MARYLAND GAZETTE.

Annapolis, Thursday, Ceb. 19.

The Oblinary Acricle signed Amicus, from its length, and the late period at which it was received, is unavoidably omitted this week.

The general government has acknowledged the justice of the claim of this state against the United States, for monies expended by her turing the late war, and has agreed to pay the same. The claim anounts to 295,000 dollars.

The legislature of this State adoutned on Monday night, after passing 228 laws, a complete list of which will be found in the precedng.columns.

We do not recollect any former ession during which more interest rar displayed by the members to expire with the present ession. To romote the general welfare of their 199. A supplement to an unit of the continuous titled, An act relating to commit and sheriffs, passed at November 1999, ch 91.

> For the Maryland Gazette. In the National Intelligencer of st week, I read with no inconsirable astonishment, a communition on the subject of the contem-ated Naval Depot, and I must eely confess, that I was not a lit puzzled in ascertaining the ob tt of the writer. Ford if (as he ofesses.) he intended to shew that unapolis was not a proper site, he is been most peculiarly unlucky has arguments. In the first place, feems to admit that the further ton and Baltimore as Annapolis is in a country of scattered populachar to convey the property time destitute of timber. It is well known, that the Legislature of Maryland has at its last session, passed a law incorporating a company for the purpose of constructing a canal between the cities of Washing- Edward. Road. ton, Annapolis and Baltimore; should this attempt succeed, and in the opinion of many experienced gentlemen it cannot be doubted. the consequences resulting from it would be of infinite importance, not only to these cities, but to the United States. It would at once afford a cheap and expeditious transportation for naval stores, munitions of war, and military forces, provided the Naval Depot should be fixed at Annapoirs, and the mouth of the Severn be properly fortified. It must at once be seen, by looking at the map, that this canal would pass through the forest of Prince George's county, a most fertile tract of country, abounding with timber; and that instead of sending ships to sea from George Town, Washington and A. lexandria, by the tedious and uncertain navigation o' the Potomac, the Severn river would at once beand would furnish them with commercial facilities, the good effects of which would be almost incalculable. It is evident that it would tend to increase and give activity to the mercantile spirit of those cities, and that the natural effect would be an increase in the value of the public lots in the city of Washington, which might more than defray the cost of the depot. But let us see what are the mighty objections to Annapolis which a Citizen has been able to thinish. First, and it is not the least extraordinary, "that the harbour's not asspacious as is desirable." I can scarcely suppose the citizen can urge this objection seriously, because if he does, his ideas of our marine must be on a provigious scale indeed. What kind of a fleet does he expect us to have if a river twelve miles long and from one to three miles wile, navigable by ships # the largest class, almost to the head, will not contain it? company to be called the Wasters setting aside useful laws which it ton and Baltimore canal company to mention here) fishery, but have certainly no al plication to Annapolis harbour, & there is no bar, sandbank, or any other kind of bank, running out from Greenberry point, in any way obstructing the channel-but the fact is, this bar, which has been so much talked of, is a small mad bank outside of the river, and which, as is proved by a recent actual survey and measurement, annuali decreases, and in the opinion of an emibe removed. So that the Civizen's argument about tides, winds, floods, and sandbanks, applies to Cedar Point, but has nothing to do with the Severn, which no person who is
