St. Thomas, April 30.

It is with the greatest concern we have to mention the death of Lieut. Col. Erskine, Lord Erskine's youngest son, on his passage to Cayenne. He served throughout the campaigns in Spain as a Captain of Light Infantry in the 51st Regi- ment, and behaved with gallantry in the battles of the Pyrennes, where being shot in the thigh, he was re- home by the Medical Board, and of his recovery was placed by the Duke of York on the Staff of the Army in the Adjutant General's Depart- ment, when the Duke of Wellington took the command in Flanders. He was in the battle of the 16th of June, and afterwards on the 18th of the battle of Waterloo, where his station placed him in the dangerous position of being attendant on the Duke of Wellington, around whom almost every officer was either killed or wounded. Amongst the rest this brave young man had his leg arm carried off by a cannon ball which passed along the other, leav- ing bare the whole of it, by which he lost the use of two of his fingers; but that arm was saved. When the cannon-shot had thrown him from his horse, and as he lay bleeding upon the ground in this marvellous condition, the Prussian muskets and trumpets being heard at a dis- tance, he seized his hat with his remaining shattered arm, and waving it around him, cheered his compa- nions in the midst of the dying and the dead. The Duke of Wellin- ton being then close by him, de- he might be carried to histenc. Colonel Erskine was only 25 years of age, and has left three sons and a daughter, and an infant of a few months old.

PAYING FOR PEEPING. Two women were lately prose- cuted in the court of quarter sessions of Philadelphia county for the crime of eaves dropping, or listen- ing under the eaves or walls of a house. It appeared, however, in the course of the trial, that instead of eaves dropping outside of the house, they had only been peep- ing through the key-hole of a door inside of the house. The jury acquitted them of eaves dropping, but directed they should pay the cost of prosecution, which amounted to about $70.—Freeman's Journal.

Translated for the New-York Evening Post.

Our lord, the king, having been made acquainted with the consulti- on which the committee of justice with associates from that supreme tribunal, made to his majesty on the 4th of October last, has agri- minutely examined the proceedings touching the law suit pending be- tween Mr. Richard Meade, a citizen of the United States of Amer- ica, and Mr. John Macdonald, subject of his Britannic majesty, about the recovery of 1,000 lbs. of gold and 20 maravedis, which was by Mr. Meade delivered as a depo- sit. It appearing satisfactorily pro- ved by the said proceedings, that the deposit was really made in cert- ain, and that the royal treasury had acknowledged it so, and that in conse- quence thereof Mr. Meade could not be considered as a bankrupt, nor be subject to the imprisonment he had suffered; and although the like knowledgement of the said depo- sit had been made by several royal officers, by the depositions of the min- isters of the royal treasury tribu- nal, in the said supreme tribu- nal by the department of the royal treasury, by that of the royal treas- ury, and directly by the reclamation made by the same supreme tribu- nal in the committee of justice, his majesty has been pleased to re- volve again the opinion of the said department, touching a subject which has such an intimate rela- on with the credit of his royal treasury. By the exposition made by said department, his majesty has been confirmed in the opinion he had long entertained, that the treasury could not but acknowledge that the aforesaid deposit had been really and effectually made in cert- ain, and therefore ought to return the same amount in the same kind. In consequence thereof his majesty has ordered to declare anew the said order, that as speedily as the sum aforesaid be delivered to the chamber of commerce (con- siderado) who has the cognizance of the suit pending between the par- ties as aforesaid.

His majesty has seen realized with the greatest sorrow, the dis- agreeable consequences which were anticipated by Mr. Meade's arrest; this incident having raised perplex- ing difficulties in the important re- lations between the government of his majesty and the United States of America at the most critical con- juncture, giving reasons to the strong indignations of the latter, in sup- port of those of their minister at Madrid, supposed to have been neg- lected; exciting thereby through the newspapers, the most unfavorable and alarming impressions in that country against the interest of his majesty, who has lately received in- formation of the congress having resolved with the greatest energy to proceed to make severe reprisals on the subjects of his majesty.

