he shall insert in the condition, that the party or parties shall not, during the time for which he or they shall be bound, directly or indirectly, be concerned in a duel, either with the person suspected or with any other person, within the time limited by the recognizance.

And be it further enacted, That if any person shall, for the purpose of eluding the operations of the provision of this law, leave this state, the person so offending shall be deemed as guilty, and be subject to the like penalties as if the offence had been committed within this state; and if any person shall leave this state with an intention of giving or receiving a challenge to fight a duel, or of aiding or abetting, in giving or receiving such challenge, & duel shall, actually be fought whereby the death of any person shall happen, and the person leaving the state shall remain thereout in order to prevent his apprehension for the purpose of a trial, or if any person shall fight a duel in this state, or aid or abet therein, whereby any person shall be killed, and then flee into another state, it shall be the duty of the person administering the government of this state, to pursue all legal means to cause such offender to be apprehended & brought to trial in the county in which the offence was committed (when the duel shall have been fought within this state, when it shall have been fought without this state, then in that county where, in the opinion of the person administering the government of this state, the evidence against the offender can be best obtained and prosecuted upon his trial.

And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the several district attornies within this state, to give information to the person administering the government of this state, whenever a case shall arise within their respective districts, rendering his interposition under this act necessary; and each of the said district attornies, either at the first court of general sessions of the peace to be held in his district after the first day of July next, or at the time of his acceptance of his office where such district attorney shall be hereafter appointed, shall take the following oath, "I do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be) that I will to the best of my ability, execute the duty imposed on me by the act to suppress duelling."

And be it further enacted, That from and after the first day of July next, the act, entitled "an act to prevent duelling," be, and the same is hereby repealed.

MUTINY AND MURDER.

Melancholy intelligence has at length been received, of the schr. Plattsburg, Capt. Wm. Hacket, of Baltimore, bound on a voyage to Smyrna, having on board a cargo of coffee, and between 40 and 50,000 dollars in specie. A mutiny broke out amongst the crew, and it is stated on the confession of four of those concerned in the plot, who were taken at Copenhagen, that they put the captain, the mate (a man by the name of Yeiser of this place,) and a Mr. Baynard the supercargo, to death. Taking possession of the vessel the mutineers bore up for Norway, and arrived at Mindahl. One of the mutineers personating the murdered captain, wrote a letter to the American Consul at Christiansand, under that assumed name. He stated that he had sailed from this port with a small cargo, bound to Bremen. Having experienced bad weather (the letter went on to state) that boom and gib-boom had been carried away,—that having an indifferent crew he bore away for Norway, and had arrived at the port abovementioned to refit.—That since his arrival, his best men, and even his mate, had deserted him, & that the remainder of the hands he had discharged; that he had applied to the British consul, who would render him any service in his power, and he requested to know of the American consul whether he could be furnished with another crew at Christiansand; to which letter he begged an immediate answer. The American consul hearing that the former crew of this vessel were spending more money than could be expected of men in their circumstances, felt his suspicion excited. He was induced, himself, to go to Mindahl, about five Danish miles distant, to examine into the truth of this statement. He found his information, and on enquiry discovered a great deal of mystery in the business, and further that the reports of the crew having spent a great deal of money, were correct. Having no proof against his informant, he at last resolved to cause the man to be arrested on his own responsibility. He gave the captain an invitation to dinner, having previously provided officers for the arrest; this invitation was accepted. The captain, did not however, make his appearance, but during the dinner a note was received from the captain, under the assumed name, requesting the Consul Mr. Isaacson, to take charge of the schooner and cargo, and to remit the funds to the U. States. The consul then caused one of the crew by the name of Nathaniel White, to be arrested and examined by the civil authority. He was found to be in possession of 1,100 dollars in specie, which he stated that he had received as prize money, having served on board the American privateer Chasseur, during the American war. On being examined whether he knew of any money having been on board of the vessel, he answered in the negative except three or four hundred dollars in the possession of the hands. The vessel having then been deserted by all her officers and crew, the consul ordered her to be taken possession of, and carried to Christiansand, his place of residence. This is the amount of the information received from Norway. Letters from Copenhagen mention, that the four men above named, (in consequence of one of their body, having, in a state of intoxication, disclosed some suspicious circumstances) were arrested. These four were brought before the civil authority, and on their examination confessed their agency in this horrid mutiny & murder. They stated that the captain was soon dispatched, that the mate and supercargo fought desperately, but were at length overcome. Seven thousand dollars in specie were found in their possession. They further stated, that seven of the crew had fled to England. There having been found no proof of criminality against Nathaniel White, he was dismissed.—Telegraph.
