THE PRESIDENT'S TOUR. Philadelphia, June 9. The President of the United States left this city about 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon last, for Trenton, and it is supposed, will reach New York this forenoon. On Friday last the Members of the Pennsylvania State Society of the Cincinnati, paid their respects to the President of the U. States, and presented the following address: TO JAMES MONROE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Embracing the occasion which your attention, as Chief Magistrate, to the Military defences of the United States, has afforded, it is with peculiar pleasure that the Members of the Pennsylvania Society of the Cincinnati, a portion of the surviving few, who were your associates in arms during the war of the revolution, approach to renew their personal intercourse; and to assure you of their cordial support to the firm and impartial administration of the government, which, by combining in its measures domestic tranquility with the respect of foreign nations, they confidently anticipate, will promote the best interests of the United States, ensure to our citizens the advantages of social harmony and individual happiness. That you may participate those blessings and enjoy the grateful esteem of a happy people, is the sincere wish of Your faithful friends, And respectful Fellow Citizens Signed by order, and by the unanimous vote of the Society. D. LENOX, President. Hor. Binney, Secretary. Philadelphia, June 6, 1817.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER. To the Members of the Pennsylvania Society of the Cincinnati. Fellow-Citizens, In attending to the naval and military defence of the United States; nothing can be more gratifying to me, than to meet the surviving members of my associates in arms, who distinguished themselves in our revolutionary contest. I can never forget the dangers of that great epoch, nor be indifferent to the merit of those who partook in them. To promote tranquility at home, respect abroad, by a firm and impartial administration, are among the highest duties of the Chief Magistrate of the United States. To acquit myself in the discharge of these duties, with advantage to my fellow citizens, will be the undeviating object of my zealous exertions. Their approbation will be the highest recompense which I can receive. JAMES MONROE. Philadelphia, June 6, 1817.

From the Trenton True American of Monday June 9. On Saturday evening, a little after sunset, the President, accompanied by Gen. Swift, chief of Engineers, Mr. Ingersoll, District Attorney for Pennsylvania, and Mr. Mason, his private secretary, reached the Delaware bridge below this city, where the municipal authorities, the volunteer companies of Trenton, commanded by captain Rossell, and a large concourse of citizens were awaiting him. His arrival was announced by a piece of artillery, under the direction of captain Yard, and by the ringing of bells. He was conducted by the military escort to Anderson's tavern; where a feu de joie was fired. The Mayor, Mr. McNeely, the Recorder, Mr. Ch. Ewing and Aldermen Broadbent, Taylor and Smith, were immediately presented to him, when the Recorder made him the following extempore address: The Mayor and City Council, & through us, the citizens of Trenton, present to you, Sir, their most unfeigned respects—congratulate you on your arrival, and give you a most cordial welcome to this city, the scene, Sir, of some of the services you have rendered our country. We most sincerely wish you the enjoyment of health, a long life, and a prosperous administration. To which the President spontaneously replied.