In consequence whereof, and the motives on which the royal order of April 25th, 1816, no longer exist- ing, and likewise those upon which the committee of justice of that Supreme Tribunal had maintained the imprisonment of Mr. R. Meade, being void, his majesty has been pleased to resolve that he shall be set at liberty; that the deposit be considered as duly and lawfully made, and at the charge of the royal treasury; and that the present in all other points be con- sidered as the law directs.

Of which I acquit the secre- tary of that supreme tribunal, by virtue of a royal order for their dis- mission, and to the end of its most exact and speedy accomplishment.

God preserve your lordship many years.

At the Palace, April 20, 1818. (Signed) JOSE PIZARRO. To the Secretary of the Supreme Council of War.

From the Aurora. MAJOR GENERAL JACKSON. There has been a sort of croch- ete imitation passing through certain newspapers—on the subject of health and the asserted deter- mination of major general Jackson, to resign his commission in the army. We can assure our readers, that general Jackson was in vigor- ous health at the last advices, and as far from intimating a dispo- sition to retire from the army, that he has relinquished the disposition to retire which he had expressed when at Washington—he has in- stead expressed a determination to remain longer than he originally in- tended, in consequence of having discovered an intamous intrigue which has commenced with a view to drive him from the army, in or- der to make way for some person who has by intrigue, puffing and flattery, sought to press himself into the public eye, at the expense of their men; but general Jackson is not a man to be treated in such a manner; and has been fully posses- sed for seven months past of foul & artful artifices to undermine him and his reputation.

There is a paper published at Boston which is called the Patriot, and is the echo of the secretary of state's puffers; this paper has talk- ed a great deal about republican in- fluence, in the paper of the 8th instant, and seeks to warn the pub- lic against favouring such impetu- ous emigrants to the present ad- ministration; but should it appear as ready and willing an ear to the proposed ostracism of the victor of Orleans, as was by the same men, of the same set of intriguers suc- cessful against the ablest & oldest gladiator of the country, gen. Wilkin- son, what shall be said of re-publi- can gratitude?

The public will hear more of this impetuous business—but it is after all no more than a single thread in an intamous tissue of corrupt in- trigues, in which the principles of representative government are no more regarded than at the court of the adored Ferdinand.

healthy, and that she had sold her estate on the Lake of Conjo.

Two of the vessels belonging to the expedition, which sailed for the North Pole on the 23d of April, were compelled to return on the 25th with the loss of anchors.

A fleet of Spanish Transports, with the officers and seamen of the Russian squadron recently sold to the Spanish government, touched at Deal on the 28th of April on their way to the Baltic.

Bell's Messenger of the 27th of April says, it is rumored that the Duke of Clarence has resolved to persevere in his determination of marriage with the Princess of Sax- Meiningen, notwithstanding the vote of the house of commons, or her serene highness shall continue her consent.

The marriage of the Duke of Kent with the Princess Dowager of Lein- ingen, is announced in the Frank- fort Gazette of the 18th, in an au- thentic shape, as being positively decided upon. It is added, that Privy Counsellor Baron Von Schom- nitz is gone to Stutgard, in order to make some arrangements on this subject, as he is also the British Am- bassador to the court of Wirtem- berg.

The Prince and Princess of Hesse Homberg, were to leave England for the Continent, in the month of May. Prince Leopold was to visit the Continent about the same time.

The Grand Duke Michael, brother of the Emperor of Russia, was to visit London about the middle of May.

A line of Packets were to be im- mediately established between Little Hampton, in Sussex, and Havre de Grace, by which the distance between London and Paris will be considerably shortened.

Harriet Shelton, who was con- victed of uttering forged Bank of England Notes, was executed on the 25th of April. The particulars of this case were published in the Commercial Advertiser of May 27. This unfortunate woman was sup- ported by three or four persons until a few minutes before she was launched into eternity.

