TREASURY CIRCULAR.
Treasury Department,
Dec. 20th 1816.

I have received notice from the president and directors of the Bank of the United States, that the Bank will commence its operation in Philadelphia, on the 1st of the next year, and that they will be ready that day to receive the public monies deposited in the State Banks, and hold them subject to the orders of the Treasury. Like notices are expected upon the establishment of Branch Banks in the principal commercial cities. Before any definite decision is made upon this proposition, it is deemed expedient to ascertain the course which the state banks in those cities will pursue in relation to the resumption of specie payments. The determination of the banks to resume specie payments, on the 1st of July 1817, which has been communicated to this department, is persevered in, there will be hesitation in ordering the transfer to be made with as little delay as the interest of the community will admit. As an inducement to encourage that determination, it is proposed on the part of the Treasury, that if the state banks will resume specie payments on the 20th of February next, that the public money in their vaults shall not be transferred to those of the Bank of the United States, and that between that day and the 1st of July next, a small proportion of that sum shall be drawn as the demands upon the Treasury will admit.

As the receipts into the Treasury during the year, will probably exceed the current demands upon the Treasury, it is proposed to discharge those demands principally from the current receipts, until after the 1st day of July, 1817, subsequent to that day the money will be drawn for as the demands upon the Treasury may require; but, in case shall it be drawn for the purpose of being deposited in the Bank of the United States, except to sustain it against any pressure which may be attempted to be made upon it or its branches. This means the Treasury to aid the operations of the banks in effecting a revolution in the state of the currency, so imperiously necessary to the public interest, are considered ample, and the strongest disposition exists to comply so as to produce the

The quantity of land between twelve and fifteen hundred acres, well timbered and adjoining those of Col. Mercer. The improvements, a large live story brick house with wings, in good repair, overseer's house, quarters, stables, tobacco houses, barns, sheds and strong enclosures. The soil particularly favourable to the growth of tobacco, corn, clover and first quality white wheat, a large proportion of rich natural meadow and the uplands highly susceptible of improvement from the use of plaster. The waters of Rhode river navigable for bay craft of the largest size, encompass about one fourth part of these lands, which waters abound with crabs, fish, wild fowl and fine oysters, and come nearer than any other on the Chesapeake bay to the city of Washington, having the like and equal advantages, being distant from the city about thirty-two miles and a good road thereto over Mount Pleasant ferry and through Upper Marlborough.— There has been formerly a Mill on these lands, the stream attached to which is plentiful nine months in the year.

By His Excellency Charles Ridgely of Hampton, Requires, Governor of Maryland.
A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it appears from the deposition of Joseph Spring, Esq. of Washington county, that about three o'clock in the morning of the fifteenth ultimo, a fire broke out in his stable, which entirely consumed it, and that he has strong reasons to believe it had been set on fire by some evil disposed person or persons. And whereas it is of the greatest importance to society that the perpetrators of such a crime should be brought to condign punishment, I have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, and do hereby with the advice and consent of the Council, offer a reward of two hundred dollars, to any person who shall discover and make known the author or perpetrators of said offence, provided he see or they or any of them be brought to justice. Given in Council at the City of Annapolis under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, this thirteenth day of January eighteen hundred and seventeen.
