MORNING CHRONICLE A NEW DAILY PAPER,

TO BE ESTABLISHED IN THE CIT OF BALTIMORE.

It is with unfeigned reluctance that subset her begs leave to solicit the attent of the Public to a New Daily Paper, wh he proposes with all possible expedition establish in Bakimore, to be denomina THE MORNING CHRONICLE. establish in Bakimore, to be denominal Triff MORNING CHRONICLE.

With regard to the political character this publication, he scorns any concealme—it will be decidedly of the Federal car That federalism, which was known and privised in the day of Washington—that fedralism, for which Hamilton wrote a forgand for which Montgomery fell—that for railsm, which, with a large and comprehe sive view, embraces all characters, so at they augment the prosperity and the product of their country, and which turns eye of the most transcendant diedin on dittle, despicable, mean personal bickerin for office—that federalism, which wood raise, ennoble, and aggrandize the character of our dear and beloved country, and opposition to that detestable, mushroom fedralism, whose only aim is to raise and to a grandize private families—that federalism, whose only aim is to raise and to a grandize private families—that federalism that exults in the spectacle of our country greatness; that delights to behold the stranged banner glittering over every sour commerce bounded by no other restrations than those of the ocean—that federalism, that cheers the honest husbandman his plough, the merchant at his desk, at the mechanic at his anvil. He is too of and the grave too near, for the subscriber turn an apostate now; to lend himsell to the mechanic at the antil. He is too of and the grave too near, for the subscriber turn an apostate now; to lend himself to it scurry meanness of individual ambition; scurry meanness or individual ambition; to mistake his own welfare for the welfar or his country. These are the federal settiments of the Editor, and such as he we be governed by until the hour of his dissolution. He seeks not individual patronage he backs for support on his countryment. tion. He seeks not individual patronaghe looks for support on his countrymen large--if he fails in this appeal to their co fidence, he is content to remain unnotic and forgotten.