A London paper of the 28th of April in speaking of the French af- fairs observes "that the trial of the murderers of M. Fualdes, has kept pace with the Budget, and the two are so inseparably in our minds, that we do not imagine we shall ever hear of one without remembering the other. This murder is the most atrocious, we have any record of.—The deliberate extension of the living body of Fualdes upon a table; the holding him with his face downwards, and his throat bare, over a pail; the cutting his throat, & receiving the blood in this vessel, that the floor might not be stained; the carrying out the body to throw it into a river, and the emptying of the pail upon an adjoining dunghill, are all so many horrible circumstan- ces to which the annals of our crimi- nal trials can produce no parallel, and altogether compose a mur- der worthy of the most energetic days of Revolutionary France. One still more horrible circumstance, in- deed we have omitted in the above enumeration, namely, that the woman who held the pail, stirred up the blood with her hands, lest it should become clotted, and might not pour so clean from the wood. The burning alive of the Lynch family in Ireland, and the adding more straw to the flames in proportion as the screams of the women and children were heard, is the only suit- able parallel; but it does not appear that any women were concerned in this transaction. By what we can understand of the evidence, Madame Manson, who was in the house upon some intrigue, was discovered and brought from a remote chamber by Bastide, who to render all secure was about to murder her upon the spot, but was prevented by Jausson who exacted from her an oath of secrecy. Gratitude to Jausson, as her deliverer, has given the charac- ter of mystery to her evidence, whilst Bastide seeing the motive of her silence, and presuming too far upon it, dares her to the discovery, and insinuates his own innocence upon her silence.

From the report of the select committee on the poor laws, it appears that the average sum raised by assessment for the relief of the poor, in the three years ending in 1750, was only 1750,135. The average of three years ending in 1815, amounted to the enormous sum of 18,164,496.

Von Mar- tens; the Wurtemberg Minister, Baron Wangenshine; the Danish Minister for Holstein and Lauenburg, Count Gyben; and the minister of Mecklenburgh, Baron Van Posom.

By an official statement it appears that there were burnt in Russia, after the retreat of the French, the bodies of two hundred and forty- three thousand six hundred and twelve men, and one hundred and twenty-three thousand, one hundred and forty-two horses.

Constantinople, March 23.

We have received some details here, respecting the revolution which took place in Algiers. The new Day named by the Army, having been taken by the Moors, the natives of the country, was conducted to their Chief, who had seized on the treasures, the magazines, &c. and had carried off every thing to a fort which commanded the town, and where he also resided. The chief, although half a savage, had the generosity, not only to grant him his life, but even to give him several millions of piastres, with two slaves, and contented himself with banishing him to Mahon, where the exiled Dey has for some time resided. This Dey has determined to come to Constantinople to prop- ose to the Porte to march against the Moorish Chief, if they would grant him troops and munitions, to join himself with an army now en- camped on the mountains in the vicinity of Algiers, and which only awaits his Highness's orders to act. It is not yet known what part the Divan will adopt.

The Dey is clothed in a beautiful lace dress, like that of officers in the Turkish marine, but he keeps his legs naked, according to the cus- toms of the Algerines. Under the former Dey he held the title gen- eral, commanding a corps in the army.

MARYLAND.
Anne Arundel County, to wit:

On application to me the subscriber, in the recess of Anne Arundel county court, as one of the associate Judges of the third judicial district of Maryland, by petition in writing of Charles A. Harvey of said county praying the benefit of the act for the relief of sun- dry insolvent debtors, passed at Novem- ber session one thousand eight hundred and five, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms mentioned in the said act; a schedule of his property, and a list of his creditors, on oath, as far as he can ascertain the same, being annexed to his petition, and the said Charles A. Harvey having satisfied me, by competent testimony, that he hath resided in the State of Maryland for two years immediately preceding the time of his application, and having also stated in said petition, that he is now in actual confinement for debt, and not on account of any breach of the laws of this State or of the United States, and having produced to me the certificate of the constable of Anne Arundel county to that effect, and prayed to be discharged from said confinement on the terms prescribed by the said act, and having given security for his personal appearance at September Court next, to answer any accusations that may be made against him by his creditors; I do hereby order and adjudge that the same Charles A. Harvey be discharged from his confinement, and that by causing a copy of this order to be in- serted in some one of the news papers in the city of Annapolis, for three months successively, before the 21st day of September next, he give notice to his creditors to appear before the County Court, at the Court House in the said County, at 10 o'clock in the morning of the first day of such session, if any they have, why the said Charles A. Harvey should not have the benefit of the several acts of Assembly of this state for the relief of insolvent debtors, as prayed. Given under my hand and seal this 19th day of March 1818.
